British Block $308 Million Egypt Funds

Multitudes Cheer Nasser as Hero and Liberator of Suez

LONDON (U.P.)—Britain blocked $308 million in Egyptian government currency Saturday as her first retaliatory step against Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal. In Cairo, President Gamal Abdel Nasser rode the crest of a hero's welcome and promised to meet "aggression with aggression and injury with injury."

Egypt announced it would institute action in the International Court of Justice at the Hague, Holland, against blocking of its sterling funds in Britain. Britain and France already were considering International Court action against Egypt's seizure of the canal.

U. S. Undersecretary of State Robert L. Murphy was dispatched to London at the request of Britain and France for an emergency high-level Big Three conference. He will confer today with the British and French Foreign Ministers.

BRITAIN FOLLOWED France in taking economic sanctions against Nasser who, promised to permit free access to the canal provided he met no Western "interference."

Two "statutory instruments" issued by the British Treasury Saturday froze Egypt's $308-million sterling balance which Egypt used for payment of debts incurred in other countries as well as Britain. Another instrument froze the assets in Britain of the British- and French-controlled Suez Canal Company, a freeze similar to one announced in France Friday.

In addition, the British orders cut off private Egyptian bank balances in Britain running into "millions of pounds."

THE GOVERNMENT summed up equalled the estimated net income of seven years of canal operations. If maintained for long, it could shatter Nasser's announced plan to use the canal revenue to finance his dream of a $1.3-billion high dam on the Nile at Aswan. The United States and Britain have withdrawn offers to help him get the dam started.

Sources said the freeze was a

Shark Chased With Explosives Blows Up 4 Men

FALMOUTH, England (U.P.)—A shark that turned caused the death of two civilians and severe injuries to two naval officers. The story, as related at a coroner's inquest:

The four men in a dinghy were pursuing the shark, which had interrupted naval diving operations. They threw a length of rope with a 14-ounce charge of explosive across the shark's back. It turned and dived underneath the boat just as the explosive went off.

L.A.C. Says: Kidding Ourselves

The way multiple taxes mislead the people into thinking cost of government is being reduced is shown by the announced 2-cent property tax reduction by the city council. The story from City Hall is that this amount will be saved taxpayers when the new budget is approved. Such a deduction would amount to some $100,000 on local property taxes. But it is possible only because the people of Long Beach will pay $4,000,000 of sales taxes during the coming year. That is $3,000,000 more than the city had for the year just passed.

It means, that were it not for the sales tax, we would have to increase property taxes by over 40 per cent to meet the new budget. We were virtually forced to impose the sales tax because of the state law which allows counties to impose such a tax if cities do not. It is

Girl, 3, Murdered by Rapist Neighbor

LAKE ORION, Mich. (AP)—A 23-year-old furnace cleaner Saturday admitted beating a neighbor's 3-year-old child to death with a jack handle when she resisted his attempts to molest her, police reported.

The nearly nude body of brown-haired Martha Little, who disappeared from a sand box at her home Friday evening, was found off a country road 10 miles from her home. The back of her skull had been crushed.

Held is Howard W. Moore, who married last month and moved next door to the Little family just a few days ago.

POLICE QUOTED HIM as saying he got the little girl in his car and drove to a secluded area about 45 miles north of Detroit. Officers said he told of "playing" with the child until she began to scream.

Then they quoted Moore as saying he went to the trunk of the car, got a jack handle and hit the girl several times on the head.

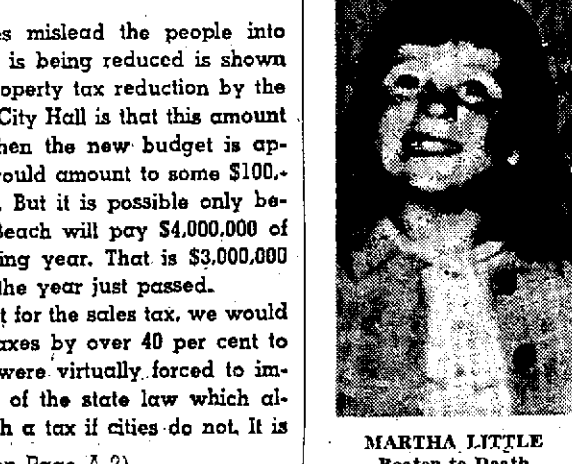

An autopsy revealed the child had been sexually attacked. She died from a severe skull fracture and brain hemorrhage.

MOORE WAS arrested Friday night at a service station. He was stripped to the waist and was washing himself when arresting officers found him.

Police said he was seen washing brownish stains from his hands and that his neck was scratched. He first told police he had been in a fight.

The victim's father is a plumber's helper. Her mother is a nurse in a Pontiac hospital. The Littles have five other children.

MARTHA LITTLE Beaten to Death

2 Wounded as Police Halt Wild Gunner

A Coast Guardsman who attempted to help police capture a gunman running amuck in downtown Long Beach late Saturday night was critically wounded in the chase.

Shot in the stomach was Bobby K. McCorkle as he grabbed the gunman when he ran past the corner of Ocean Blvd. and Daisy Ave. He is not expected to live.

The gunman was identified as Harold E. Smith, 22, of 20 Maine Ave.

SMITH WAS shot down, moments later, by Officer Don Myers in a parking lot a short distance away on Ocean Blvd. Smith was in serious condition with a head wound.

Police said the incident was touched off when Smith and a companion, identified as Anita Cole, became angered when a group of men shouted insults at them as they walked along Ocean Blvd.

Investigators said Smith went to his quarters, obtained a .38 revolver and returned to the street where he found the men.

THEY SAID, Smith then fired a couple of shots at the men at Ocean Blvd. and Daisy Ave. He missed.

When police arrived a few minutes later, Smith fled. Officers pursued him to his apartment, through the building, out the back entrance and down to the street again.

As they ran past the corner of Ocean Blvd. and Daisy Ave., McCorkle joined the chase.

ALIAS JAY, 2 Donald Duck Astray in L.A.

LOS ANGELES (U.P.)—A small boy wearing only a Disneyland hat and an unconcerned expression on his face was found wandering the streets early Saturday he told officers his name was Donald Duck.

After about 90 minutes at the 7th Division Police Station the boy was identified as two-year-old Jay Shimkevich. His mother, Mrs. John Shimkevich appeared and said her son had slipped out of her home. She also said he was "an habitual wanderer."

Jay left the police station wearing the same Disneyland hat, the same unconcerned expression—and a pair of swimming trunks.

Italian Line Sharply Raises Estimates of Dead and Missing

NEW YORK (AP)—The master of the sunken Italian luxury liner Andrea Doria came out of seclusion Saturday to defend his crew against criticism in Wednesday's sea disaster. The collision apparently took a score of lives.

The Italian Line's estimate Saturday night of "two dead and 18 missing and presumed dead" was a sharp rise over previous estimates that only five passengers had died on the ship or after rescue.

THE LINE also reported Saturday night that some 70 passengers are still "unaccounted for," whereas previously it was believed only a handful were missing.

The line said, however, it felt that "many of these are alive" and would be located. The big liner carried 1706 passengers and crewmen, most of whom were rescued.

SATURDAY'S REPORT would bring the death toll to 25, with two dead and three others presumed dead from the crew of the Swedish liner Stockholm, which collided with the Andrea Doria in heavy fog and darkness 45 miles south of Nantucket Island.

Ever since the arrival of six rescue ships with survivors, there has been great confusion as to the number of dead and missing.

THE NEW YORK POLICE department said its figures now show 15 persons missing and 70 unaccounted for. Previously it had said it believed that most if not all passengers and crew had been accounted for.

At Nantucket two skin divers said they had surveyed the Andrea Doria lying in about 250 feet of water, and had found furniture, clothing and other wreckage floating around—but no sign of bodies.

A Navy salvage expert, Cmdr. Robert K. Thurman, expressed the opinion that it would take Flying Motorcycle Unveiled in Soviet

LONDON (U.P.)—Soviet engineers have designed a "flying motorcycle" helicopter that needs only five square yards as a landing space, Moscow Radio reported.

The copter can be easily dismantled for transport and uses a "balloon" instead of wheels for water and snow landings. The broadcast said the machine can be used for spotting by fishing boats, ice breakers and foresters and to clear power lines of ice and snow with the air stream of its rotor.

L.B. Survivors Tell of Sea Disaster; Kin Stage Homecoming

By BOB HOUSER

Nick and Vinka Franetovich came home Saturday night, a scant 72 hours this side of the sea crash which sent their homecoming liner, the Andrea Doria, to the bottom of the New England coastal sea.

Shy, tearful Sonia, age 10, hugged and touched and squeezed as if her parents were new, bright gifts she didn't deserve.

Vinka Franetovich, a vivacious and handsome woman of 40, walked up the porch landing at 2056 Golden Ave. Suddenly she wrapped her arms around the porch square, white supporting column and wept: "Oh, I'm so glad to be home."

Mustachioed Nick, 47, wearing a black tam, slacks given him by the Red Cross in New York and a sport jacket still bearing sea-grease stains from the dying Doria, embraced his children, relatives and friends. They packed the now-noisy living room. Strong, big men—some of them speaking their native Slavic tongue—grabbed each other in a quick tumult of emotion.

STURDY NICK turned away from the embraces with wet eyes and a harrowing sea story which he couldn't seem to tell quickly enough nor emphatically enough.

"Sam and I (Sam Frellyn of San Pedro) were having a night-cap in the boat-deck bar. Sam said he was going down below—three decks—to see if our wives had gone to bed. He'd barely left when I heard this big grinding noise. They had reversed the big propellers. The sudden reverse made it seem like the ship was tearing apart."

Boy Injured by Bat Swung by Mother

NORWALK — A two-year-old boy was injured seriously when he walked into the path of a baseball bat swung by his mother and was hit on the head.

Robert William Wallis, son of Robert W. and Ethel Wallis, 11555 Davenich Ave., was given emergency treatment at Caroll Hospital here for a depressed skull fracture and rushed to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, Los Angeles, for surgery.

Mrs. Wallis told Norwalk sheriff's station deputies she and some friends were hitting a baseball around in Norwalk Park Saturday afternoon.

She was batting, she said, when her little son walked from behind her into the path of the bat.

27 Drown on Bus

HELSINKI (U.P.)—A bus crashed through ferry gates into Kivisaari Sound Saturday, drowning 27 of the 40 persons aboard in 12 feet of water. The bus, carrying 38 passengers and a driver and conductor, went through the ferry gates into the sound located in central Finland between Jyväskylä and Kuopio.

Sen. Daniel Faces Runoff for Governor

DALLAS, Tex. (U.P.)—Mounting returns from the Texas Democratic primary indicated Saturday night that U.S. Sen. Price Daniel and Ralph Yarborough, an Austin lawyer, will fight it out for the governor's office in a runoff four weeks from now.

The returns were not yet conclusive, but they were indicative because they had run: Daniel No. 1, Yarborough No. 2, and W. Lee (Pappy) O'Daniel No. 3 since the Texas Election Bureau started tabulations.

The other three candidates—J. Evetts Haley, J. J. Holmes, and Reuben Senterfitt, were out of the race.

Incomplete returns to the Texas Election Bureau gave: Daniel 244,544 votes, Haley 37,364, Holmes 4,317, O'Daniel 135,630, Senterfitt 12,845, and Yarborough 175,586.

Sen. Daniel supported Eisenhower in 1952 when Texas went Republican. Yarborough supported Adlai Stevenson and has stressed party loyalty.

Democratic nomination in Texas is tantamount to election. However, a candidate must get one more vote than all the rest of the candidates combined or the nomination is decided in a runoff primary.

CAROL MORRIS Born in Omaha

Miss Universe of 1957 Was Nebraska Orphan

OMAHA (U.P.)—Miss Universe of 1957, Carol Morris of Ottumwa, Iowa, is an adopted child from an Omaha institution, the Omaha World-Herald said in a copyrighted story Saturday night.

The newspaper said it learned the story about the 20-year-old beauty's background while preparing a biography. In giving her background to publicity agents of her movie studio she listed her birthplace as Omaha. The World-Herald said the Rev. La Verne Morris and his wife were serving the Christian Church at Oakland, Iowa, when they sought a child from the children's home here. They lived in Oakland from 1936 to 1941.

The adoption never was a secret among acquaintances in Iowa where the Morris family lived, the newspaper said, and the Rev. and Mrs. Morris told Carol about it several years ago.

Camp Pendleton Man, 23, Drowns

LAGUNA BEACH (U.P.)—A hospital corpsman stationed at Camp Pendleton drowned in heavy surf Saturday while swimming off South Laguna.

Arthur A. Klienartner, 23, was caught in the churning waves 50 yards off shore, sheriff's deputies reported. Two men tried to fight their way through the surf to reach him, but were unsuccessful. Klienartner's body was washed ashore more than two hours later.

Lakewood Girl, 10, Drowns on Michigan Vacation Trip

The 10-year-old daughter of a Bellflower high school principal drowned Saturday in a small Michigan lake less than an hour after she and her parents arrived for a vacation.

Janet Kay Holsteg, daughter of Martin Holsteg, 6058 Pearce Ave., Lakewood, was drowned in Lake Missaukee, near Lake City, Mich., when she wandered into deep water.

Lake City police said the little girl went swimming with her sister, Marcia, 11, while her parents were unpacking their car.

The two girls wandered into water that was over their heads and began to scream. An unidentified swimmer pulled Marcia from the water but was unable to get to Janet Kay in time. Her father is principal of Bell-new money to the Long Beach city government. But it is not reflected in an equal saving in property taxes.

This is not in criticism of the budget. With our growing population—necessary pay increases to city employees, and the added costs of city pensions, the increased cost of government is inevitable. But it is kidding ourselves to be encouraged by a slight decrease in one tax when another tax takes 20 or more times as much money from taxpayers.

It should also be watched when we are told county tax rates may be lowered, only to find that it is possible because assessed valuations are increased. It is the amount of tax that is collected that is important and not entirely how it is collected. There needs to be a reduction of taxes on property, but to the taxpayer it makes little actual difference if he pays less on one bill, and an equal or greater amount on another bill.

The greatest single burden on taxpayers in California at the present time is the cost of pensions for public employees. Long Beach is in much worse trouble than most areas. In spite of this, the city council has just approved greatly increasing pension benefits. The councilmen have placed a serious burden on taxpayers by adopting a plan to give large pensions to those in higher brackets. The saving possible by using Social Security has been wiped out by giving those benefits—plus those of the existing plan as it is to be expanded.

Over-all taxes now take some 30 cents of the average family income. There is little hope this will be lowered as government multiplies its activities. Those in high income brackets pay as high as 90 cents from each dollar. The lower income groups may not care what the more prosperous have to pay. But they should recognize the fact that not much more can be taken from the high income groups. That means future increases must come from the lower income groups. That should make them realize what all these multiple—almost hidden—taxes mean. It is foolish for us to kid ourselves by believing there is a tax saving when told city taxes will be 2 cents lower than last year.—L.A.C.

lett, St., Downey, lost control of his car and ran off the track. The quick-thinking youngster managed to lift the guard rope with one hand as his racer sped under it and steered the vehicle away from parked automobiles as he braked it to a stop.

TWO SERVICE STATIONS. Christoff's of Downey and Glasgov's of Norwalk, presented David with a $10 merchandise order for "quick thinking in an emergency."

Competition started shortly before 10 a. m. with the Class B eliminations. The fastest Class B qualifying time was 29.10 seconds, set by John Itzaina, 12, of 9638 Belcher St., Downey, an Independent Press-Telegram carrier boy.

Young Ford, who had the second fastest Class B qualifying time of 29.13 seconds, beat the Itzaina boy in the Class B championship race.

EARLIER in the qualifying, Wayne eliminated George Brower, 11, brother of the boy he nosed out to win the Derby championship.

As the day heated up, the track got slower and Class A-13 to 15-year-old drivers—qualifying times generally were slower. Fastest Class A qualifier was David Gale, 13, of Westchester, with a time of 29.16 seconds.

Young Gale finished second to Rayner Brower in the Class A championship.

Defense Bats Monday for Sgt. McKeon

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (UPI)—The defense goes to bat Monday in the court-martial of S/Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon with an early witness expected to be Lt. Gen. Lewis B. (Chesty) Puller, famed supporter of rough-tough training for Marines.

Puller, who often has said a good Marine should be able to walk 20 miles, run five and then go into battle and win, is now retired and lives at Saluda, Va. Civilian Defense Attorney Emile Zola Berman is seeking to establish that McKeon was following accepted and expected drill-instructor practices last April 8 when he took his "laggard" recruit platoon on a night march in Ribbon Creek to teach the men discipline.

SIX OF THE platoon's 74 men were drowned when the recruits panicked. McKeon is charged with oppression of recruits, manslaughter, and two counts of drinking in a recruit barracks.

Berman submitted a written request Friday asking Puller be produced as a defense witness.

THE "BLACK STAR," which Wayne named his Derby-winning car, represents two and one-half years work. He started building it after his brother returned from the 1953 national Derby.

After one and a half years of construction, Wayne entered the Los Angeles Soap Box Derby in 1955 and won the Class B crown, lost in the final, however.

During the past year, Wayne worked on his car, re-sanding it and streamlining it. He gives major credit for the added speed to the widening of a groove in the hood so that he could crouch lower in the cockpit and still see forward.

SHOULD HE WIN a scholarship at Akron, Wayne is not sure which college he will enter. He has not yet decided what line of work he will follow either.

Second place Rayner first entered the Soap Box Derby in 1954. He was eliminated in his first heat race, but he learned what was wrong with his car. Starting all over, he built a new car and came within a yard of being Long Beach champion.

Ted Grimm, district manager of the Chevrolet Division of General Motors in the Long Beach area presented Wayne with the T. H. Keating Award, denoting the Long Beach champion.

THE ANNUAL RACE is sponsored jointly by the Chevrolet dealers and the Independent Press-Telegram. Members of the California Jolopy Assn. served as starters, timers and judges.

Wayne also won a bicycle from Harbor Chevrolet Co. for having the fastest qualifying time of any boy entered through that agency. Cormier Chevrolet Co. gave him a power saw. The Itzaina boy won a wrist watch from Ridings Cadillac Co. for the day's fastest qualifying time.

STEVEN FRY, 15, of 9331 Sanoline St., Downey, won a tool kit from Shell Oil Co. for having the best constructed car, and Jim Thelin, 13, of Whittier, received a fishing pole from Jed Welch Sporting Goods for having the best upholstered car.

Fred Stover of the Independent Press-Telegram staff, director of the derby here, presented Mrs. Ford with a bouquet of roses.

Opening ceremonies included the Long Beach Motor Patrol, Long Beach Junior Concert Band, Victor McLaglen Motor Corps and Elks Lodge No. 888 Rangers.

from five to 10 years—and more than 29 million dollars it cost to build her—to raise the liner from such depths.

ITALIAN Capt. Piero Calamai's defense of his crew against reports that the crew rushed into lifeboats ahead of passengers came in a hectic news conference after he had been in seclusion and reported "heartbroken" over the deaths and the loss of his ship.

Asked about claims by some passengers that the first three lifeboats that left the ship were full of Andrea Doria crewmen, the captain flatly said, "no."

He explained that some seamen had to go into the lifeboats to prepare and launch them. He said he did not know how many crewmen were in each lifeboat carrying survivors but he thought perhaps the number was 25 to 30.

The boats had a capacity of 100 persons each, although Capt. Calamai said he didn't fill them to capacity.

THE REST of the crew, he said, was not ordered into boats until he had made sure no passengers were left alive on the ship.

The story of the captain's own role was told by an American merchant marine officer, Alexander Forza, who was a passenger and volunteered his services to Calamai after the collision.

Among the last to leave the ship, Forza said Calamai insisted on remaining aboard the sinking ship alone, declaring that "I'll go in the water with her."

HE WAS DISUADER, Forza said only after other crewmen told the captain they would return and stay with him unless he left the ship.

The Rome newspaper Il Messaggero reported that an inquiry already was underway at the Italian consulate here in New York City and that it was learned that the navigation, radio and radar logs of the Andrea Doria went down with the ship. The newspaper said the logs are essential in determining responsibility for the collision.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A San Francisco, a pilot himself pressed by the way the passengers conducted themselves. "I would have expected panic from some, especially the civilians, but there was absolutely none."

The plane labored 500 miles to San Francisco, on the 2,400-mile flight from Honolulu, with one of its four engines "frozen" and its idle propeller causing a drag. It could not be feathered.

Four Coast Guard planes flew out quickly to escort the crippled craft to International Airport, where a crowd watched it make a slow, agonizing glide to the runway.

Capt. Floyd Benjamin of Amityville, Long Island, N.Y., the pilot, called the incident "routine."

Father of five children, Benjamin said the plane had not been in danger. But a passenger, Marine M. Sgt. Raymond Williams of San Francisco, a pilot himself pressed by the way the passengers conducted themselves. "I would have expected panic from some, especially the civilians, but there was absolutely none."

80 Florida Prison Farm Inmates on Hunger Strike

BELLE GLADE, Fla. (AP)—Extra guards were rushed to the Belle Glade Prison farm Saturday when 80 of the farm's 300 inmates went on a hunger strike.

Supt. C. M. Greene said the situation was "nothing serious."

City Manager Clarence Robinson of Belle Glade said he visited the prison on the south shore of Lake Okechobee Friday after reports of trouble were received.

"It's my understanding that the men refused to eat," Robinson said. "We sent out city police to the prison to help out and Florida highway patrolmen are there, too.

"When I went out there last night, everything was quiet. Most of the men had gone to bed and just a few were sitting around talking."

"Then it started up again this morning. I really don't know if it's bad or not."

preliminary step and that stronger measures would be taken.

Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden called in Sir Gerald Temple, commander-in-chief of the Imperial General Staff for conferences.

Diplomatic sources said that if Nasser chooses to retaliate against the fund freeze, he could limit the use of the canal by British vessels.

There also was the possibility that Nasser would freeze funds of British banks in Egypt and the funds of the Anglo-Egyptian Oil Company, a relatively small firm.

Murphy was due in London at 9 a.m. today for talks with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau.

Although he would not elaborate on his hasty trip, other officials said the United States wants to help its allies in the dispute.

One possibility mentioned in Washington was the severance of aid to Egypt. Nasser has received $117 million in American aid since he took over Egypt in 1953.

NASSER, HOWEVER, was getting Communist support. Radio Moscow Saturday claimed his seizure of the canal and denounced "crude American-British pressure" on the Egyptian president who has scheduled a visit to Moscow next month.

Nasser made a triumphal return home to Cairo Saturday from Alexandria where he announced Thursday night that Egypt was seizing the canal and would take over the canal-company operations. Every where on the trip he was met by cheering crowds of Egyptians.

Nasser said Egypt "stands under arms" and that interference in his seizure of the canal would be the West's "own responsibility." But he promised to "ensure" canal traffic provided there is no interference.

"We will meet aggression by aggression and injury by injury," he said in a speech on his return to the capital.

A crowd estimated at 500,000 roared "Nasser! Nasser! Long live Nasser!"

THE CROWD WAS so great Nasser's car was cut off from the motorcade escorting him from the station along a one-mile road to the presidential residence. It took him two hours to make the trip.

"Liberator of Egypt!" "Liberator of Suez!" the crowds chanted.

Although he promised to "ensure" free navigation on the canal, Western officials said the seizure could, if Nasser wished, cripple Mideast shipping.

In Tokyo, shipping stocks rose on the exchange in expectation of a possible closing of the 101-mile waterway and a corresponding increase in freight rates.

The world press divided along lines of allegiance. The British press, with the exception of the Communist Daily Worker, castigated the seizure. The Moscow press devoted one-fourth of its total wordage Saturday to the canal situation. The stories were generally favorable to Nasser. The Communist Chinese press lauded Nasser's action. French newspapers went so far as to suggest armed intervention by Britain.

THE FRENCH government was particularly incensed. Many French families hold Suez Canal Co. stock, some of it going back 100 years to when Frenchman Ferdinand de Lesseps built the canal.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau told the National assembly France would "refuse to accept a unilateral act whose object is more political than legal and aims at suppressing the freedom of shipping through the canal."

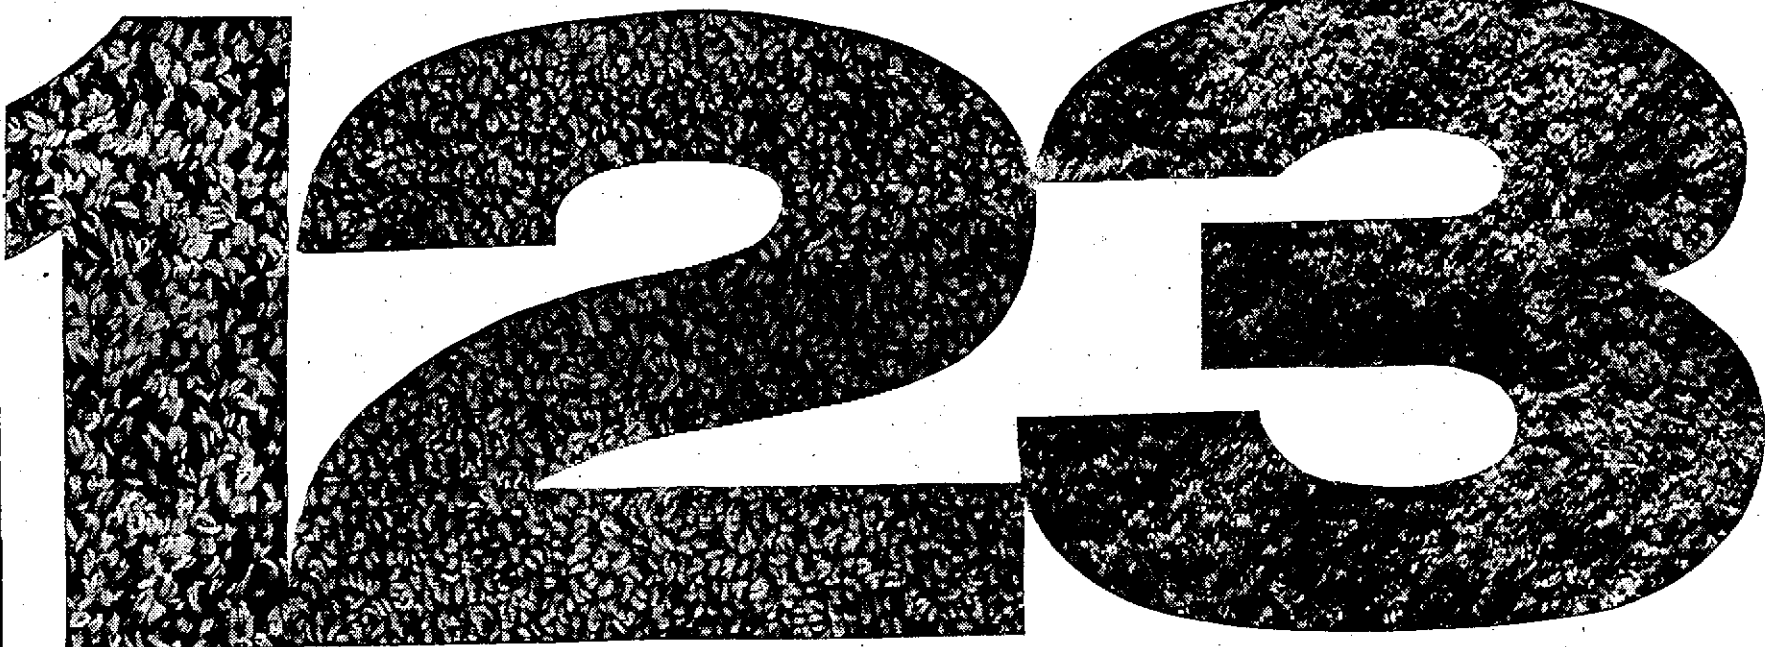

Pineau said the seizure was a threat to free navigation on the canal, through which passes most of the oil used to fuel automobiles in western Europe. It has been estimated that a shut-off of mideast oil would throw five million workers off the job in Britain alone.

BRITISH SOURCES reported "precautionary plans" were being mapped out, including provisions for strengthening British forces in the Mideast.

The United States apparently intended to go into the Big Three meeting today on a "look-no-basis" basis. Murphy said on his departure from Washington that the United States is interested primarily in the "impact" of the seizure on canal operations. He said the United States has no specific proposal to put forward.

The bartender said, "What the hell is happening?"

"We're going to hit something," I answered. It was exactly 11:20 p.m. No sooner were the words out of my mouth than the crash came. I grabbed the bar and managed to stand up. I glanced outside and caught a glimpse of the Stockholm sliding by. Then we started listing—right now. It was that quick. In 20 minutes it was 45 degrees.

"Next—and this is the miracle—I started to run outside. It was dark. Then, in all that ship, with all its five decks, who do I run into but my wife? She and Sam's wife are running up the steps with life jackets for us."

NO PAJAMA GAME was the Wednesday midnight ordeal of Nick and Vinka Franetovich, 2056 Golden Ave., when they climbed down greasy ladders of the doomed Italian liner, Andrea Doria, to the safety of a lifeboat. She had only her pajamas; Nick, these trousers, sport jacket and tam. They lost all other traveling gear in the disaster.—(Staff Photo.)

Nick said, "I saw one of the sailors at a lifeboat and asked when he was going to lower it. I asked him in Italian. 'I can't undo the gear,' he answered. Well, the Andrea Doria went down with five lifeboats still attached.

"And our first day out—in the Straits of Gibraltar—we had a so-called drill. We went downstairs, got our jackets, were told to put them on and then take them off.

"That was it," Nick shouted in exasperation.

"And when the first of our two lifeboats reached the freighter Cape Ann, there were two full boats of the Italian crew ahead of us. I credit 90 per cent of the success of the life-saving maneuver to those passengers. Their conduct was wonderful."

VINKA BROKE in excitedly: "Mrs. Frickin and I had gone to the beauty shop at 9 p.m. because we were docking the next day and wanted to look our best. We got back to our cabins at about 10:45. We decided to go to bed. We had just gotten into our pajamas and had taken off our makeup when the crash occurred.

"What's that?" Mrs. Frickin asked me. I said, 'We've hit something.' We put on our shoes and got the life jackets. Behind the door was a sign saying that in case of any emergency a signal would be given. I can tell you if we had waited for that signal we'd still be there.

"We made the three flights up and dashed for the top rail—the one up high, away from the sinking side. And there we were for two hours. And we'd still be waiting for a signal. It never came."

"I thought she was a goner," Nick said.

"But I caught hold of something. Then we found this greasy ladder leading down into a lifeboat."

"Sure there was crowding," Nick said. "It was every man for himself. But the worst were those Italian sailors. There were about 15 or 20 people in a boat, which would hold 150. Even after we got in we heard one scream, 'Let's go. We'll be killed. We're going to die!'"

"Whatta ya think those people back there are gonna do?" I answered him.

"WE GOT INTO the boat," Mrs. Franetovich resumed. "And

Valuables Taken From Parked Car

Jewelry, coins, and one share of stock valued at $332 were stolen from her car parked in a parking lot at 433 Pacific Ave., Saturday, Mrs. Ann W. Cochran, 13151 Palm, Garden Grove, reported.

Police were told that the valuables were left in the front seat of the car, and were in a leather case. Mrs. Cochran was taking them to deposit in a bank safety deposit box.

Safety Council Fills Two Posts

Long Beach Safety Council announced two appointments Saturday to fill unexpired terms on its board of directors.

The new members are F. W. Starr, supervisor of safety for the Douglas Aircraft Co. plant here, and Mrs. George C. Gordon, chairman of the Long Beach Parent-Teachers Assn.

C. O. Beeks, 50 Years Here, Dies Just Short of Age 100

A 50-year resident of Long Beach died Saturday just three and one-half months short of his 100th birthday.

He was Charles Oscar Beeks, 4251 Theresa St., who came to Los Angeles County in 1900 and opened a real estate office in Long Beach in 1907.

He was born in Brookville, Ind., Nov. 9, 1856, and moved with his family to Des Moines, Iowa, when he was 13. He later homesteaded 160 acres in South Dakota in 1893 before moving to Pasadena in 1900.

He opened a real estate office here at 142 Pine Ave. and later moved his business to 107 E. Ocean Blvd. and 444 Pine Ave. before retiring in the 1920s.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Gladys Sohn; two sons, Harry and Graydon; eight grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren.

Service will be Wednesday at 3 p.m. in Patterson and Snively Mortuary, with the Rev. William H. Myers officiating. Interment means to be private, in Sunnyside Cemetery.

OHIOANS Plan Picnic

Former residents of Ohio will have their annual picnic Aug. 5, in Bixby Park. The Municipal Band will play at 1 p.m., followed by a program of dancing. Jeannette Buettner, president, will preside.

Section F (East-West)—Dr. A. W. Olsen and Conrad Potvin, Los Angeles; first, Mr. and Mrs. Elting Nyckoloff, Los Angeles; second, Susan Davis and Elizabeth Nicholson, Santa Monica, third.

Boy, 6, Hurt Seriously as Car Hits Him

A small boy was injured seriously when he was hit by a car as he ran across 54th Pl. near Bayshore Ave. Saturday night.

Donald Bertram, 6, of 45 54th Pl. suffered skull fracture and fractures of the collarbone and left arm when he was hit by a car driven by Wallace Joy Blaylock Jr., 17, of 2135 Stanbridge Ave. He was treated at Community Hospital.

WITNESSES TOLD police the boy dashed out into the path of the car and the driver was unable to stop before hitting him.

Police said 54th Pl. is blocked off during the summer months until 6 p.m. every day and apparently the Bertram boy didn't realize the street wasn't blocked off after that hour.

Grove Woman Injured in Pool

A 34-year-old Garden Grove woman was injured Saturday afternoon in a swimming accident in Marine Stadium.

Betty L. Shallenberger, 11312 Stratford Way, was treated for a cut scalp at Community Hospital after she and another swimmer accidentally bumped heads.

The other swimmer, Judith Miller, 14, of 11311 Stratford Way, Garden Grove, was unhurt.

37 Saved off L.B.; Two Vessels Sink

Thirty-seven persons, including three children, were rescued Saturday from boats in trouble in the Catalina Channel, according to Coast Guard headquarters.

The youngsters were in a party aboard the 17-foot outboard boat, Aard Bark, which capsized off Cabrillo Beach, San Pedro, about 3 p.m.

Rescued by Los Angeles city lifeguard boat were James Bouten, 6, of Inglewood; Gary Reynolds, 9, and Ronald Schwartz, 10, both of Los Angeles; Mrs. Inez Bouten, 38, of Inglewood; and Walter Reynolds, 47, of Los Angeles.

The Coast Guard said they saved themselves until help arrived by clinging to the overturned craft.

FIVE UNIDENTIFIED persons were rescued when the 30-foot cabin cruiser, So-There, sank eight miles off Catalina Island. They were taken to Avalon aboard a Coast Guard patrol boat and another pleasure craft, the Popeye.

Nine persons were aboard the boat, Betsy Sue, which filled with water six miles south of the Los Angeles Harbor Light-house. Three, who jumped overboard, were taken aboard the boats, Jamie II and Hideaway II. The other six, who remained on the near-sunken craft, were taken aboard a Coast Guard patrol boat, which took the Betsy Sue in tow in an unsuccessful effort to save her. None of the persons were identified.

Gunmen Rob Gas Station

A service station attendant was held up by two armed men Saturday afternoon and forced to hand over $224, according to police.

Robert J. Hillpot, 22, told police two Negro men drove into the station at 4501 E. Pacific Coast Hwy. and asked for $2 worth of gasoline.

When Hillpot went to the safe to change a $20 bill he felt a sharp object against his back and one of the men said, "Give it to me."

Hillpot handed over the money. The man then told him to "lay down and stay down" and the men left.

Testimonial for Father Barry Scheduled by Welfare Bureau

A testimonial dinner for the Rev. Fr. William J. Barry, leaving after six years as director of the Long Beach Catholic Welfare Bureau, will be given at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Virginia Country Club.

Father Barry is leaving Wednesday to become assistant director of charities in charge of the Los Angeles archdiocese office. He will be succeeded by the Rev. John C. Keenan.

Father Barry, 37, has been popular as a speaker before non-Catholic as well as Catholic groups. He has served as chaplain of the Long Beach City College Newman Club as well as the college Alumni Assn.

PRIOR TO BEING named assistant director of Catholic charities in charge of the Long Beach and Orange County Catholic welfare bureaus, he served at St. Mary's Church in Los Angeles and at St. Joseph's Church in Santa Ana.

Religious and civic leaders of all faiths are expected to attend Tuesday's banquet.

Honored guests will include Auxiliary Bishop Alden C. Bell, the Rev. William R. Johnson, archdiocesan director of charities, and the Rev. Armando O. Salazar and the Rev. Robert E. Deegan, assistant directors of charities. Father Keenan also will be present.

The dinner is being arranged by the bureau's advisory board, headed by Francis X. O'Neill.

Girl, 11, Hurt as Bicycle Auto Collide

An 11-year-old girl was injured Saturday when she was hurled over the hood of a car on Termino Ave. north of 23rd St.

Karen Ann Gibbs, of 2542 Termino Ave., was treated at a private clinic for abrasions on the left ankle, a sprained right ankle and a bruised right leg.

Driver Raganee M. Baker, 24, of 2321 Termino Ave., told police that she was going north on Termino Ave. when the girl darted out from a driveway on her bicycle and crashed into the side of the car. The driver was not cited.

IN OTHER accidents Saturday:

Robert de Bouchelle, 28, of Ocean Park, suffered a fractured left collarbone, multiple contusions of the face and a hip injury when he lost control of his car on 7th St. near Grand Ave. and crashed into a guard rail.

John Valdez, 22, of the USS Clymer, suffered several fractured ribs and pelvic injuries when his car hit a parked car on 4th St. near Nebraska Ave.

Last Night Out on the Andrea Doria

Drama on Ship Unfolded in Dark

By REILMAN MORIN
NEW YORK (AP) — Shortly after 11 o'clock last Wednesday night, a passenger on the Italian liner Andrea Doria left the ship's brilliantly-lit main ballroom, and went out on deck for a stroll.

He found himself in a sightless world.
Thick veils of fog mantled the ship, blotting out the sea and sky. The passenger, 15-year-old Martin Sejda, could barely see the outlines of the rail, just across the deck. As he felt his way toward it, the ship's whistle roared, sending out a hoarse-voiced fog warning.

She moved steadily through the murk, 200 miles from New York, inbound.
At that same moment, outbound, a sleek Swedish motor-ship, the Stockholm, was approaching. She was perhaps five miles away when Martin Sejda leaned against the rail. And her course was leading her toward a point of intersection with the Andrea Doria's course.

Both ships had modern radar, capable of "seeing" each other at that short range.
In the ballroom, the orchestra began playing "A Rivederci, Roma"—"Farewell, Rome." The song had become a favorite on the voyage. People rose to dance, among them Ruth Roman, pretty, dark-haired motion picture actress.

ALL IN ALL, everybody agreed, it had been a good voyage. The ship had sailed from Genoa, July 17, stopping at Naples, Cannes, and Gibraltar, before heading westward into the open Atlantic.

At Gibraltar, a crack foreign correspondent, Camille Ciarfara, 49, of the New York Times, had come aboard with his family. He had tried to book passage on the Cristoforo Colombo, sister ship of the Andrea Doria. But this was the height of the season.

So he had taken this ship. With his wife, Jane, his daughter, Joan, and his stepdaughter, Linda Morgan, he had obtained cabins 52-54 on an upper deck.

ON DECK, Martin Sejda thought he saw a light off the starboard side. He peered into the grey blankness. Did something glow out there?

At that same moment, Arne Smedberg, a seaman on the Stockholm, was sinking into bed with a luxurious sigh. His bunk was well forward, near the bow.

On that Wednesday night the fog was thicker than usual. It rose, like steam, from the contact between the 70-degree temperature of the air and the 64-degree ocean surface. A very faint breeze was blowing. The ocean was glassy. The Andrea Doria rode gracefully over a gentle swell.

Martin Sejda was getting sleepy. He decided to rejoin his parents in the ballroom, and he started to turn away from the rail when he saw something that froze him.

"I saw lights. I saw her lights about three seconds before the crash. It was coming in at an angle, like it was trying to keep from hitting us."

IN THE BALLROOM, Mrs. Grace McLean, of Norfolk, Va., was dancing. Over her partner's shoulder, she could see a blaze of light through the window. It came closer, and closer. Then there was a crash.

"We saw the bow crush right into us. We ran to the other side of the ship. People kept saying, 'Keep calm, keep calm.'"

In a cabin below decks, Miss Mary Marsich, of Cleveland, was asleep. Her friend, Miss Frances Aljinovic, happened to glance through the porthole just at that moment. What she saw made her gasp.

"I saw the boat alongside us. It was all lighted up. It was very, very close and getting closer. I said, 'Mary, it's going to hit,' and then it did."

This was at 11:20 p.m. The shock of impact seemed different to different people—

"A terrific crunching sound . . . a big bang . . . I thought it was just a heavy sea . . . like a firecracker . . . it felt like a jarring and grinding . . . there was a lurch and it seemed to me the engines had just stopped suddenly."

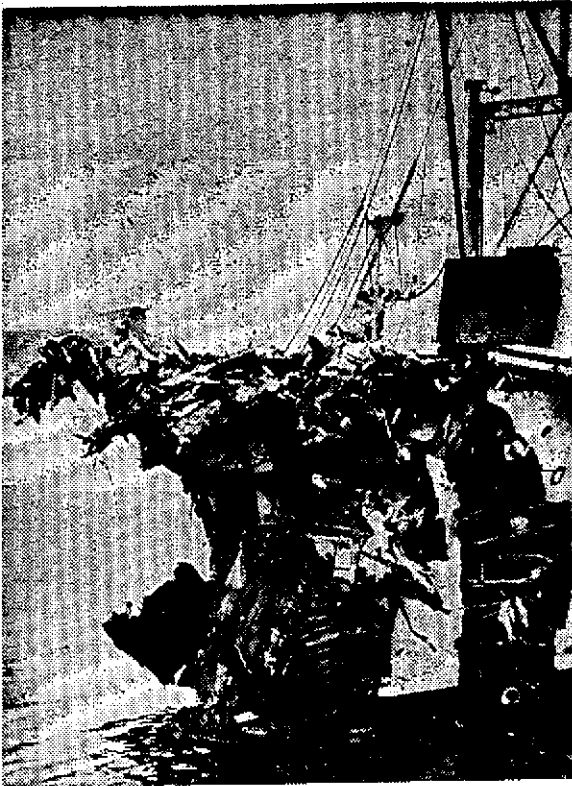

The Stockholm's graceful bow— heavily reinforced against possible ice in northern waters—cut a hole 40 feet across at the widest point. It was shaped like an inverted pyramid.

The Stockholm's bow was torn, bent and folded back like a mashed tin can. But her wound was not mortal.

IN THAT AWFUL INSTANT, death came swiftly to both ships.
On the Andrea Doria, it came to the people on that upper deck on the starboard side. In a relatively small area of cabins, this is what happened:

NO. 46—Walter Carlin, well known in Brooklyn Democratic circles, had just stepped into the corridor intending to join some friends in the lounge. His wife went to bed.

The crash knocked Carlin off his feet. He staggered back into the cabin. There was a gaping hole in the ship's side. His wife had vanished.

EVEN THOUGH IT was reinforced against ice, the bow of the liner Stockholm was a crumpled mass of steel and ship's gear after collision which sent the Andrea Doria to Atlantic depths.—(AP Photo.)

Number 80—Richardson Dilworth, handsome mayor of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Dilworth, had been asleep several hours before the crash. Both were thrown to the floor. Dilworth said he smelled smoke. They got up to an upper deck as rapidly as possible.

Numbers 82-84 — Ruth Roman's three-and-a-half-year-old son, Dickie, was asleep there. Her friend, Mrs. Grace Ellis, was with him. She, too, smelled smoke. Mrs. Roman raced down, fighting her way through crowds coming up the steps, to her son's room. He had not even been awakened. "We're going on a picnic," she said.

AT LEAST FIVE sailors died, most of them probably instantly, on the Stockholm. Like Seaman Arne Smedberg, who had just gone to bed, their bunks were in the forward part of the ship. Smedberg survived. He said—

"The first thing I knew, everything seemed to cave in. Things were falling all over us. It was like lightning striking."

Beginning at 11:22, maritime listening posts heard this chilling exchange of messages:

11:22 (from the Stockholm) "We have collided with another ship. Please. Ship in collision."

11:25 (From the Coast Guard) "Andrea Doria and Stockholm collided. Lat. 40-30 N. Long. 69-53 W."

11:30 (Stockholm to Andrea Doria) "If you can lower lifeboats, we can pick you up."

11:35 (Andrea Doria to Stockholm) "We are heading (listing) . . . impossible . . . put lifeboats at sea . . . send immediate assistance . . . lifeboats."

Then, a few moments later, the dreaded "SOS"—extreme emergency signal—came from the Andrea Doria.

Instantly, although the people on the damaged ships could not see it, literally scores of craft—big and small—pointed their bows to the point where the Coast Guard said the crash had occurred.

There were nearly 2,500 potential victims—1,134 passengers and 575 crew on the Andrea Doria, 550 passengers, 200 crew on the Stockholm.

The 7,000-ton United Fruit Co. freighter, Cape Agn, heard the distress call when she was only 15 miles away. She nosed through the fog and began sending her lifeboats to the stricken Italian liner immediately.

Naval craft, other freighters, even some pleasure ships attempted to reach the scene.

Most important, the giant French liner, Ile De France, was about 50 miles away. Her captain, Raoul de Beaudan, swung the big ship around as soon as he got the distress call.

At a full 22 knots, the Ile De France roared through the fog and arrived in just under two hours.

"I prayed for a miracle," said Capt. De Beaudan. It was granted, on the way to the scene, the fog lifted.

People on the Andrea Doria, who could see her arrival now that the fog had thinned, burst into cheers and tears.

ON THAT DOOMED SHIP, the whole human drama was being played out, the full range of emotions and motivations—of courage, cowardice, hysteria, brutal selfishness, sheer nobility of purpose.

People charged that there was no "abandon ship" order, or announcement of any kind, until around 2 A. M.—over two hours after the crash. There never was an announcement in English, they said.

Charles Annino, 30, of Chicago, said, "We had to push our selves in the boats. It was panic out there and the crew acted awful."

William S. Moulton, of Long Island said, "I didn't see a crew member until I got aboard the Stockholm."

But Mayor Dilworth of Philadelphia, said, "The crew did a terrific job."

Except for some struggling between passengers trying to get down to cabins after the crash and those surging up from below, there was no panic, passengers said.

The ship soon canted over to such a sharp angle that it was impossible to walk upright through the corridors or on the deck. Once out on deck, people either went down webbed rope ladders, or simply slid down the oily sides of the ship.

Passengers and crew together formed a human chain to help women, children and older people down the steep, slippery sides.

A child, two-year-old Maria Dooner, slipped and fell into the sea. Instantly, her mother—a strong swimmer—dived over the side after her. Mrs. Dooner grabbed the little girl and both were picked up by a lifeboat immediately.

Tulio De Sandro threw his four-year-old daughter into the arms of a stranger in a life boat . . . it pulled away.

Miss Roman, the actress, had the same experience when a boat with her son pulled out leaving her on the Andrea Doria.

MERCIFULLY, THROUGH the night, the ship's lights stayed on.

Across about a quarter-mile of water, the lights of the Ile De France blazed brightly on the scene. More ships kept arriving. More lifeboats plied back and forth between them and the stricken liner.

Yet each time they approached, the lifeboat crews were risking death. If the Andrea Doria, now fallen over to a 45-degree angle in the water, had gone under suddenly, the suction would have pulled down all lifeboats nearby.

Finally, at 4:58 a.m., the Ile De France radioed, "all passengers rescued. Proceeding to New York full speed."

The master of the Andrea Doria, Captain Piero Calamai and a group of his senior officers, stayed aboard the dying ship fighting to save her.

But it was not to be.

BY 8:30 in the morning, water was lapping over her starboard rail. One giant propeller was jutting out of the water. A few minutes after 10, she began to sink along her whole length. A bright burst of foam and bubbles surged up as she went under and two lifeboats that had broken free of the davits exploded above the surface of the ocean.

The Andrea Doria was gone. Mercy and tragedy walked together.

Tulio De Sandro, who threw his small daughter into a lifeboat, found her in Boston, gravely injured. She died later.

But 14-year-old Linda Morgan, stepdaughter of Camille Ciarfara, arrived on a rescue ship. "I was thrown out of my cabin—or something," she said. "I don't remember what else happened."

ANGUISH OF WAITING is relieved by tears of reunion as Mrs. Emma Ponzi of Newark, N. J., greets her son, Antonio. The 14-year-old boy, a survivor of Andrea Doria sinking, was brought to New York aboard the Stockholm.

Ship Survivors Condemn and Praise Italian Crew

NEW YORK (AP)—Some survivors of the Andrea Doria disaster say the first lifeboats away from the sinking vessel were mainly occupied by crew members. The statements were denied by crewmen of the ill-fated ship.

Frank Clifton, Toronto, Canada, city alderman who arrived here aboard the Swedish ship Stockholm, which collided with the Andrea Doria, said he escaped in a lifeboat that carried 40 crew members and four passengers.

"From out of nowhere," said Clifton, "came lots of the crew and got into one of the lifeboats. I got in with them. Nobody gave me any instructions or paid any attention to me."

Said Cadet Mario Maracci: "We worked so hard to save so many lives. Perhaps they (the passengers) didn't understand. The passengers were highly excitable, fighting among themselves. They made it difficult."

MRS. BEULAH McGowen of Monterey, Calif., a Doria passenger who arrived on the Stockholm, said in a pier radio interview:

"The crew members of the Stockholm told me that the first three lifeboats launched from the Andrea Doria contained all members of the ship's crew."

Mrs. McGowen said she and her husband, Edgar, made their way to the deck and that she was picked up by a Stockholm lifeboat. She said she did not know how her husband was saved.

Doria crewman Julian Pirelli said:

Housing Bill Affects Almost Every Class

WASHINGTON (AP) — The multibillion dollar housing bill now awaiting President Eisenhower's signature carries items for the home owner, the home seeker, the slum dweller, and others.

Few bills stirred such bitter fights between partisans who considered it too big and those who considered it too small. It threatened for days to block the adjournment of Congress before the logjam broke and it won passage Friday night.

Here are items in the big bill, on whose loan, grant and insurance provisions Congress has set no overall dollar total:

FHA MORTGAGE INSURANCE—Provides another three billion dollars of mortgage insurance authority in the current fiscal year. Also extends Veterans Administration home loan program one year.

HOME REPAIRS — Allows federal housing commissioner to insure five-year loans to finance repairs, instead of present three-year maximum.

DISASTER RELIEF—Allows FHA to insure new long-term mortgage loans for persons whose property is damaged or destroyed by disaster.

PUBLIC HOUSING—Authorizes construction of 70,000 units of federally subsidized low rental housing for low income groups in two years.

SLUM CLEARANCE — Authorizes federal loans and capital grants by Housing and Home Finance Agency for slum clearance and urban renewal projects to improve "blighted" urban areas.

MILITARY HOUSING — Extends Capehart Military Housing program to June 30, 1958, authorizing $2,300,000,000 more FHA mortgage insurance to construct about 150,000 additional units at or near military bases.

HOUSING FOR ELDERLY—Allows FHA mortgages up to 90 per cent of replacement cost on rental housing developments by nonprofit organizations designed structurally for elderly. Does not include any such projects for sale to elderly, which Senate had approved originally.

House GOPs 90 Per Cent Behind Nixon

L.B. Vagabonds Having Ball; Even See Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Snowballing support from Republicans of many shades of party opinion put Vice President Nixon in a commanding position Saturday to win renomination at the GOP National Convention.

The Vice President was pledged "our full support" by 180 of 202 Republican House members. Rep. Cederberg (R-Mich.) said that as representatives of "all segments of our population," the GOP House members believe Nixon will "lend strength to our cause" in the November election.

UNDERSECRETARY of Commerce Walter Williams, former head of the Citizens for Eisenhower, accepted an invitation to second Nixon's nomination at San Francisco next month. He told the Vice President in a letter that independent voters "strongly favor your candidacy."

Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts, suggested by Harold E. Stassen as a stronger candidate for second place on the ticket, already has agreed to place Nixon's name in nomination.

But Stassen kept up his fight. He issued this statement: "It is not too late to take the decision that will place President Eisenhower and the Republican candidates for Congress and the Republican candidates for state and local offices in the strongest position for the November election by making it an Eisenhower-Herter ticket."

Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament assistant, was assailed by Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.), former chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee.

GOLDWATER SAID Stassen is "obviously trying to create dissension in an otherwise harmonious Republican party." He suggested Stassen ought to follow Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon out of the Republican camp and join the Democrats.

Sen. Thyne (R-Minn.), long-time political associate of Stassen, said he had told the President's aide he regarded his proposal to dump Nixon as "untimely" and likely to be a failure as an outgrowth of Stassen's action. They said he himself has come out publicly for Nixon's renomination.

any door and sing a ditty that goes like this:

"We're from Long Beach, California
Where we've studied engineering...
We know we'd be imposing, but...
Mow your lawn, wash your car, do your dishes;
We're subject to all your wishes
For room and board for just tonight."

ARRIVING IN Washington, they looked up their local congressman, Rep. Craig Hosmer. When they confided that they would do anything—even sing a song—for an audience with the vice president, Hosmer arranged it.

Nixon, caught in the middle of political problems, was unable to hear them out, but he extended a friendly handshake, gave them short instructions on how to pose when a photographer arrived, and wished them good luck on their journey.

Loomis and Baehr then hurried over to the Senate gallery and watched lawmakers at work before heading for New York.

Despite the promises extended in their song, the two youths haven't had to mow a single lawn.

"BUT BOY," said Loomis, "we have washed a mountain of dishes."

When they hit the highway, they lined up signs on their suitcases that read "At least" and "wave."

So far, they haven't had a bit of trouble with policemen.

"They don't pick us up," said Baehr, "they just wave."

After visiting New York, Philadelphia and Niagara Falls, they plan to head for Long Beach.

New Social Security Provisions

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress sent a history-making Social Security bill to President Eisenhower Friday night just before adjournment.

The measure contains these major pioneering provisions, both opposed by the administration in a long congressional battle:

1. A new program of benefits to persons totally disabled at age 50 or older who are covered by the Social Security Law.
2. Retirement at age 62 for all women eligible under Social Security. This is the first break in the 65 retirement age set up when the system was established 20 years ago.

The Senate completed legislative action on the compromise bill, passing it by voice vote shortly before the final gavel.

Despite the administration's stated views, Republicans joined Democrats in predicting Eisenhower would sign the measure.

The bill brings about 225,000 additional persons under Social Security for the first time. These include lawyers, dentists and osteopaths. Medical doctors comprise the only sizable group left outside the system, aside from many government workers who have access to a federal pension plan.

Another provision would raise federal grants to the states by 146 million dollars a year to increase payments to persons on the public assistance rolls.

This is designed to boost checks to the needy, aged, blind and disabled by about $3 to $4 a month, and aid to individual dependent children about $2 a month.

The bill would raise Social Security taxes $50 million dollars a year starting Jan. 1, 1957, to finance the new benefits.

Both employer and employee would pay at the rate of 2 1/2 per cent on the first $4,200 of the worker's annual earnings, starting the first of next year.

Presently each group pays 2 per cent on the first $4,200. Self-employed persons would pay at a 3 1/2 per cent rate on the same earnings base.

The new disability payments will go to an estimated 340,000 persons in the first year of the program, with the first checks slated for next July.

The payments are expected to average about $75 or $80 a month for those who meet strict Social Security coverage and medical requirements.

THE FIRST CHECKS to women going on the Social Security rolls between age 62 and age 65 would go out in December this year.

Only the widows would receive at age 62 the same rate of payment to which they now are entitled at age 65.

The working women would receive at 62 only 80 per cent of their age 65 rate.

CAPITAL CAPERS

By WALTER T. RIDDER, ROBERT E. LEE AND BILL BROOM (Independent Press-Telegram Capital Bureau)

WASHINGTON—Among Vice President Dick Nixon's most ardent boosters are a group of young congressmen from Southern California, sometimes referred to as "Rover Boys" and "cheer leaders" by the Vice President's detractors.

This group formed the nucleus when 20 House members sent a telegram to "Secretary for Peace" Harold Stassen calling on him to resign because of his dump Nixon move.

However, two of the group's staunchest adherents, Reps. Pat Hillings (R-Arcadia) and Joe Holt (R-Van Nuys), weren't around when the telegram was drafted. They were disappointed. Not only that, they were crushed.

"What can we do?" they asked each other, for the telegram expressed their sentiments to the last comma. Then one of them had an idea.

And thus it was that, early Tuesday morning, Stassen received the following telegram:

"Dear Harold—
You are sick, sick, sick, sick, sick.
Yours truly,
PAT and JOE."

So far, Stassen's physicians have not called a press conference.

SEN. HUBERT HUMPHREY (D-Calif.) likes to tease the Republican administration about what he calls the "Madison Avenue" advertising approach to government. But two of Hubert's biggest boosters for the vice presidential nomination are former ambassador Chester Bowles and former Sen. Bill Benton, who organized one of the world's largest advertising firms back in the 1920's. Both since have retired from the business.

The word around Humphrey's office is that advertising men are all right if they're Democrats.

Down the Hill Went 251 Speedsters!

BEACH COMBING
WITH MALCOLM EPLEY

THEY said we'd get albacore, and danged if we didn't. About 70 of them, or better than two per man on the Sea Angler fishing junket arranged for city officials by J. E. McClintock and Wm. Nott of Pierpoint Landing.

We got 'em in spite of my presence on the 60-foot boat as it heaved in the choppy sea south of Catalina Friday. I even landed three of the beauties myself, which is amazing for the guy who gloriously jinxed the same project a couple of years ago.

On that occasion, I was invited by City Mgr. Sam Vickers, even though a few months previously, on Lake Havasu on the Colorado, I had taught Bro. Vickers what a real jinx was. He fished all day on Havasu with me in the boat, and didn't get a single strike. Not one.

But Vickers thought that was just an accident. So he invited me on the Nott-McClintock cruise the next summer. The craft went out to sea hopefully, hit some very heavy weather, lay for a while outside the breakwater, and finally slunk home empty-handed.

The following summer, 1955, I was out of town when the cruise came off. And so the boys went out and snagged more than 100 tuna.

BUT our city mgr. is a stubborn fellow. And so, at 12:10 a.m. Friday, I climbed aboard the Sea Angler as a guest of Bro. Vickers, feeling as if I were about to spring the biggest jinx of my career, which has sprung some dandies.

About dawn I heard somebody shout "Time to Fish!" and went topside to await the painful skunking I was sure would be the lot of these municipal hearties who stood about fixing gear and munching doughnuts.

We continued to churn along through the rough sea for an hour or so. The rods went one by one back on the racks. The early enthusiasm waned pitifully.

Juvenile Supt. Joe Kennick came back to the snack bar. "There's a lull in the fishing," he said, and he sounded a little bitter. I wondered if he knew why we hadn't caught anything yet.

WE continued to wallow along, gloom settling on the once-gay little party.

And then there was a shout from aft, and the engines were cut, and as one man, the gang rushed for rod and reel.

In a minute there was a hookup. Before the albacore was landed, there were half a dozen more. We were in them, for good. Mayor Geo. Vermillion, City Mgr. Vickers, Franchise Bureau Director Henry Jordan, City Engineer Jess Gilkerson, Gas Supt. L. L. Bendinger — these, and other officials, were soon heaving vigorously on poles bent nearly double, madly grinding at their reels.

A few minutes later I got my first, fighting him for 15 minutes twice around the boat, and finally landing him with the aid of a shark that bit his tail off.

Everybody got albacore in the next couple of hours, and most of them doubled or tripled their bags. Vickers scooped at my vaunted jinx, and McClintock said the event was a great success that might be hard to duplicate.

EN route home came the amusing highlight of the voyage. As is customary, some of the surplus live bait was tossed into the air and there snatched by swirling seagulls—an operation watched with interest by Col. Arthur Frye, U.S. Army Engineers, a guest on board.

Presently, a smelt about 10 inches long came out of the bait tank and fell wriggling on the deck. Col. Frye, curious as to what seagulls might do with this big mouthful, picked up the slick fish, and started to heave it on high.

But it slipped from his hand and flew in a bee line to the rail, where stood Pliny Berlin, Tustin, talking with Mayor Vermillion, his host. The fish hit Berlin full on the side of the face, knocking his hat off and over the rail into the sea.

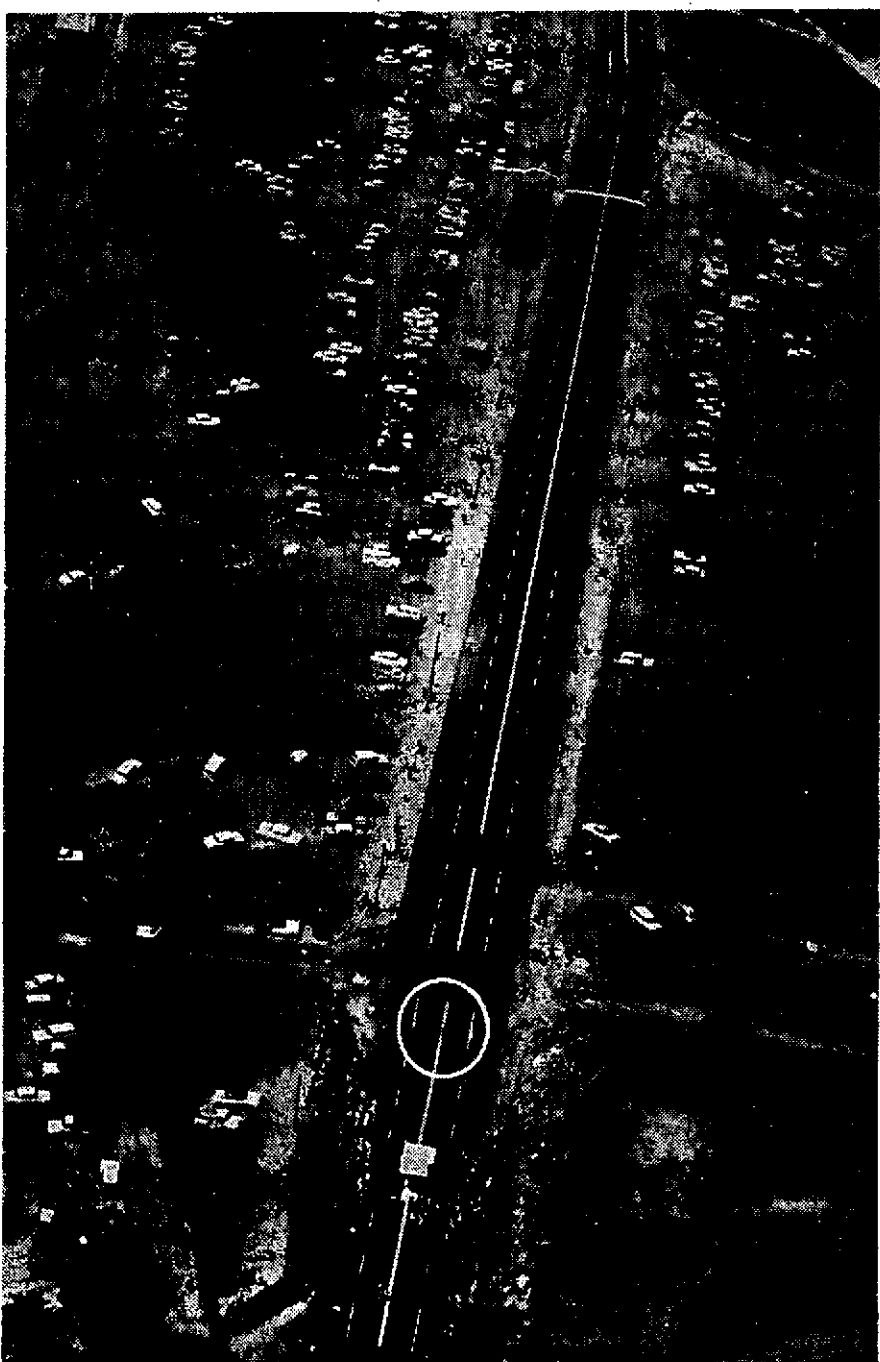

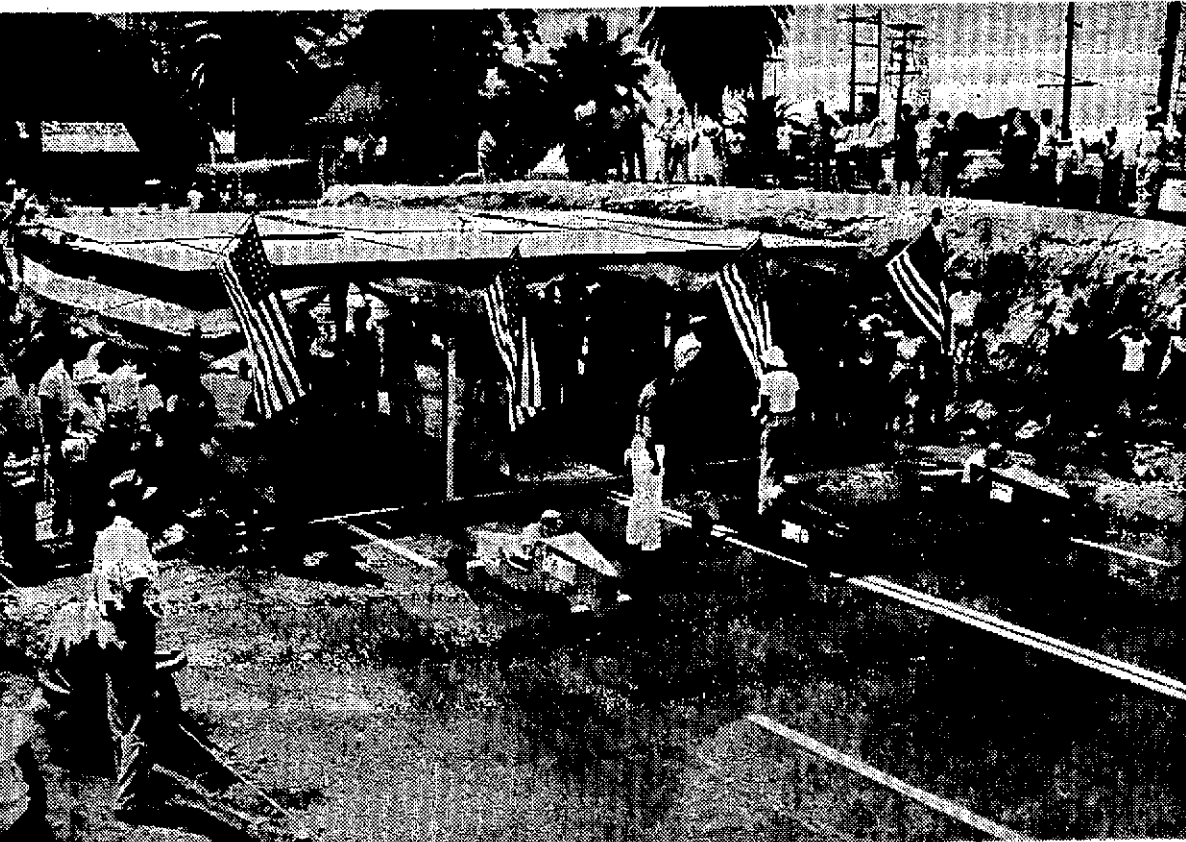

The startled Berlin looked sorrowfully after his chapeau and turned to receive the embarrassed apologies of the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

SPEEDING DOWN Redondo Ave. hill north of Pacific Coast Highway, Wayne Ford, 12, of Inglewood won finals of Long Beach area Soap Box Derby Saturday.

RUNNER-UP Rayner Brower, left, neighbor of last year's area champion, Albert Cobble, smiles congratulations to the new champion, Wayne Ford. Wayne will go to national finals in Akron, Ohio, Aug. 12.

SUMMERY WEAR of two spectators is shaded by umbrella. They're posted near the finish line of the derby, co-sponsored by The Independent, Press-Telegram and Long Beach-area Chevrolet dealers.

FLAG - BEDECKED starting gate sends racers scooting downhill, powered only by gravity. Three young speedsters competed in each heat of eliminations. Thousands of spectators assembled during the day-long racing event.

WITH HUNDREDS competing, a few mishaps were inevitable. Carried to Community Hospital with a fracture of his right leg was Kenny Augustine, 6, of 2821 Faust Ave. Kenny was struck when James Parsons, 12, of Santa Monica, lost control of his free-wheeling vehicle in the drive to the finish.

Democrat-Ruled Congress Ignored Many of Ike's Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — The revision of the Taft-Hartley Labor Law. . . .

Democratic-controlled 84th Congress, which adjourned Friday midnight, defeated or ignored many bills asked by President Eisenhower.

Democrats pointed out Saturday that many of these also failed to pass in the previous Congress managed by the Republicans.

Important parts of the Eisenhower program either beaten or not acted upon included school construction, civil rights legislation, a postal-rate increase and

OTHER FEATURES of his program, like Social Security, foreign aid, and highway construction, were altered substantially in form.

His foreign-aid bill was cut well over a billion dollars and certain long-range authority he asked in this field was denied.

His highway construction bill was revised to provide financing through new taxes, rather than

A BILL TO PROVIDE 1½ billion dollars in federal grants for school construction went down in the House in a bitter tangle over racial segregation and charges of political maneuvering.

The administration's civil rights bill got through the House in the closing days of the session, but was bottled up by southern strategists in the Senate.

Warden Quits After MS Drive Volunteers Convicts' Sitdown

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The warden of Connecticut State Prison resigned Saturday after 300 inmates staged a six-hour sitdown strike.

"I know when I'm licked, said Warden George Cummings. 'I'm going to move out of here. There's no question about it.'"

Gov. Abraham Ribicoff, who accepted Cummings' resignation immediately, assigned the state adjutant general, Frederick G. Reinke, to temporary command of the prison at Wethersfield.

GEORGE CUMMINGS Knows When He's Licked

THE PRISONERS started their non-violent revolt Friday night when they demanded to talk with newspapermen before returning to their cells.

The warden gave in to their demands, but after the newsmen heard the complaints, the prisoners began chanting for the release of a 30-year-old inmate from an isolation cell.

Cummings released the prisoner, Leroy Nar, from the cell and promised to discontinue solitary confinement punishment.

Then he signed a statement promising that the complaints of the inmates would be presented to the prison board of directors and two state legislators.

But the prisoners were not pacified. Cummings climbed a wall and pleaded with them for 20 minutes to return to their cells and they finally began to return.

Gov. Ribicoff said State Police Capt. Phillip Schwartz would help Reinke maintain order at the 128-year-old prison.

"It is absolutely essential that complete authority be restored at the prison," Ribicoff said.

Earlier in the week inmates had smuggled out letters complaining about conditions in the prison, similar to the ones which had touched off another sit-

MS Drive Volunteers Ready for Duty Today

More than 1,200 volunteer workers will make a house-to-house canvass in Long Beach today in connection with a day-long telethon to raise money for the Multiple Sclerosis Society.

The telethon will be on Channel 2 from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. "Dragnet" stars Jack Webb and Ben Alexander will be master of ceremony.

Persons wishing to contribute to the campaign may do so by calling Walker's Los Altos store. The number is HEMlock 9-6811.

Millions can turn back the clock 5-10-15 years!

No Pulling! No Lifting!
No Pushing! No Shoving!
No Puffing! No Straining!

There's no secret to keeping young after 35. Today, millions of middle-aged men and women need not grow any older physically. In fact, a great many can turn the clock back 5, 10, 15 years by simply exercising every day, and not just on weekends or vacations.

You cannot retard aging, or regain a part of your youthfulness, unless you exercise every day. For it's daily manipulation of the main body muscles and joints that helps to keep your weight down, your heart strong, your circulation good, your elimination regular, your blood pressure normal, your lungs well ventilated, your muscles firm and your joints flexible... that's youthfulness at any age!

IT'S NEVER TOO LATE TO FEEL YOUNG AGAIN!

No matter how old you are, or how soft, or fat, or weak you have grown as a result of muscular inactivity, EXERCYCLE can take you in hand and, little by little, make a new person out of you. Within 10 days you'll start feeling younger, looking better and acting livelier. In 30 days you'll awaken a new and refreshed person... you'll stand taller, feel lighter, look healthier, eat heartier and sleep more soundly. And you'll feel less jittery, too. For there's nothing that will relax the nerves more naturally and quickly than gentle muscular activity. Soon friends will say: "You look simply great!" And you'll say: "I feel great!"

LET THIS FULLY AUTOMATIC—SELF PROPELLED—MOTOR DRIVEN EXERCYCLE Keep You Slender, Young and Active!

Daily exercise is no longer the monotonous, time-consuming, tiring and back-breaking chore of old when you own an EXERCYCLE. For EXERCYCLE does, automatically and speedily, what used to take hours of strenuous pushing, pulling, lifting, straining and puffing. Click a switch—and presto! you are rowing... and cycling... and swimming... and horseback riding... and doing calisthenics... all at one and the same time—and without lifting a finger yourself. In 15 minutes you're rested, relaxed, refreshed, and re-energized, ready for work, play, a night of gaiety, or sound sleep. Gone are those vague aches and pains, and that tired, restless and dragged-out feeling that usually signals the need for better circulation and "muscle stretching." That's EXERCYCLING for you! Totally different!... completely modern!

ONLY A PLANNED PROGRAM CAN HELP YOU

EXERCYCLE provides a scientifically planned body rebuilding and health maintenance plan which removes the guesswork, the stiffness, the soreness, the fatigue and the monotony from exercising. For EXERCYCLE is to exercise what taste is to eating—it makes it a pleasure! And with EXERCYCLE, you can listen to the radio, watch television, or even read, while improving yourself physically. EXERCYCLE requires no attention from the time you start it... it's automatic in every way!

Let's face it! The old-fashioned push-ups, and chin-ups, and sit-ups, and body rotations, and squatting exercises are too strenuous, too monotonous and too time-consuming for the average middle-aged person. EXERCYCLE changes all of this! For—after 35—what the body needs mostly is not the muscular strain and fatigue that accompanies ordinary exercising, but rather a set of systematic, coordinated, rhythmic motions—smooth and gentle—such as EXERCYCLE provides... movements which automatically and simultaneously set into motion your main body muscles and joints, while you just sit and ride!

OVER 60, AND STILL GOING STRONG!

"I'm past 60 and active in business every day. I ride my Exercycle daily. My doctor says I have the body and stamina of a young, healthy man of 35. He adds that it's this daily exercising of my main joints and muscles that helps to keep my weight down, my heart strong, my figure young, my elimination regular, my lungs in top shape, my circulation good, my muscles firm and my joints flexible. So I strongly recommend a daily Exercycle ride for all those who, like myself, are engaged in sedentary occupations that can age you quickly if you don't exercise daily."

JAMES MARATTA, National Director
Physical Fitness Laboratories of the Exercycle Corporation

WONDERFUL FOR WOMEN

EXERCYCLE is so easy to ride, so gentle and silent in operation, and so effective in beautifying the figure and controlling weight, that 40% of EXERCYCLE buyers are women.

Freshen Sea Water? Leave It to Moon!

The moon is good for more than rhyme with June and tune.
Moon power, combined with the rise and fall of the ocean, will give you a cheap source of electrical energy ideal for distilling fresh water from the sea.

GLENN N. BELL
Applies for Patent

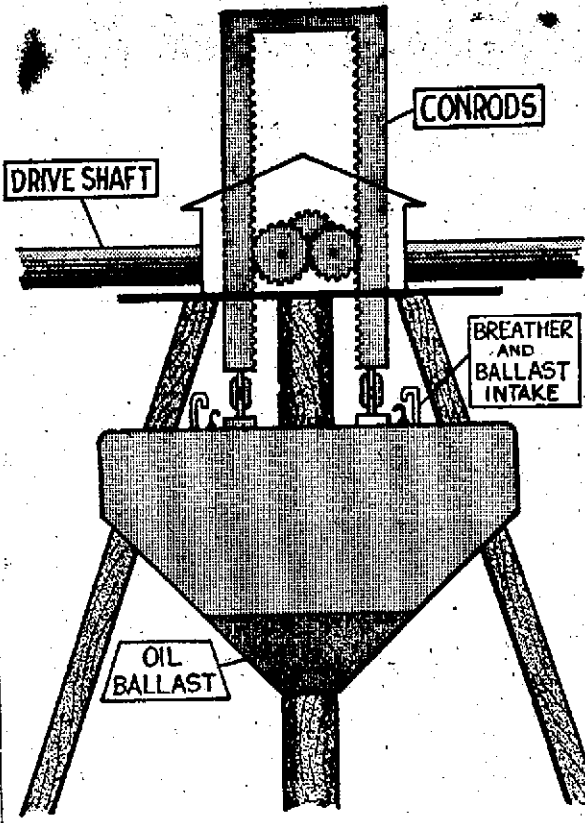

That's the conclusion of Glenn N. Bell, 46, of 234 Elm Ave. Bell, a resident of Long Beach since he was 9 years old, was captain of a crash boat in the U.S. Army Air Corps in World War II. He has been a private investigator in Long Beach since 1946.

AFTER A SERIES of experiments, he has invented what he calls a "Luna-Neptunus" (Moon-Neptune), a perpetual motion machine for which he has applied for a patent.

Bell's plan calls for 25 to 30 metal floats in tandem at the outer breakwater, each working like a piston, giving a 10,000-pound upward push and the same poundage fall, according to gear ratio and ballast in the float.

Large geared conrods perpendicular to the main guide pile connected to the float would extend through the power unit, geared to the desired ratio, to the drive shaft of the dynamo in the power plant.

VIRTUALLY NO JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

Avalon Lauds Remote Control

The company official stepped up to members of the Long Beach Board of Education, smiled and informed them, "We're very happy with our remote controlled school."

Malcolm J. Renton, vice president of the Santa Catalina Island Co., was speaking of the school he had attended years before in Avalon, heart of one of the nation's best known vacationlands.

"By remote controlled," he referred to the situation of a school separated from its governing board, the Long Beach Unified School District, by 23 miles of water.

Speaking for Avalon residents, Renton told board members, who were visiting Catalina Island to inspect the school, "We have benefitted very materially from the Long Beach system."

AN EXIGENCY and a twist of fate made the Avalon school part of the local district.

Before 1923 Avalon high school students traveled to the mainland to attend classes in various cities. The need for a high school at Avalon became evident as this portion of the school population increased.

But the island board of education learned there were not enough high school students to create a new high school dis-

Under way now is a $65,000 project to rehabilitate and make alterations to the shower and locker buildings.

AVALON'S SCHOOL, spacious and extensive in relation to a town with a population of about 1,400 year-round residents, is a focal point of civic pride.

Because there are few entertainment facilities available to residents during the school season, residents hold meetings and other functions in the school auditorium.

And the students, having few places to go, center the bulk of their activities around the school.

Because of this there is virtually no juvenile delinquency problem on the island, according to police officials.

Bomb Wing Reunion Set for Aug. 11

The fifth annual reunion of former members of the 452nd Bomb Wing will be at the NCO Club of the Long Beach Air Force Base at 8 p. m. Aug. 11.

The 452nd was a Reserve Bomb Wing stationed at Long Beach when it was activated Aug. 10, 1950, near the beginning of the Korean War.

Under the command of Brig. Gen. Luther W. Sweetser Jr., the Wing took advanced training at George Air Force Base in Victorville and flew its first mission, from Fukuoka, Japan, into North Korea just 60 days after activation.

IN DECEMBER 1950, the Wing was transferred to Miho, Japan, and flew missions to Korea from a World War II Japanese air base. In May 1951, the Wing made another move, this time to Pusan, Korea, where it participated in 1,000 sorties into enemy territory and received the Korean Presidential Unit citation for meritorious service.

Sam Isaac and Gene Hoffman, co-chairmen of the arrangements committee, hope that all former members and friends of the 452nd will attend. There will be dancing, refreshments and lots of reminiscing.

Harry White's 1940 Peace Plans Bared

WASHINGTON (UP)—Harry Dexter White, onetime Roosevelt administration aide accused of spying for Russia, proposed just three weeks before the Japanese struck Pearl Harbor that the United States pull the bulk of its Navy out of the Pacific.

This was disclosed by the State Department Saturday in a volume of long-secret diplomatic papers dealing with the days before the Japanese attack. White's proposal was part of an overall plan which he said would block a headlong U. S.-Japanese race into war.

At the time White was a special assistant to then Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr. When later accused of spying for Russia he denied the charges. He died shortly thereafter.

White's plan was forwarded to Secretary of State Cordell Hull by Morgenthau. An accompanying letter said a copy was being sent to President Roosevelt.

WHITE SAID that if Roosevelt would propose his plan and Japan accepted, Japan would be transformed from "a threatening and belligerent powerful enemy into a peaceful and prosperous neighbor." The plan, he said, would "bring peace . . . and assure the subsequent defeat of Germany."

Under the plan, the United States would have agreed to "withdraw the bulk of the American naval forces from the Pacific," sign a 20-year nonaggression pact with Japan, persuade Britain to "give Hong Kong back to China," and take other steps favorable to Japan.

In return, Japan would withdraw all her military forces from China, Indochina and Thailand, give up all extraterritorial rights in China, remove most Japanese forces from Manchuria, "provided the U.S.S.R. withdraws all her troops from the Far East front except for an equivalent remainder" — and take other steps.

White said his plan could be of extreme importance if it freed Allied forces from the Pacific area.

"IF WE CAN obtain the release of the Russian, British and American forces now being tied up in the Far East by Japan's threatening, we will have done more to strengthen the United Kingdom and Russia vis-a-vis Germany than we could with a whole year's output of planes and tanks and ships," he wrote.

The proposal got an enthusiastic response from the State Department. Maxwell M. Hamilton, chief of the department's Far East division, called it "the most constructive one which I have yet seen."

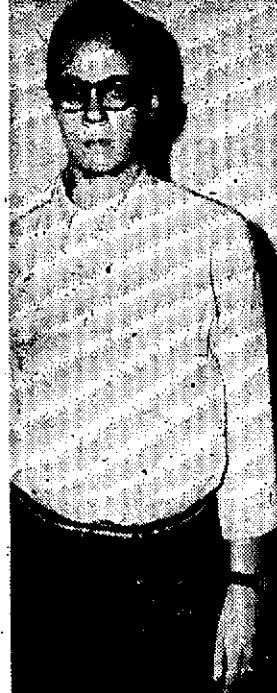

"I have shown the proposal to all of the senior officers of FE (the Far East division) and all of them concur in that view," he wrote.

The department nonetheless made some revisions in the plan. This called for Japan to negotiate a nonaggression pact with the United States, China, Britain, The Netherlands, Thailand and the Soviet Union.

THE ARMY SAID it saw "no objection" to using the revised plan as a basis for discussion. But it urged that the multi-lateral nonaggression pact be dropped on grounds it would be "unacceptable" to Russia.

The Navy, however, was sharply against some features. Adm. Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, said the provision calling for withdrawal of Navy forces "is unacceptable."

"It commits the United States to naval restrictions without imposing compensating naval re-

Three Killed as Two Cars Hit Head-on

CASPER, Wyo., (UP)—Three persons were killed early Saturday in a head-on crash on U.S. 87 about 13 miles east of Casper.

Dead are: John H. Balderston, 39, of Banff, Alta., Canada; Mrs. Donna Martin Balderston, 33, his wife; and Richmond Elmer Cook, 25, of Mulberry, Kan.

Injured and in serious condition in Natrona County Memorial Hospital in Casper are William Cook, 23, brother of the dead man, and the four-year-old son of the Balderstons who could not be further identified.

The Balderston family was headed for Corpus Christi, Tex., where he had accepted a job as an engineer. Cook was driving west.

U.S. Navy Sailors Wear Shorts 1st Time Officially

NEWPORT, R. I. (UP)—U.S. sailors returned here Saturday "showing their knees," for the first time in history.

Crew members were dressed in khaki Bermuda shorts when three destroyers of the First Division docked this morning. The ships were returned from four months in the Mediterranean, the Red Sea and the Persian Gulf, where temperatures climbed at one time to 160 degrees.

restrictions on Japan," he said. "I think under no circumstances the word 'reduce' should be employed since our naval forces in the Pacific are inadequate and should not have to undergo additional loss of strength," Stark said.

Soviets Plan Abolition of Death Penalty

MOSCOW (UP)—Soviet legal authorities said Saturday a proposed new penal code probably would abolish the death penalty.

The officials told Lord Chorley, head of a visiting delegation from the Anglo-Soviet Friendship Society, that a large proportion of the population favors capital punishment but that most jurists oppose it.

The Soviet government originally limited the death penalty to political crimes, but it later was broadened to apply to major social crimes, such as murder.

Chorley, whose homeland currently is engaged in debate on whether to abolish capital punishment, said he was told that some of the evidence in the treason trial of executed Soviet Security Minister Lavrenti Beria has been published in Russia.

Texan Tells of Fabulous Russian Oil Discovery

HOUSTON (UP)—A petroleum geologist says the Russians are a bit cagey on details but that big things are going on in the Ural-Volga oil area of the Soviet Union.

Dr. J. Brian Eby of Houston says the Russians are developing an "oil area" that exceeds, geographically, the fabulous East Texas oil field in size.

"IT IS ONE of the largest oil areas that we know about—some 60 miles long and 30 miles wide," Eby said. "It is not drilled up as yet and, at present, probably should be called an oil area instead of a field."

Eby has just returned from an oil information trip to Moscow. He believes it was the first such trip by an oilman from a western nation in nearly 20 years.

The huge "oil area" of approximately 1,800 square miles, Eby

Police Warn Evangelists to Stay Out of Deep South

FRESNO (UP)—A police warning to stay away from the deep South has been received by a Fresno interracial evangelistic team which plans a tour of Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas next month for the Interracial Missionary Society.

Ed P. York, a Pacific Bible Institute student, said the warning came from Chief of Police Shirley A. Arright of Baton Rouge, La. He said Chief Arright had advised the group to steer clear of Baton Rouge. York reported numerous white and Negro clergymen in the South have commended the proposed tour but have suggested it be postponed until the segregation issue dies down.

"We don't want to cause violence," York said, "and we're not martyrs, but we're going."

Globe-Circling Yachting Couple Trade 'Paradise' for L. B. Home

Bill and Phyllis Crowe, who gave up a home for "Paradise," now have given up "Paradise" for a home. They're back from Hawaii. They have bought a green, two-bedroom frame home at 394 Obispo Ave. and they have bought a store-and-apartment building, 1064-1070 E. Broadway. For a while, at least, they will divide their time between their home and the Lang Syne, their 39-foot auxiliary schooner in the Yacht Center, Berth 204, Wilmington, opposite the Ford plant. That's to make it easy to try out being land-lubbers. In the past 15 years they have spent only two years ashore.

THE CROWES, who were married in Long Beach in 1923, and went to Honolulu in 1936, made the headlines in 1932 by completing a 55,000-mile four-year cruise around the world in the Lang Syne. There was nobody aboard but just the two of them, and among other places they visited Samoa, Australia, Bali, Singapore, Ceylon, Cape Town, Rio de Janeiro, Trinidad, Puerto Rico, New York, Bermuda, Panama, and Long Beach. They wrote a book about their adventures, "Heaven, Hell and Salt Water," which still has a brisk sale.

After that trip they conducted a small shipyard and ships' store in Honolulu, but recently they sold them and decided they would try mainland life again for a while.

It took them 22 days to sail from Honolulu to Long Beach and they did not see another person or another boat until a steamer passed them near San Miguel.

On their four-year cruise they went as long as 47 days without seeing a ship or another person.

In Africa, the sea-going gypsies nosed 20 miles up the Congo. At Capetown they stayed four months and explored South Africa.

ROUGHEST WEATHER experienced by the couple was in the Bay of Bengal off Ceylon. A cyclone struck, but did not damage the sturdy Lang Syne.

The boat was damaged twice—once in Zanzibar when it was blown upon a beach and again in the Indian Ocean when the Crowes collided with a whale.

The schooner carries a two-way radio, but the couple never used it. "There was no one to call when we needed help," they explain.

The Crowes built the Lang Syne in Honolulu and lived aboard her there for years. They figure that their cruises cost them $3,000 a year.

"We saved a lot of money by building the boat ourselves," they explain. "Keeping it up is no more expensive than keeping up a house. And we have to eat anywhere."

Hungary Charges U.S. Is Violating Its Air Space

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—The Hungarian government protested in a note delivered to the American legation Saturday that American organizations in West Germany are launching "balloons loaded with inciting pamphlets into Hungary's air space."

It charged that on July 19 a balloon of this type collided with a Hungarian plane which crashed, killing the pilot. The note also charged that American planes "violated Hungary's air space four times in the first days of July."

It said 293 balloons had been observed over Hungary since Feb. 8, 1936.

Hungary Lifts Travel Curbs on Diplomats

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Hungary Saturday relaxed travel restrictions governing movements of foreign diplomats.

The foreign ministry said in a communique diplomats would no longer be obliged to report their travel plans to Hungarian authorities.

REVENUES INCREASE—FREIGHT JUMPS

Long Beach Airport Shows Significant Gains in Year

Even without the major improvements now in the planning stage, Long Beach Municipal Airport activities showed significant gains in the 12 months ended June 30, principally in freight handled.

And earned revenues were substantially in excess of expenditures, according to the annual report just filed with City Mgr. Sam E. Vickers' office by Director of Aeronautics Glenn L. Arbogast.

Total freight handled amounted to a record volume of 5,260,998 pounds, compared with 3,806,274 in the preceding fiscal year.

Mail handled rose to 689,015 pounds from the previous record of 411,367, and gasoline sales were up from 719,403 to 759,466 gallons.

Smallest gain was in passengers handled, from 102,007 to 102,766.

THE FINANCIAL statement revealed earned revenues of $174,799.93, or an excess of $22,589.52 over expenditures of $152,210.41. Income for the preceding year was $146,889.12, against expenses of $144,635.01.

Value of services furnished to the airport by the Public Service Dept., usually averaging $15,000 per year, was not shown. Even so, an appreciable margin of the theoretical profit remains.

Principal revenue items were $84,474.77 lease of land areas, $38,959.20 rental of hangars, $19,844.41 sales and commissions, and $10,780.84 rental of field buildings.

TWO SIGNIFICANT firsts related to Douglas Aircraft Co. were noted in the report.

The first Douglas C-133A, described as the largest transport aircraft being built, took off from the airport on her maiden flight, the beginning of an extensive manufacturing program in this category.

And the first landing of an RB-66, a jet bomber also produced by Douglas, was made at the airport. Assisted by a drag parachute, the landing extended over only about one-half of the diagonal runway.

THE REPORT also noted that Air Surveillance Radar No. 3, the latest type, has been installed by the Civil Aeronautics Administration. This facility, an added safety measure in instrument flying conditions, has been successfully operated, but has not yet been formally commissioned by CAA.

Eighteen accidents were recorded at the airport during the year. Of the 15 involving aircraft, only one was serious, resulting in the death of a pilot.

The other mishaps involved autos which struck the airport boundary fence on either Lakewood Blvd. or Spring St.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PEOPLE OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA From AARON SCHULTZ

Dear Friends and Customers:

We wish to extend our sincere thanks and gratitude for the tremendous way you responded to our first WAREHOUSE SALE in six years. Over 100,000 of you made it, unquestionably, the greatest sale in our 32 years of serving the home furnishing needs of this area.

Because of the immensity of the sale, which went way beyond our fondest dreams and expectations, we were obliged to rapidly employ additional temporary sales help and delivery facilities. This resulted in some confusion and, we must admit, a good many errors on our part. We, therefore, wish to apologize if our usual fine service, personal attention and promptness were found inadequate at times, and not up to the ordinarily high standards we prize so dearly.

If you should find any irregularities in the way we handled or are handling your personal purchases, kindly bear with us as we are working night and day to set things in order and give complete satisfaction to everyone concerned. Thank you again.

Yours sincerely,

Vegas Scandal Expose by I, P-T Capped in True Magazine Series

The inside story of how an undercover operator matched wits with a Murder, Inc., gunman and recovered a stolen $100,000 bond is told in a national magazine article by James Phelan, Long Beach.

The article, "Con Job on a Killer," is one of a series in True magazine on the exploits of Pierre Lafitte, a free-lance undercover man who has worked at various times for the FBI, the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, and other agencies.

The magazine calls Lafitte "the incredible impersonator" who specializes in infiltrating the underworld in the guise of a gangster, and has sent up dozens of top criminals.

PHELAN FIRST ran across the trail of Lafitte while writing a series of articles for the Independent Press-Telegram on Las Vegas. He told how Lafitte, posing as an Eastern mobster named Louis Tabet, uncovered evidence of widespread corruption in the Nevada gambling center and knocked out a million-dollar libel suit against the Las Vegas Sun.

Phelan reported the Las Vegas scandal for True in "The Man

Austria Chief Stricken

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Theodor Koerner, 83-year-old Austrian president, was reported Saturday to have suffered a slight stroke.

Who Took Las Vegas" and then was assigned by the magazine to do a series of articles on Lafitte.

THE CURRENT ARTICLE, fourth of the series, relates how Lafitte lured Benedict Macri, gunman for the Anastasia waterfront mob in New York, into an FBI trap. Lafitte worked three months on the case, posing as Leon Morelli, Italian smuggler, and pretending to be in the market for stolen securities.

The Long Beach writer went to New York and lived with Lafitte while researching the articles. Later Lafitte flew to Long Beach to complete the series, staying at a local hotel under an assumed name.

Phelan says the undercover

LEAVE YOUR

WHY I SAY NO MONEY DOWN

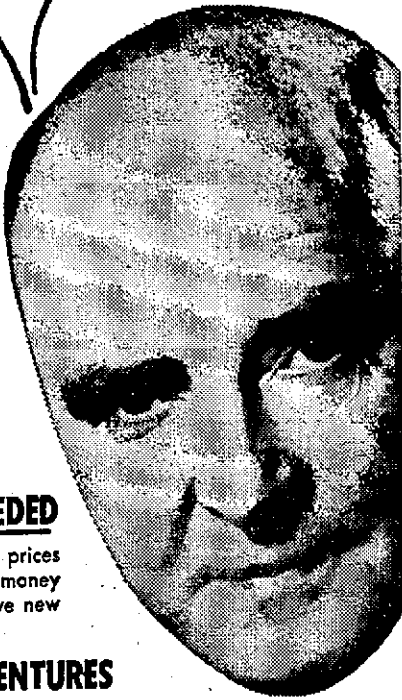

"I don't have to worry about paying my expenses as a dentist if I am interested first in giving service," Dr. Campbell said. "I have found through trial and error that every one of my offices must give a lot of credit to be prosperous. In the past, when one of my offices curtailed credit, this office became less prosperous. People are glad to pay for good service when you are thinking of them before the money. My records prove that insisting on immediate cash, even in small amounts, hurts my dental practice. No money down helps my dental practice."

WHY 2 YEARS TO PAY, WHEN NEEDED

Although most people find it easy to pay my low prices in the customary 15 months, I want to remove the money barrier even more. Make up your mind now to have new dentures when you first need them.

Keep Athletics in 'Proper Sphere'—PCC

The Pacific Coast Conference Athletic Association's committee on infractions wound up a two-day behind-closed doors meeting at Washington, D.C., next month in which the status of Washington, UCLA, and perhaps other schools, was discussed.

The group, headed by Dr. A. D. Kirwan of the University of Kentucky, made no disclosure of anything said in the meeting or any decision reached. Walter Byers of Kansas City, executive director of the NCAA, said none of the committee members would be made until a meeting of the NCAA Executive Council at Denver, Colo., next month.

Among those who appeared before the committee here were Don Wollett, faculty representative for athletics at Washington, and Athletic Director Wilbur Johns of UCLA.

Committee members would not reveal if any other schools were discussed at the meeting. Questions which Wollett con-

The report issued by Conference Commissioner Victor O. Schmidt said the PCC imposed the severe penalties "with a conviction that intercollegiate athletics is an invaluable and integral ingredient of higher education that must be preserved, and with a parallel recognition that the athletic program must remain within its proper sphere as an incidental rather than the dominant activity within our colleges and universities."

The PCC statement continued: "The scope and caliber of conference competition in football and many other sports clearly defines the broad interest of the conference in intercollegiate athletics. Its action in these four cases also establishes its conviction to keep the athletic program in its proper sphere."

THE PCC disclosed it agreed on July 17 to remove "the confidential nature of the votes in the actions concerning these cases" because of the wide interest in the actions "and the desire that all actions be clearly understood."

The votes varied from 6-3 to 9-0 and were identified in the report.

In describing the financial assistance, such as grants-in-aid for tuition and compulsory fees, employment and academic scholarships permissible under its code, the report said:

"The conference has, throughout its history, held to the philosophy that college students are in fact adults and as such should assume individual responsibility for their own conduct and livelihood."

THE REPORT outlined several procedures used to acquaint prospective student athletes with regulations concerning financial aid and stated that "the conference rules are well known today by most athletes in high school and junior colleges throughout the West."

The PCC said alumni and boosters have "an over-riding moral responsibility to conduct their affairs with student athletes and with prospective student athletes in a manner which will not affect their character or jeopardize their athletic eligibility."

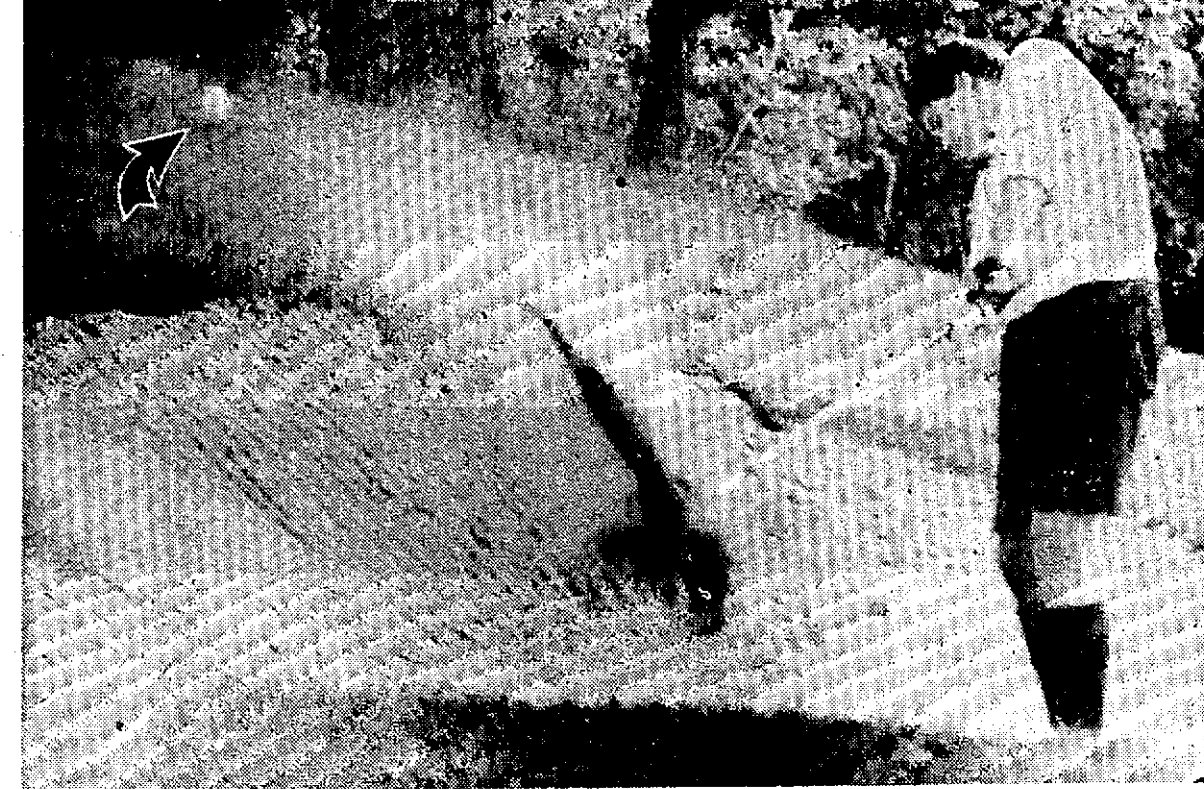

A special conference meeting is scheduled Aug. 6-7 in Portland to complete review of cases.

Dodgers Win 7th Straight

BROOKLYN (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers rolled to their seventh straight victory Saturday as Sal Maglie pitched a strong seven-hitter and Sandy Amoros and Duke Snider provided the home run punch for a 6-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

The win, which gave Brooklyn its longest winning streak of the season, was the defending champions 11th victory in their last 14 games.

Maglie, boosting his record to 4-3, was the fifth straight Dodger starter to go the distance. The veteran righthander struck out a season high of eight batters and issued only one walk.

Amoros, Snider and Gil Hodges drove in all the Brooklyn runs.

Hodges accounted for the first pair in the opening inning off Jim Hughes, the loser, who was making his first major league start. Junior Gilliam opened with a walk and Peeewe Reese beat out an infield hit. The two runners executed a double steal and Hodges scored both of them with a single to left.

Amoros knocked in a pair in the fourth with his seventh home run over the rightfield scoreboard after Randy Jackson walked. Snider drove in two more in the seventh with his 25th home run into the center-field seats following an infield hit by Reese.

Ernie Banks drove in two of the three Chicago runs with his 23rd home run in the fourth inning and a single in the fifth following a triple by Solly Drake.

In This

with DICK ZEHRM

(While Dick Zehrm takes a vacation, guest columnists on occasion are filling This Corner.)

By SID GILLMAN
Head Coach, Los Angeles Rams

Would you think it paradoxical if we said the Los Angeles Rams are apt to be 25 per cent stronger this year than last, yet might not win the Western Conference title as they did in 1955?

Before you send for the man with the white coat, listen to our story and see if it doesn't make more than a little sense.

Improvement in the National Football League has proved to have only RELATIVE importance. It's not so much a matter of whether a particular club—Rams included—improves from one season to other, but rather HOW MUCH it improves as compared to the other teams in the league. One need only have watched the Baltimore Colts over the past couple of years to note real progress being made. From a 3-9 record in 1953, they advanced to a 5-6-1 mark in 1955 and were a contender for the title until the last three games of the season.

This season with the addition of such key players as Billy Vessels, they promise to be in the thick of the championship race all the way.

Obviously, then, the Rams must improve to stay even with the pack; they must improve substantially to keep ahead of the Joneses.

Now that we've established that the Rams must get better and that they will be better, where can we look for the improvement?

Perhaps the most important is the fact that I now have a valuable year of experience behind me.

Then one must consider this factor on the plus side of the L.A. ledger. The Rams were able to win the Western Conference title last year despite an unprecedented series of injuries which prevented us from presenting our best team on the field in any one of the 12 league games.

Such stars as Tank Younger, Skeet Quinlan, Dan Towler, Bob Boyd, Don Paul and Charley Toogood were all out of the lineup for a month or more and Elroy Hirsch was sidelined for three critical games at season's end. It is doubtful that the squad will undergo such paralyzing injuries again this fall which should improve the offensive potential tremendously since most of the injured players were on the attacking team.

NEXT, WE THINK the 1956 crop of rookies is "twice as good as last year's" which will mean the addition of valuable depth and the necessary ingredient of youth which is present in virtually every championship team. At least four ends—Ron Miller and Leon Clarke of St. Willie Roberts of Tulsa and the Canadian League and Pepperdine's Jack Bighead who was picked up on waivers last season from Baltimore—have looked great thus far in camp and promise to give veterans Tom Fears, Elroy Hirsch, Bob Boyd and Bob Carey a run for the end spots on the final 33 man squad.

Backfield help, too, is prevalent. Joe Marconi, No. 1 draft choice last year, ran well before departing for the College All-Star camp. Tommy Rannels is a clever setback from North Texas State and Ed Kelley from Texas and Jesse Whitton, Texas Western, look like good bets to crack the Ram defensive backfield.

There is more help at quarterback, too, in 1956. After finishing 1-2 among NFL passers for five years, Norm Van Brocklin had an "off year" in 1955, slipping to sixth. We consider this a sub-par performance for Van, and expect him to bounce back for another great year. Bill Wade is a dependable performer and a fine passer and the addition of Rudy Bukich gives us the strongest group of quarterbacks in the league.

FINALLY, THERE'S Les Richter who showed signs last year of becoming one of the league's most dependable field goal kickers. Certainly, he's a clutch booter, winning one game for the Rams in the last second and another in the last seven. Currently he's working on a string of seven consecutive three-pointers. With a Lou Groza, George Blanda or Richter on the squad, a team can anticipate at least one game during the season which will be won by the margin of a field goal kicked at a critical point in the ball game. 60,000
May See
Shrine Tilt

A record crowd approaching 60,000 is expected to witness the fifth annual Shrine North-South All-Star high school football game in the Los Angeles Coliseum Wednesday night.

Last summer 47,006 watched the battle of the 1955 graduates. Game director Elmer Bromley discloses advance ticket sales are already around the 50,000 mark.

The contest, played for the benefit of the Los Angeles unit of the Shrine Crippled Children's Hospital aid starting at 9 p.m., will be preceded by a spectacular pageant at 7:30 p.m. Additional pageantry will follow at halftime.

THE NORTH, under coaches Milt Axt of San Francisco Poly and Erwin Ginsburg of Fresno, is aiming at its first victory in the series.

The team is deep in passing strength and has good speed in halfback Jim Honeywell of Daly City Jefferson, and Ola Murchison of Placer and Wayne Crow of Corcoran.

Tentative lineups list the North's backfield as Steve Bates, Orland, quarterback; Jerry Cooke of Sacramento's Christian Bros., and Dolph Camilli of Santa Rosa at halfback and Ted Cano, S. F. Poly, fullback.

THE SOUTH'S offensive backfield may start with Pete Guma, San Diego, quarterback; Willie West, San Diego, and Dan Wasnick, St. Anthony's, halfback, and Dick Foushee, Glendale Hoover, fullback.

The South is coached by Duane Maley, San Diego, and William Joseph Seminario of South Gate.

Bill Tomasic of St. Anthony's will start at defensive right end for the South under the prep two-plateau setup. Tomasic was All-City "lineman of the year" and Wasnick "back of the year" in Long Beach last season.

Rams Trade Robustelli to Giants for Draft Choice

The Los Angeles Rams traded Andy Robustelli, defensive end, to the New York Giants Saturday in exchange for a high draft choice next year. Robustelli will join the Giants in their training camp today.

MISTER GUS SETS MARK

Longden Boots In Five at Del Mar

DEL MAR (AP) — Anchor Watch, an outsider, led all the way to race to an easy victory in the $15,000 added Oceanic Handicap before 14,293 fans at Del Mar Saturday.

Owned by Agoura Stock Farms, Anchor Watch finished the six furlong sprint two lengths in front of Mr. and Mrs. B. Martin's Ferke. The L. C. Ranch's Bold Bazooka was third two lengths behind Ferke. L. B. Mayer's Palmer, the public's choice, was sixth in the 10-horse field.

Ridden by jockey Conn Errico, Anchor Watch covered the distance in 1:09 3/5 and paid $33.80, $12.20 and $7.40. Ferke returned $6.10 and $4.30 and Bold Bazooka paid $7.70.

Jockey Johnny Longden rode five winners and a second in the seven races in which he had mounts. He started off the day by bringing in Hot Spell in the first race and Exeno D'Arco in the second. His other winners were Kool Kid, Family Album, and Arrogate.

CHICAGO (AP) — Llangollen, Farm's Mister Gus, running third most of the way, burst ahead of pace setting Summer Tan at the 1/16th pole Saturday and forged under the wire with a one length triumph in the $154,850 Arlington Handicap in record time.

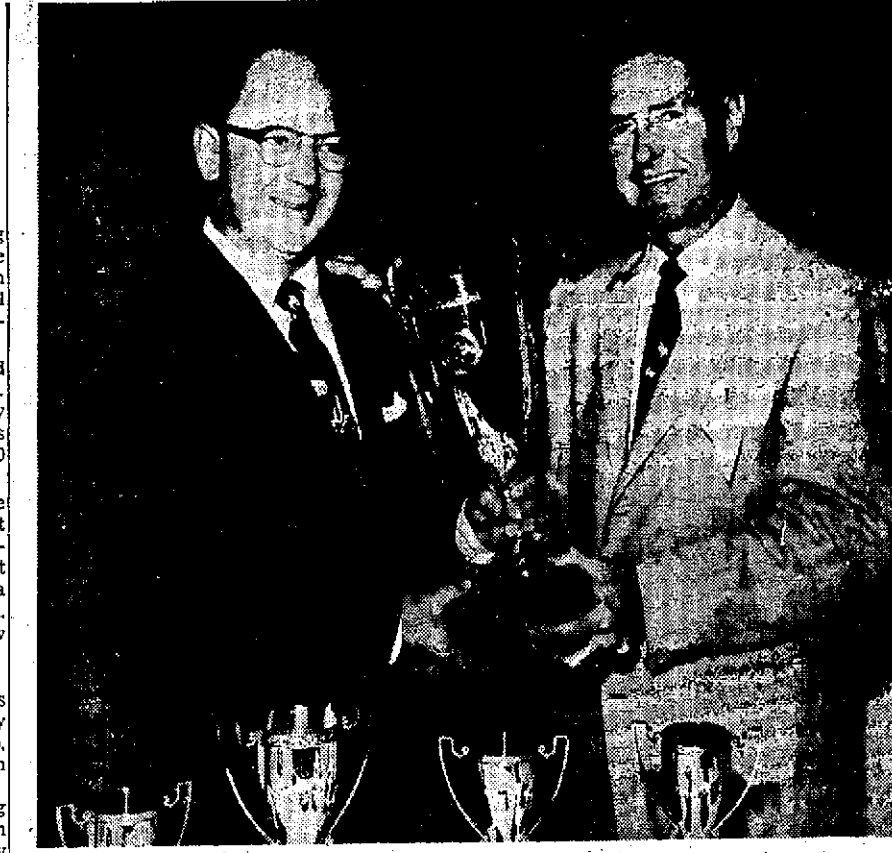

Jockey Ismael Valenzuela put the pressure on Mister Gus for a clocking of 1:54 1/5 for the mile and three-sixteenth test on the turf.

Mister Gus, coupled with Por-man in this spot, one or more games will be lost.

There are still a few question marks on the Rams which should be solved during the pre-season schedule, but overall L.A. will be a stronger, faster, heavier scoring outfit than its immediate predecessor.

Will the team be enough better to win the Western Conference title?
Ask us again in December!

KLU, ROCKY, Y. A. NOTE:

Golfer's 'Gs' Greatest Gravitational Gyration

ELGIN, Ill. (AP) — What athlete's wrists have to put up with the greatest strain?

Ted Kluszewski's, cracking a hard one over the fence? Rocky Marciano, lacing into a heavy bag? Y. A. Tittle, passing 50 yards to a fleeing receiver?

Not so, a series of tests made here disclosed Saturday.

Instead, it is the wrist of any good golfer when he is whacking that little white ball.

The tests, made by a watch company, showed that approximately 40 G's are exerted on a golfer's wrist when the club head strikes the ball. A "G" in non-technical terms, is the equivalent of the force exerted by gravity on any object.

The 40 G's on a golfer's wrist are more than triple those exerted on a batter's wrist when he swings at a baseball.

The secret of why a golfer can stand up under so much pressure, of course, is that the G force lasts for less than four-thousandths of a second.

Loes Halts Indians in Ninth

CLEVELAND (AP) — With the bases loaded and one out in the last of the ninth inning, Billy Loes struck out two batters to save an 8-6 victory for the Baltimore Orioles over the Cleveland Indians Saturday.

It was the Orioles' first victory in Cleveland Stadium this year and only their third in 15 games with the Tribe.

Tito Francona's three-run homer was the big blow in a six-run Baltimore rally in the fifth inning that drove starter and loser Mike Garcia to the showers. Baltimore pushed across single runs in the eighth and ninth off Art Houtman and Don Mossi for the margin of victory.

Held scoreless on two hits by Connie Johnson until the seventh inning, the Indians scored four in the eighth off Johnson, Skinny Brown and Loes.

In the ninth, the Indians loaded the bases with one out off Loes, but he struck out Rocky Colavito and Earl Averill and then the game.

The Rams were willing to part with Robustelli only because the 6 foot, 1 inch, 230-pound pass rushing end was becoming increasingly reluctant to leave his Stamford, Conn., home to play on the West Coast.

ROBUSTELLI, now in his sixth season, is one of the many small college graduates to make good in the National Football League. He played at Arnold College before coming to the Rams and has been a starter in the Pro Bowl game four times.

Robustelli marks the fifth player the Giants have obtained from the Rams in trade for draft choices since Jim Lee Howell became head coach in 1954. The others were Herb Rich, Stan West, Harland Sware and Ben Agajanian of Long Beach. All but Agajanian, a kicking specialist, have been starters.

Howell seems to feel that a proven player is worth more to the Giants than draft rights to a college star the following season. "Too many things can happen in the case of the college All-American," Howell remarked Saturday. "He may decide not to play pro football, or he may go into service, or he may prove not big enough or good enough for the pro game."

The Giants also were waiting for Cliff Livingston, who calls Long Beach his home during the off-season, to report today to camp headquarters in Burlington, Va.

THE WASHINGTON Redskins go into their second week of workouts today and Coach Joe Kuharich is very pleased with more than two score promising rookies in the Occidental training camp.

Last year the 'Skins chalked up their best NFL record (8-4) since 1945 and Kuharich hopes that can be improved on this season.

Robinson's Homer
Sparks
Redleg Rally

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Rookie Frank Robinson sparked a five-run ninth-inning rally with a three-run homer Saturday to pace the Cincinnati Redlegs to an 8-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Righthander Johnny Klippstein scattered eight hits in going the distance to register his ninth victory against seven losses.

The Redlegs batted around in the ninth inning. Johnny Temple opened with a single and advanced to third on Wally Post's double. Then Elroy Face, the third of five Pirate pitchers, served up a home run ball to Robinson, the leftfielder's 24th of the season. Ted Kluszewski, Smokey Burgess, Ray Jablonski and Roy McMillan collected singles for two more runs.

THE PIRATES took a 2-0 lead in the first inning when Bob Skinner singled and scored ahead of Dale Long, who stroked his 22nd homer. It was Long's third home run in the last three games.

Cincinnati tied the score in the fourth inning when Kluszewski singled, Jablonski doubled to left, and both came home on McMillan's two-out single.

The Redlegs went ahead in the sixth inning when Gus Bell doubled with two out and scored on McMillan's single.

The Pirates tied the score in the seventh when Roberto Clemente cracked his seventh homer of the year.

Two thousand three hundred and ninety-two players down and around 500 more to go and we've accounted for every player participating in baseball in this area.

So far we've accounted for 150 teams compiled from the Long Beach Kid Association and Little Leagues alone, leaving only the Catholic Boys' League and the Pony League.

The Catholic Boys' League is composed of 10 "A" teams, 10 "B" teams and six "C" squads. There are 16 boys on each A team, 18 on every B and C club.

Age limit for the Catholic boys is 9-13. However, there is one eccentric thing about the Catholic circuit. Every boy is judged on ability, with the best players making up the A team, and so on.

The nationally known Pony League, which has begun its playoffs, has eight teams in this area with 16 boys to a squad. Age limit is 13-14. The Pony League is organized in Williamsport, Pa., and the finals are held there every year.

THE TOTALS are amazing: 184 teams and 2,968 boys enjoying the national pastime in this area alone.

When one has accounted for that much manpower and that many teams it is a must to look behind the scenes and see how all these teams came about.

All the teams are furnished with the necessary equipment and a diamond to play on. It takes hundreds of men to coach these teams and almost as many to handle the scheduling, rules, jamborees, all-star games and other administrative matters.

It is a credit to Long Beach to know that so many people give up their time to help the youth of our city.

ONLY TEAM to wind up the first round of Rotary League play with an unbeaten slate was the Legion Braves, undisputed winners of the American League with a 9-0 mark.

Nutritive and the Lakewood "Y" wrapped up their first round action in the National circuit with identical 8-1 records. A playoff will be held at the end of the season.

There are two rounds in Rotary League play with the winner of each round playing for the loop title at the close of the season. The league champs meet later to decide the national championship. Leading hitters after first round:

125 Stock Outboard Drivers Clash at Marine Stadium

Beginning at 12:30 p.m. more than 125 stock outboard drivers will have at it on Marine Stadium today in 18 heats racing to comprise the annual Southwest Regatta.

Under chairmanship of George Davis, the race meet will be conducted via dual sponsorship of two big stock clubs, the United and Valley speedboat associations.

Ronnie Loomis, Santa Barbara; Bob Parrish of Bakersfield; Russ Hill Jr. of Bellflower, all top drivers of the nation in the stock fleets, will be in the huge lists to compete.

The afternoon race meet launches 1956 "home stretch" action on the famed "lanky lagoon."

Racing outboarders are girding for their western divisionals Aug. 11 and 12, conducted for benefit of the Catholic Youth Association.

The 17-year-old Downey High senior from Bell Gardens, now representing Clock CC, can be proud of these major feats, all registered during the past month:

1. First place in Heart National qualifying.
2. First place in Pasadena City Junior.
3. First place tie in U. S. National qualifying.
4. Second place (by playoff loss) in Jaycee National qualifying.

The fruits of victory will be a cross-country golf junket during August to represent the Southernland in the national competitions. Boughner's itinerary: Williamston, Mass., Aug. 11-15; U. S. National; Fargo, N. D., Aug. 21-25; Jaycee National; Chicago, Aug. 27-30 — Heart National.

Although Boughner has been the pace-setter, four other Long Beach area juniors have also been in the spotlight.

The big and very pleasant surprise of the season has been Dennis (the dog-headed menace) Murphy, the tow-headed Huntington Beach 16-year-old. It was Murphy who upset Boughner's golf-cart with the Jaycee finals victory in the State Jaycee finals last week with a roaring 65.

One of Murphy's most ardent boosters is Huntington Beach pro Bob Marshall.

"He's got a sound, compact golf swing and is a top-notch putter. Give him another year of experience and add about 25 yards to his drives, and he'll be hard to beat next summer."

Pinky Stevenson of Recreation Park and Gerald Zar of Palos Verdes CC—the champion and runner-up, respectively in the 1955 Long Beach City Junior—both earned trips to the U. S. National with top performances at Bel Air CC last week.

Zar's even par 71 on the rugged layout tied Boughner for first place. Pinky took second with a 72.

It will be Stevenson's third try in the National. He was a quarter-finalist in 1954 at Los Angeles and was ousted in the first round at Purdue Univ. last year.

The final member of this illustrious quintet is Dick Martinez of Laguna Beach CC who picked off a big plum with victory in the Southern California Junior Championship.

There have been several other area youths who have played well and deserve bows—Bob Irwin and Bob Meade of Virginia CC, Bill Dickinson and Vern Burnett of Willow Park, Bill Selman of Recreation Park and John Nichols of Montebello.

The moral of this story is to raise your son to be a golfer. There's fun, excitement, good sportsmanship and like joining the Navy, an excellent opportunity to travel.

(P.S. The Palos Verdes Junior Invitational will be held Monday. The Long Beach City Junior is scheduled for Aug. 29-Sept. 1.)

ENTRY DEADLINE for the 56th annual National Amateur Championship is August 10. Applications may be obtained by calling the Southern California Golf Assn. office, DuPont 2-6361. The tournament will be held at Knollwood Club, Lake Forest, Ill., Sept. 10-15.

QUOTE OF THE WEEK: From Recreation Park Men's Club president Bill Connor comes this witticism:
"If you can remain calm and collected after four-putting, you

Snowbirds Sail Today at Newport

By BOB RUSKAUFF

Kayed this afternoon by that 21st annual sailing race for young America (also old, and also single or married, for that matter) — the Flight of the Snowbirds on Newport Bay — some of the greatest yachting action witnessed yet in this record year, lies ahead.

Some 150 skippers from preteen age into the 70s will take the tillers of the 12-foot Snowbirds at 1:30 p.m. and set sail in the five-mile bay race. Posted is a huge array of trophies presented by the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce and various yacht clubs.

The 1956 champ and defender today is Lanny Coon. The ace small-boat sailor last year defeated 135 rivals for the crown. The Snowbird flight will actually start a week-long reign as yachting capital for the Newport-Balboa area, in the Southland.

Friday through Sunday boats of every kind and description will battle in the 33rd annual Southern California Championship regatta, which this year is under aerie auspices of the Balboa Yacht Club.

In mid-August, the burgeoning Alamitos Bay YC will be host to the 1956 national championships, for the sporty 15-foot Snipe class sloops.

Deer Hunting Best on Private Land

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Deer hunters on private land will have the best prospects during the Aug. 4-Sept. 16 deer season in the coastal areas, the State Fish and Game Department predicted Saturday.

"The animals are in good condition, the weather report, and numbers generally are plentiful in the closed areas . . . in the national forests, open for public hunting, deer are likely to be fewer," a department report read.

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

This is the time of year when the going gets rough for the outdoors-man, provided he is both a fisherman and a hunter. He doesn't know whether to grab the deep-sea rod and reel and try for albacore or the rifle and pursue the fleet-footed deer.

Next Saturday marks the opening of the coastal deer season. It will continue through Sept. 15 and it embraces all of the coastal counties except San Diego, Del Norte and a part of Humboldt.

The Sierra season overlaps by two days the coastal area. It begins Sept. 15 and runs through Oct. 28. San Diego, Imperial, Riverside, San Bernardino Counties and a part of Kern are listed among the areas in the Sept. 15-Oct. 28 season.

Inyo and Mono Counties have a shorter season — Sept. 22 to Oct. 28 — with one small area excepted. That exception is a part of the Sierra season.

Generally, two bucks are allowed in all of the coastal zone and in selected inland areas. Otherwise, the one-buck rule prevails. There also are certain areas set aside where one buck may be killed, plus one antlerless deer in the final three days of the season.

The Department of Fish and Game booklet, HUNTING REGULATIONS, is available at all licensed dealers and hunters would be foolish not to study it before heading for the woods.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA'S trout fishermen may be hard-hit by the quarantine of the Mojave River hatchery. No more plantings will be made from that hatchery until two fish go under the microscope at DF&G headquarters in Sacramento.

The quarantine was announced late last week when the two fish developed symptoms of red-mouth disease, an ailment that has afflicted many trout at commercial hatcheries in the Southland.

If red-mouth is present, operations at Mojave River will remain suspended until the DF&G decides what course to pursue. More than two-thirds of the plantings in Southern California are made from the million-plus fish at Mojave. Others are taken from the Fillmore hatchery. An investigation also is being made at Fillmore.

The DF&G has decided to truck in trout from Inyo-Mono hatcheries to keep up a partial planting of Southern California streams, in case it is determined that red-mouth has hit the southern hatcheries.

Red-mouth disease, caused by soil and water bacteria, apparently started from trout imported to this state from com-

Rockets Open 2nd Round League Play

Champions of the first round, the Long Beach Rockets begin the second session of the semi-pro baseball Summer League this afternoon against Mary Star of the Sea at Recreation Park. Game time is 2:15.

The Rockets ran their winning streak to nine straight as they breezed through the first round with a 4-0 mark. Their season record stands at 15-5, including a previous 8-3 league win over Mary Star.

Pete Cassidy, who pitched the Rockets to their last win, an 8-6 nod over the L. B. All-Stars, will be on the mound today. Don Mello is available for relief.

Bob Carter, slugging right-fielder, continues to lead the Rockets in hitting with a .451 average. Second baseman Chuck Winslow, whose two homers against the L.B. Stars furnished the margin of victory, is next at .392.

Nixon's Foes Could Learn Good Taste, Poise From Him

VICE PRESIDENT NIXON has been slashed at viciously by political enemies, including Republican as well as Democratic hatchet-men, but he rarely loses his good taste or poise.

Few men in public life are able to withstand so much personal abuse without lashing out in kind. The very people who defame him could profit by his example.

When he got back from a South American mission last February, Mr. Nixon was met at the airport by newsmen bearing tales of vicious remarks made by Harry Truman. Mr. Nixon replied: "I have no comment on anything Truman said."

In September of last year Victor Arnautoff, Russian-born member of the Stanford University art faculty, submitted for display at the San Francisco Art Festival, a caricature depicting Mr. Nixon wearing a mask and carrying a pumpkin, a brush, and bucket label "smear." It was one of the most unfair pieces of political propaganda ever leveled at a public official. The president of the San Francisco Art Commission realized this and ordered the caricature removed.

However, Mr. Nixon sent the Art Commission a telegram defending the right of individuals to criticize public officials. He concluded: "Mr. Arnautoff has the right to express a contrary opinion. The people should not be denied the full opportunity to hear or see his expression of that opinion."

MR. NIXON does fight it out with the Democratic opposition on the issues. This is part of his training as a successful college debater, lawyer, and politician. Running for and holding public office obviously entails a discussion of the problems of the day. Mr. Nixon has always managed to present his case forcefully. And that is exactly why he has incurred such bitterness. He is so good at winning debates that the opposition gets angry and personal and even demand that his party repudiate him. His answer is to turn the other cheek.

Meanwhile, in his own party Nixon has been the target of an equally angry campaign by politicians trying to get the President to throw him over as a political liability. The latest such attempt was, of course, Harold Stassen's endorsement of Gov. Herter as a more attractive candidate. Mr. Nixon commented:

"As I have stated on several occasions, I shall be happy to abide by any decision the President and the delegates to the national convention make with regard to the vice presidential nominee.

"Gov. Herter has been a personal friend of mine for almost 10 years. He is one of the ablest public officials it has been my privilege to know.

"In the event the convention decides that he is the man who could contribute the most to the re-election of President Eisenhower and the continued success of the Eisenhower administration, I shall be glad to give his candidacy my full support."

Yet Nixon is the man whose political enemies call him immature and unfair.

84th Congress Reflects Fight Between Private Enterprise and Socialism

WASHINGTON—This was not a "do nothing" Congress. Nor was it a Congress that did a little about everything. It was a Congress in which what failed to be passed was as important an indicator of the real battle going on in America as the measures that did become law.

The real story centers on the four-way split in the political parties of today. It reflects a big tug-of-war between state socialism and the private-enterprise system.

The pressure in the present Congress toward government ownership, government control, government subsidy and big-government domination of everything has been revealed as unremitting. Congress will be in adjournment only about five months, and the warfare will then be resumed.

MEANWHILE, ALL THE DEFEATS and all the victories are temporary. The advocates of public power who really want to wipe out private utilities in America by extending the TVA scheme to other regions of the country were halted but not beaten. They were balked in their effort to see atomic power for plant use put completely into government hands. They lost out on a public-power project known as Hell's Canyon on the Snake River in Idaho, but they found administration support for construction of public dams on the Upper Colorado River.

The administration's position is that government should do what private capital cannot and will not undertake. A Republican bloc considers this an opening wedge for socialism. Another bloc—mostly Democrats—is anxious to push government ownership on every side. They will not be happy till all food stores, all department stores, all retail stores, all steel plants, all factories are owned by the government. A minority bloc of Democrats is opposed. Most of the Democrats, however, are making the same steady drive toward nationalization of industries as the Socialist party has espoused in Britain, and which now is being repelled by the Conservatives in Parliament.

There are other major issues, of course, on which the division in the parties in Congress is not just between non-radical and radical but, for example, between those who differed on foreign aid. In the vote on the $4,100,000,000 appropriation bill in the Senate this week, 30 Democrats voted for it and 15 against it, while 30 Republicans voted for it and 15 against it. If it hadn't been for President Eisenhower's pressure on the Republicans who held the line for him, the measure would surely have been cut further. This was an acid test.

SO IT ISN'T ACCURATE to blame these divisions on an alleged lack of "leadership" by the President. These are the familiar criticisms leveled at him in the propaganda of the Democratic National Committee and its allies. The truth is a bloc in the Democratic party has held the balance of power on many measures. Likewise, a bloc in the Democratic party has kept up a drumfire of criticism at Secretary Dulles as well as at the President. This partisan sabotage has been unduly publicized abroad and has encouraged there a defiance of some of the American government's policies.

A careful examination of the steady stream of speeches—some of them prepared at Democratic campaign headquarters—shows that the Democrats as a party have not made good on their pledge to the people to co-operate with the President on foreign policy, though a few like Sen. George, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, did go along with the executive.

So, looking back on the record of the Congress, the only satisfaction that can be derived is that it wasn't worse and that the non-radical forces did hold the radicals at bay on some important measures.

JOHN S. KNIGHT

Stassen Curious Mixture of Ambitious Politician and Progressive Crusader

WHO'S WHO in America contains a generous biography of Harold E. Stassen and the man certainly deserves every line of it even if the material is self-supplied. He was the youngest governor in Minnesota's history; served on Adm. Halsey's staff in World War II; became president of the University of Pennsylvania at 41 and has held more important government jobs under Eisenhower than I care to count.

Gov. Stassen (they always like to be called governor) has also had quite a fling on the national political front. In 1940 he was Wendell Willkie's floor manager at Philadelphia. By 1948 he was an active candidate for President.

As a minor contender in 1952, his timing was perfect. The always ambitious Stassen jumped aboard the Ike bandwagon just ahead of Pennsylvania's Gov. John S. Fine and his rewards from the White House have since been substantial.

THERE IS NOTHING in the foregoing record which helps explain why Stassen tried to dump Vice President Nixon in favor of Massachusetts' Gov. Christian Herter. Nothing, that is, unless you know Stassen well.

For he is a curious admixture of the ambitious, self-seeking politician and the progressive crusader: the realist versus the idealist.

Stassen gave Minnesota a fine, forward-looking administration, particularly in his first term. As one of the Republican "young Turks" in 1940, he was magnificent in leading the Willkie forces to victory.

Even after Willkie's defeat in the election, he was considered one of the hottest future presidential prospects in sight.

THEN CAME his war service followed by a well staged but unsuccessful bid for the nomination in 1948.

When offered the presidency of the University of Pennsylvania in the same year, Stassen accepted and held that post until he resigned to become Eisenhower's Mutual Security Administrator.

In his various government roles, Stassen has frequently collided head-on with powerful influences in both parties. The Democrats don't take him too seriously and he has managed to make himself quite unpopular with all but a small segment of the Republican party.

The President, however, has been his staunch supporter which compounds the mystery as to why Stassen selected the eve of the highly successful Panama conference to drop his anti-Nixon bombshell.

Whatever his motivation may have been, the political facts of life indicate that Harold Stassen is currently a dead duck in his own party.

THERE ARE SEVERAL versions as to why Stassen acted as he did.

My own opinion, for whatever it may be worth, is that Stassen was the spokesman for a small group of influential inner circle Republicans who are vigorously opposed to Nixon but haven't the courage to speak up on their own.

Stupid and poorly timed as his action may have been, Stassen at least was willing to be counted which is more than can be said for the rest of Nixon's enemies within the Republican party.

I don't happen to share Stassen's misgivings about the Vice President against whom so much capacious criticism has been directed.

But neither do I question the sincerity of Stassen's belief that Nixon would be detrimental to the ticket. He is

DREW PEARSON

Rep. Rooney Champions Jazz Band Propaganda

WASHINGTON.—Thanks to Congressman John Rooney of Brooklyn who once played the trumpet in a dance orchestra, the State Department can continue shuffling jazz bands off to the Near East and Asia to win cold-war converts for America.

Many people may not know it, but these jazz bands have been terrific builders to good will. Among those who either didn't know it or didn't appreciate it has been Sen. Allen Ellender of Louisiana. He prefers hillbilly music, or, to use more sedate language, "chorus" music, and he tried to write this into the Senate Appropriations Bill.

In fact, Ellender was able to tuck a provision into the appropriations bill barring the use of any funds for "jazz bands, ballet, and dance groups and similar activities."

This would have sabotaged some of the State Department's most effective goodwill programs, including "Porgy and Bess," the Negro musical comedy that made such a hit in Russia, Yugoslavia, and Belgrade and belied the reported mistreatment of Negroes in the U.S.A.

IT ALSO would have barred Martha Graham's dance troupe, which has been a big success all over the Near and Middle East; also Dizzy Gillespie, the Negro bandmaster who has won a host of friends for the U.S.A. in foreign countries.

Ellender did not say so, but it was suspected by colleagues that his opposition was based certainly entitled to hold this view even though many of his conclusions seem to me to be unsupportable.

Still, Mr. Stassen's move must be rated as a major political blunder.

On the one hand, he says that Nixon is a liability and should give way to Gov. Herter. On the other, he provides the opposition with telling arguments that can be used to help defeat his idol, President Eisenhower.

For a politician of Stassen's experience, this is incredibly naive but not untypical. The inner conflict between the idealist and the realist still rages within Stassen's breast.

ONE OF IKE'S great attributes in World War II was his respect, admiration and even affection for field commanders who had served him well.

Ike didn't throw Gen. George Patton to the journalistic wolves who were clamoring for his hide.

Nor did he fall Gen. Omar Bradley when the British commander, Lord Montgomery, ridiculed Bradley's battle plans.

Is Nixon, Ike's civilian deputy and good right arm, deserving of anything less?

Great GOP Conclave Coming, Few Golden Staters to See It

NEXT MONTH hundreds of thousands of Californians will be physically closer to a national political convention than ever before in their lives. But if that fact has aroused any widespread hope of seeing the GOP affair at San Francisco in person, August is going to be a mighty disappointing month in the Golden State.

There are about 2,777,000 Republicans in California, and it's a good bet that a substantial percentage of these folks, along with a lot of Democrats and independents, harbor a yen to see the show which opens in the Cow Palace Aug. 20.

But—California has been allocated exactly 399 tickets for each session of the convention. Obviously, there won't be many spares around.

These tickets have been allotted to certain officials and Republican groups, so the chance of just any unattached would-be spectator walking up and gaining admission is virtually nil.

The Cow Palace seats about 15,000, and those seats must take care of all the delegates, alternates, convention officials, and the huge press, radio and television sections before accommodations are available to just plain spectators. Hence the limited allocation to California and to all of the other states. This must be especially discouraging to people in the Bay Region, who will have a great national show in the home bailiwick but won't be able to go.

TICKET ALLOCATIONS in California were announced last week. Vice President Nixon will get 20 for each session, Gov. Knight will get 20, Sen. Knowland will get 20, Sen. Kuchel will get 12. Those are the big ones.

Each Republican Congressman will get just two tickets for each session, Republican legislators will get one, constitutional officers one. The State Central Committee will get just eight for its entire membership, and the 58 county central committees will have to divide up 100. There will be a few others to total up to 399.

EPLEY

Would-be spectators who are still hopeful despite all that can get on waiting-lists after the convention opens, and unused tickets from the allotments, if there are any, may be doled out on a first-come basis to persons on such lists. Persons who are in San Francisco at the time may be able to obtain tickets which will admit them to a building adjoining the Cow Palace where proceedings can be watched on a closed-circuit TV, and the people in this building may even be moved into the Cow Palace for a short period.

Finally, if there are any Long Beach people who want to see the convention, and despair of getting any of the very few tickets allocated to our local officials (they hardly have enough for themselves), a request may be sent to A. Ronald Button, Republican National Committeeman, 914 So. Olive St., Los Angeles. What Mr. Button might do is a question, but it wouldn't hurt to try.

THERE'S GOOD NEWS, however, for those who can't go in person to the convention. It and the Democratic National Convention at Chicago, starting Aug. 13, will be given the biggest splash of press, radio and TV coverage in the nation's history. The press corps will be bigger than the total of official delegates.

This newspaper, for example, will have highly comprehensive coverage through the Ridder newspapers staff at conventions, the press services, special dispatches, pictures and so on. This writer expects to be at both conventions to watch for sidelights of special interest to Long Beach people.

Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell and Robert Rife, Rep. Craig Hosmer's field secretary, last week attended a closed-circuit TV broadcast in Los Angeles at which CBS outlined its prodigious plans for convention coverage via radio and TV. They came back much impressed. That's just one network; all will be in there in a big way.

There seems no reason to fear that anyone will miss anything even though he has little hope of seeing the convention in operation with unclouded eyes. He might get a better picture if he's not there.

M. G. Letter on Catholics Deplored

TO THE EDITOR:

It amazes me the way some people love to display their ignorance on certain topics. Witness the letter of M. G. in the July 15 issue.

Doesn't M. G. know that the priests or laymen do not owe first allegiance to the Pope in political matters but to their own country?

To priests and laymen the Pope is first authority only in matters of faith and morals.

Says Demos Want Dick as Opponent

TO THE EDITOR:

There comes a time when the powers that would influence the minds of the voting public travel slightly off the beam in evaluating political motives. Take the controversial case of Richard Nixon, for instance. Hardly a week goes by but what the Republican columnists remind their readers that the Democrats are mortally afraid of Dick and are doing everything within their limited power to keep him off the Republican ticket. Such nonsense!

It is the sincere wish and fervent prayer of every Democrat worth his salt that Mr. Eisenhower will be physically able to accept the nomination and that Richard will be his running mate. These two gentlemen by their own repetition admission are the leaders of the great crusade. To beat them will be a repudiation of all the iconoclastic contempt their team has shown for constitutional government. Victory over any other last minute candidate the national committee might dig out of the hat would be a win by default.

Wants Pools at City College

TO THE EDITOR:

Every time another wall starts to be added to the City College auditorium under construction, some of us in this neighborhood wonder if there is nothing in the contract to tell the workers when to stop, so they continue building skyward. The structure is indeed a monster, and the money poured into one of these walls could possibly have been used to help provide the swimming pools which the City College needs.

This school is one of if not the largest Junior College in the nation, yet the plans for its pools are still in the future. There has been a lot of the taxpayers' money used by the College during the past years and surely these taxpayers deserve a swimming pool or two to use at a reasonable charge at the earliest possible date. The students would be immensely pleased as well.

Bloody 'Corpse' in Car Trunk Believed Youths' Gag

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP)—Two Monterey housewives who reported to police they had seen an automobile with a "woman's bloody arm" hanging out of the car trunk, apparently were right.

But the woman was alive, police learned Saturday, and the whole thing was a gruesome juvenile hoax.

Police Chief Charles E. Simpson said Robert E. Nidey, a soldier at Fort Ord, and Richard Edwards of Monterey, told him they saw a car with an arm protruding from the trunk. They stopped the car, driven by a high school boy, and began questioning him. He admitted, they said, that the whole thing was a "gag."

Just then, they reported, a young girl, one arm smeared with a red substance, crawled out of the trunk.

Chief Simpson said Nidey and Edwards failed to get the names of the two youngsters or the license number of the car.

On the basis of the report of the two housewives, police here had issued a teletype bulletin to Peninsula police departments and had started stopping cars and questioning their drivers.

EXCLUSIVE TILT TUB, bigger than any leading combination, is first to take full advantage of modern detergents. Gives you all-new "Deep Well" laundering. USES LESS WATER, LESS SOAP THAN OTHER WASHERS! And yet Easy never re-uses dirty, sudsy water! Automatic Water Saver lets each load "choose" amount of water it needs.

EXCLUSIVE DEEP-SPINAWAY RINSING gets out more soap and soil than ordinary rinsing actions.

DRIES CLOTHES FASTEST with twice the air circulation of ordinary dryers (plus exclusive "Safety pre-heat" that begins while clothes are still wet and spinning).

NO LINT! NO STEAM! NO VENTING! You never have to clean out a lint-trap... all lint is screened off clothes and removed automatically.

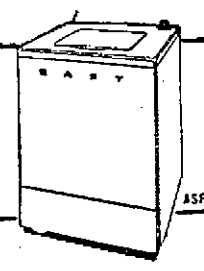

EXCLUSIVE TUMBLE-LATOR WASHING ACTION gets clothes cleaner and brighter. Clothes "high-dive" into a Deep Well of foaming suds, and each piece gets individually washed.

Dr. Francis E. Townsend, whose Townsend old-age pension plan first was announced in Long Beach 23 years ago, will speak at Linden Hall, 208 Linden Ave., following a Townsend club pot luck luncheon Tuesday noon.

Under the Townsend Plan, a 2 per cent gross income tax would be levied on all businesses and on individuals. However, the first $250 a month of individual income would be exempt from taxation.

Proceeds from the tax would pay pensions to about 18 million unemployed persons over 60.

"I THINK CONGRESS will adopt a national insurance program, the thing we've been fighting for, within the next two or three years," asserts Dr. Townsend, who celebrated his 89th birthday in Long Beach last January.

"National insurance has to come. 'The people in Washington have become aware something must be done to alleviate poverty. Social security doesn't go far enough. 'The Townsend plan could be adapted to existing Social Security machinery, but we believe it would be better to wipe out the old and start new."

Douglas Union Pushes Share-Rides

An intensified share-the-ride program coupled with a campaign to get Douglas Aircraft Co. employees here to ride buses to and from work will be opened Monday by Local 148, UAW, AFL-CIO.

Two buses of Long Beach Motor Bus Co. will be parked within the Long Beach plant grounds Monday and Tuesday to publicize the expanded service now offered. Five additional trips a day recently were added.

Officials of the bus company will distribute schedules as well as information showing how buses are more convenient than cars inasmuch as they deliver workers right to the tunnel entrances.

SPOKESMEN FOR the union also pointed out that an additional bus has been added by the private company which runs service between the local plant and Whittier.

Twin goals of the campaigns are to eliminate the problem of inadequate parking space at the plant and to cut down on smog. As part of the intensified share-the-ride program, workers are being asked to fill out a small application form, carried in the union publication, Air Scoop, and turn it in to their union steward.

THE FORM GIVES the worker a choice of indicating he will share his car or else that he is seeking a ride. It carries his name, address, department number, time of starting and ending shifts, and the major intersection near his home.

Concert Lists Teutonic Tunes

Musical favorites from Austria and Germany will be featured at the third weekly Patio Pop Concert at Burnett Branch Library, 560 East Hill St., Thursday at dusk. The public is invited.

Films scheduled are "Austrian Folk Songs," "Unfinished Symphony," played by the Vienna Philharmonic orchestra under the direction of Josef Krips, and "Melodious Austria" portraying the composers of Austria and the scenes in which they lived, against a background of their music.

Johns to Serve Pageant Again

Al Johns has been signed to serve again next year as publicity director of the Miss Universe Beauty Pageant, producer Oscar Meinhardt announced Saturday.

Meinhardt praised Johns as a "foremost publicist" because he handles the heavily publicized Tournament of Roses as well as the beauty pageant. He is in the direction of Josef Krips, and "Melodious Austria" portraying the composers of Austria and the scenes in which they lived, against a background of their music.

'Sucker Man' on Wheels Keeps Faith With Tots

Although their "Sucker Man" is in the hospital with a broken leg, young patients in the Adelaide Tichenor Orthopedic Clinic continue to receive suckers, on schedule.

For more than a generation, B. F. Tucker, president of the Tichenor Foundation, has visited the clinic regularly, distributing lollipops to the young patients.

There were no suckers for a short interval after Tucker, now 86, broke his leg July 17 in a fall.

But he is conveniently located, in Community Hospital, adjacent to the Tichenor Clinic, 1660 Termino Ave.

The children visit him and he twice has travelled in a wheel chair to the clinic to hand out suckers.

Although the doctor has decreed that Tucker must not step on the foot for six months, the patient says "I'm betting you let me go home three weeks after the accident!"

"Home" is Pacific Coast Club.

BRAND NEW DIFFERENT! Like nothing you have ever tried before!
NOW AVAILABLE FOR FIRST TIME!

REDUCE up to 6 pounds the first 2 days... up to 11 pounds the first week...

OR PAY NOTHING!

Just Like A Doctor's Prescription! Revolutionary New Reducing Regimen Guarantees Amazing Weight Reductions Without Fad Diets, Without Intense Hunger, Without Exercise! Proved Safe In Doctor-Conducted Tests!

Just released! An amazing scientific discovery that melts off up to 49 pounds of ugly fat! You lose up to 6 pounds the first two days... up to 11 or 12 pounds the first week... up to 40, 50 pounds or more in a reasonable length of time, WITHOUT A SINGLE HUNGRY MOMENT, WITHOUT GIVING UP ALL THE FOODS YOU LOVE... or you pay nothing!

Yes, it's the amazing discovery you've heard about... the product you've tried on overweight patients in hospitals, wanted to try... now available for the results were so astonishing!

It's amazing! It works all the time... while you eat, while you sleep, at work or at play, at home or away! Positively fantastic... so effective, your friends may barely recognize you as little as ten days from now!

Sound too good to be true? Don't take our word for it! Prove it to yourself! Try this amazing plan for 10 days entirely at our risk! It must work for you! Must tell those patients what to eat! body as it has on countless others in Doctor-supervised clinical tests, or you don't pay one single penny!

You have nothing to lose but ugly fat! See for yourself! You be the Judge! Read these scientific facts. Then take advantage of this fantastic no-risk offer!

HERE'S WHY OTHER PRODUCTS DON'T WORK!

Here are the facts! Straightforward, hard-hitting facts... just as your own doctor would tell them to you.

Ordinary reducing plans... the very kind you are probably familiar with... cannot, of themselves, reduce your weight. You have to furnish the will power. You have to do the starving. You have to cut down on the foods you enjoy eating! Then, and only then, will you lose weight!

In other words, the very reducing plans you have paid $5 and $10 for, do nothing more than appease or dull your appetite. You have to do the rest! And it's not hard to see why...

Not one of those passive reducing plans actually works on the root of your problem... your fatty tissue itself! Not one of those products helps to burn up ugly fat... to oxidize fat... to actually melt that fat away forever!

And you know it! When you took those products, you did all the work! You took pills and capsules three and four times a day! You turned down delicious foods you loved so well. You suffered week after week! And the results? Perhaps if you were very lucky, you lost 5 or 6 pounds.

But how long could you keep up that starvation diet? How long before you sneaked in a snack here and a snack there? How long before you were eating as much as ever? And how long before those ugly pounds came back to haunt you, dead weight, came back to haunt you, made your life miserable?

What next? If you are like the average overweight person, you tried one plan, and still another, and the results? Always the same heartbreaking story! Little or no loss in weight! Little or no lasting effect! Then what did you do? Were you like the men and women whose utterly amazing case histories were reported in the clinical tests? Did you discover a better, more effective way to reduce? WITHOUT TORTURE! WITHOUT FAD OR STARVATION DIETS! WITHOUT THE NEED FOR TREMENDOUS WILL POWER!

Now we have done everything humanly possible to make it easy for you. We have presented you with the opportunity to obtain, for the first time ever, the same type of medication doctors prescribe for overweight patients. The rest is up to you. If you really want to reduce, you can. So right now, fill out the enclosed order form, and mail it in the postage paid envelope provided. You'll be happy you did it! If you are not absolutely delighted, your money back, no questions asked. You have nothing to lose but ugly fat!

E.E.D.R. IS SAFE!

E.E.D.R. is a safe, tested product proved effective by doctors. It cannot harm your heart, lungs, liver or other vital organs. Any normally healthy person may take E.E.D.R. as directed, with complete confidence, content in the knowledge that it cannot be harmful.

OTIS LABORATORIES, Inc.
2 East Ave., Larchmont, N. Y.

READ THESE ASTONISHING RESULTS OF CLINICAL TESTS CONDUCTED BY DOCTORS!

No other product ever prints actual clinical test results, because no other product can show such astounding weight losses!

1st week up to 12 pounds lost
2nd week " " 24 pounds lost
4th week " " 39 pounds lost
6th week " " 44 pounds lost
8th week " " 49 pounds lost

These tests were conducted by doctors on average, normally healthy overweight persons. Those men and women were NOT told to diet... were NOT told what or what not to eat! All they did was TAKE ONE TINY TABLET SMALLER THAN AN ASPIRIN, BEFORE EACH MEAL... yet their weight losses were almost unbelievable!

THIS IS THE MOST POWERFUL PROOF YOU HAVE EVER SEEN FOR ANY REDUCING REGIMEN! NO OTHER PRODUCT SOLD IS AS EFFECTIVE AS E.E.D.R.

HERE ARE FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT E.E.D.R.

WHAT IS IT?

E.E.D.R. is a scientific combination of safe drugs which works just like a doctor's prescription to help you lose weight.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

E.E.D.R. works three ways to help you reduce quickly, safely and easily.

1. E.E.D.R. draws off and flushes out the weight-adding, blood-producing water that makes up to 70% of your fatty tissue.
2. E.E.D.R. inhibits your appetite without bloating your system with bulk material.
3. E.E.D.R. makes you feel better, more peppy and alert... actually gives you a lift while those pounds are coming off!

HOW DO YOU TAKE IT?

E.E.D.R. is a tiny tablet smaller than an aspirin tablet. For the first three days you take two tablets before each meal. After the first three days, you take only one tablet before each meal.

IS IT SAFE?

E.E.D.R. is not a dangerous drug, not a laxative, not a thyroid extract, not a bulk-producing medicine! It is a safe, doctor-tested product made of pure, medically-approved ingredients. Any normally healthy person may take E.E.D.R. as directed with complete confidence because it cannot harm you in any way.

When you follow the E.E.D.R. plan, you do not have to do back-breaking exercises, you do not have to go on a fad diet, you do not have to give up all the foods you love to eat, you do not have to take giant pills and capsules, powders or sweet wafers all day long!

YOU SIMPLY TAKE ONE OR TWO TINY TABLETS (SMALLER THAN ASPIRIN TABLETS) BEFORE EACH MEAL! NO OTHER PRODUCT IS SO EASY TO TAKE!

WHY YOU SHOULD TRY E.E.D.R....

NEVER IF YOU PROMISED YOURSELF YOU WOULD NEVER TRY ANOTHER REDUCING REGIMEN AGAIN!

Are you a person who has tried everything?... giant pills and capsules 3 and 4 times a day?... fad diets?... powders you sprinkle on food?... exercises?... gadgets and gimmicks?... everything and anything that promised freedom from those extra pounds of fat that are spoiling your figure and endangering your health?

Are you a person who swore you'd never try another reducing plan? Stop and think a moment. Wouldn't it be a shame if E.E.D.R. was really the one product that could help you, and you didn't at least try it?

You see, regardless of what you think, regardless of how many times you have been disappointed before, E.E.D.R. really works! Really does everything we claim it will! It's safe, it's quick, it's easy! In doctor-supervised clinical tests, it was proved to be astonishingly successful!

And no wonder... For it is the only reducing regimen sold that is really like a doctor's prescription. It flushes away blood, it keeps you from feeling hungry, and it actually picks you up and makes you feel better than usual while those ugly pounds are coming off! And how they come off... actually faster than ever before!

So don't miss out on this opportunity! Don't turn back now! Even if you have been disappointed before, now you are within sight of your goal. Think of how wonderful it will be to look better and feel better... to really be slimmer and trimmer than you have been in years! That's the opportunity that now awaits you! And you can do it all without risking one single penny! Simply send for E.E.D.R. now.

Try it for as long as you like. If you are not satisfied, you are under no obligation to keep it. All you do is mail back the unused portion and get your money back immediately, no questions asked. You are trying, not buying. If you don't get the results you hoped for, you have paid nothing, and at least you have had the satisfaction of trying this amazing new product. You have nothing to lose but ugly fat!

So don't put it off. Act on that impulse! Determine to help yourself... determine to have the slim, youthful-looking figure that amazing new E.E.D.R. can help you obtain. And do it now! It only takes a minute to fill out the enclosed order card and mail it in the postage-paid envelope provided. If you are not delighted in every way, all you will have lost is a few minutes of your time. You know we must have great confidence that E.E.D.R. will help you or we could never afford to make this spectacular no-risk offer. So why not send now?

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

Use a whole package of E.E.D.R. in your own home at our expense! If the E.E.D.R. plan doesn't help you lose up to 6 pounds in the first 48 hours... up to 11 pounds the first week... If it doesn't make you look better and feel better... If you are aren't completely convinced this low-calorie regimen is the quickest, best way to reduce you have ever tried, don't keep it! Return the unused portion and we refund your money immediately, no questions asked!

It must work just the way we say it does, or you pay nothing!

THANKS TO THIS AMAZING DEVELOPMENT, YOU CAN REDUCE FASTER AND EASIER THAN YOU EVER THOUGHT POSSIBLE!

Doctors had the answer... a reducing regimen identical in principle to the one most doctors prescribe than any other... an amazing combination of ingredients medically proven to be the greatest aid for the elimination of excess fat ever as proved in astonishingly successful clinical tests!

Not a bulk-producing agent... not a sweet wafer supposed to "fill" your appetite... not giant pills or capsules, this astounding compound is like nothing you have ever tried before, because it has just been made available for the first time ever!

It is guaranteed safe, guaranteed effective, guaranteed to perform not one, not two, but all three functions necessary for quick, easy, comfortable weight reduction! This is what it does...

1. E.E.D.R. flushes away the blood-like water that makes up to 70% of your fatty tissue! It goes to work the very first day... removes that water... makes you lose weight fast! Makes you see and feel results almost instantly!
2. E.E.D.R. actually gives you a boost... makes you feel peppy and alert. Helps you overcome that tired, dragged-out feeling. Actually may help you feel more vibrantly alive than you have felt in years!
3. E.E.D.R., without filling your stomach with sluggish bulk, works internally on the true center of your appetite! You still enjoy your food, but you have less desire to overeat, and you find it easier to do without fattening, unwholesome extras that are making you fat!

New Offices for Driltrol

Construction bids are being processed from a select list of contractors for a new machine shop and office building for Driltrol, Inc.

The firm, consisting of three principals, John Cochran, Norm Jacques and Jack Middleton, has been in business in Long Beach for several years in the oil tool service field. The new plant, to be located on Hill street near Orange in Signal Hill, became necessary to accommodate the company's successful growth.

The building will be of pre-cast concrete tilt-up type of construction of approximately 10,000 square feet initially and with accommodation for future expansion. Other features of the construction will be an all-metal roof, non-glare skylites, dock-height shipping and receiving, steel sash, forced-air heating and ventilation, movable partition, continuous electrical plug-ins, overhead crane and special fire and acoustical provisions. A unique feature in the earthquake design was the deletion of considerable interior bracing in favor of specially designed exterior column-butresses.

Engineering and architectural services are in charge of Chas. P. Morgan & Associates, Long Beach.

GI Loans Take Drop

GI home loan application and appraisal activity showed a decline in June as compared with May, Veterans Administration announced.

VA received appraisal requests for 65,141 proposed and existing homes during June, 14,017 less than were received in May.

During June, VA received 41,377 home loan applications from private lenders on behalf of veterans, a drop of 3,873 applications from the previous month.

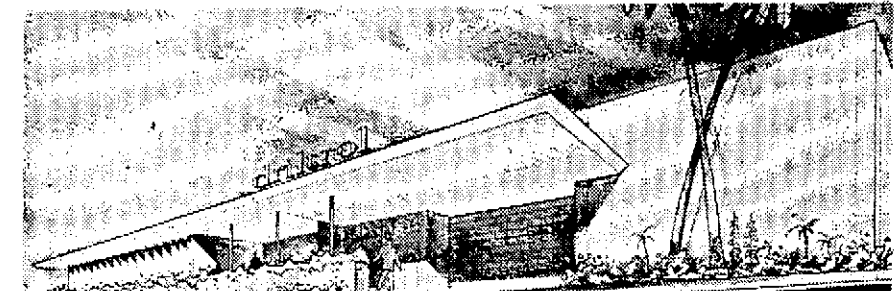

Of the 65,141 units for which VA received appraisal requests, 35,620 were proposed homes and 29,521 were existing homes, VA reported.

L. C. Chapman, manager, announced that the Los Angeles regional office also showed a decline in June.

Appraisal requests received number 3,402 (108 less than May); 2,670 were for proposed homes and 732 were for existing homes.

Chapman said home loan applications from private lenders in the Los Angeles region totaled 3,038, a drop of 840 from the previous month.

Mayor George Vermillion receives two tickets to the Realtors' Fall Dance, called the "Acapulco Adventure," from dance chairman, Realtor Marion Davisson. The dance will be held at the Petroleum Club Sept. 7. The public is invited.

Buyers in Walnut Manor Can Occupy Home at Once

"Walnut Manor's 3 and 4-bedroom, low-cost luxury homes are now available for immediate occupancy," stated Louis Horton, builder.

Rapid sales are attributed to the customized appearance of this unique development. Engineers designed Walnut Manor to provide a maximum of safety and privacy, especially suitable for children at play, by using the greatest number of cul-de-sacs possible. This also creates a parklike atmosphere and makes the individual lots adaptable to unusual and artistic landscaping.

Vets may still purchase for no money down, except small costs and imposts, with monthly payments of only $66.66 including principal and interest. Low FHA terms are available to non-vets. Because these homes were built with materials purchased over a year ago, they are priced from $13,000 to $14,500. This is at least $1,400 less than it would cost to build them today and land costs have also risen considerably, says the builder.

To reach Walnut Manor, drive out the Santa Ana Freeway to Walnut St. in Anaheim. Walnut St. is midway between the new Broadway Dept. Store Shopping Center and Disneyland. Then turn right on Walnut and continue one block to furnished models.

GRANDVIEW PALOS VERDES

Each day on the Palos Verdes Peninsula is composed of many moods. For peace and reflection, there is the eternal, enduring beauty of the world-famed Wayfarer's Chapel—for relaxation, there is golf, tennis, horseback riding along the shore—for everyday needs, there is the old-world charm of the Malaga Cove Plaza—and for every moment, there is the pure, clean, fresh air of an ideal climate.

Up until the present, the charms of "Peninsula-Living"—from the rolling green hills down to the rolling ocean waves—were strictly limited to a fortunate few, who could afford to live here. Now, however, the opportunity of becoming a part of the new community of Grandview Palos Verdes is yours.

Grandview Palos Verdes presents for the first time, quality-constructed homes priced from $19,500 to $26,525. Qualified non-veterans are offered conventional financing with 20% down; qualified veterans, 4 1/2% financing with $1500 down, including all closing costs. Here is a sound investment for today, security and high resale potential for the future.

Come out today and see lovely 3 and 4 bedroom, 2 bath homes, with 10 different floor plans and 50 distinctive exteriors to choose from. Handsome models are furnished by Barker Brothers Beverly Hills Studios.

Sidewalks, curbs and sewers are installed; ornamental street lights and safety-planned streets are here, as well as gas, electricity and telephone service.

Brisk Sales Reported as Aldon Homes Near Complete Sellout

Heavy sales last week at Buena Plaza were attributed to the offer of immediate occupancy at the close of escrow by Willard Woodrow, who heads the sponsoring Aldon Construction Co. in association with Ira H. Oberndorfer.

Attracting large crowds and also boosting sales of the development's final unit of 3 and 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes, according to Woodrow, is a display of 8 attractively furnished model homes which is open to the public every day and evening.

"Boosting sales is the knowledge that these are the last homes that Aldon will build in the popular Buena Park area and the fact that homes in the final unit cannot be duplicated at the same price," Woodrow said, "nor at vets' terms of nothing down, except costs and impounds."

As Buena Park nears sellout of its final unit, crowds of home shoppers are reported thronging the 8 model homes, furnished by Aaron Schultz. They are open late to allow after-work viewing. The location is La Palma Ave., just east of Miller St., near the Santa Ana Freeway, Buena Park.

ADVANCE PLANNING of financing has made it possible for the Aldon firm to continue selling homes, even in the final unit, on terms of nothing down but costs and impounds, with monthly payments from $66.67 for principal and interest, it was pointed out.

Key selling features, Woodrow said, include the built-in Western-Holly gas ranges, with ovens in decorator colors, with attractive range hoods, as well as custom-designed floor-to-ceiling fireplaces, select wallpapers, wood paneling, aluminum frame sliding walls of glass linking indoors and outdoors, and all-glass model kitchens of birch with exclusive Aldon glaze.

All homes have Higgins hardwood oak block floors, spacious two-car garages, big service areas, thermostat controlled forced air heat, double sinks, garbage disposals and roomy kitchen eating areas.

State Rental Owner Assn. to Hold Convention Here

Arrangements have been completed for the 16th annual convention of the California Rental Owners Assn., which will open here Sunday, Aug. 5. The Lafayette Hotel will be headquarters. Jack Krancus, Long Beach, general chairman, said registration will take place Sunday with the first session called at 9:30 a. m. Monday. Sam Lackman, Long Beach president, will open the convention with a welcome to be extended by Mayor George Vermillion. Jackson Dorn, state president, will speak.

Monday afternoon the speaker will be Elmer S. Nelson, economic consultant, whose subject will be "1956-65 California and the Rising Industrial Tide."

A tour of local places of interest at Knotts Berry Farm will close the Monday program. Tuesday morning committees will report and that noon Arthur G. Bowman, associate counsel of the Title Insurance and Trust Co., Los Angeles, will speak. The afternoon session will conclude the business sessions and elections will be held.

Closing the convention Tuesday night will be a dinner in the Red Velvet Room of the Lafayette. John Cotton of San Diego, president of the California Real Estate Association will be toastmaster. Comedian Chester Gruber will entertain.

For those remaining here Wednesday special sightseeing trips and a harbor cruise have been arranged.

President Warned
MILWAUKEE (UP) — Charles E. Wampler drove to Green Bay and parked his car in a lot behind the Wisconsin Telephone Co. building. Later he found a note on his car saying, "This is a private parking lot—please do not use it again or your car will be towed away at your expense." Wampler is president of the Wisconsin Telephone Co.

Huge Crowds Viewing Big Homes Grandview Palos Verdes Offers

Crowds have been virtually steady flow of homeseekers throughout the week during the day and evening hours.

Crowds as large on week days and evenings as on weekends at the colorful display of 10 luxury model residences at Grandview Palos Verdes on Palos Verdes Peninsula, it was reported.

A statement issued by Edward K. Zuckerman and Barney R. Morris, heads of the Grandview Building Co., noted that continued heavy sales, already past the $2,000,000 mark, represent purchasers from all parts of Los Angeles and Orange Counties.

"The excitement engendered by the announcement that this beautiful peninsula luxury home area is undergoing full development," an official said, "has brought a steady flow of thousands of visitors day after day to the display homes at Montemalaga Dr. and Silver Spur Rd."

The new community, which adjoins such well-established developments as Palos Verdes Estates, Rolling Hills and Portuguese Bend, is presented to visitors in an attractive display of 10 model homes, 3 of which have been furnished in complete detail by Barker Bros., with decor by Mary Gibson of the Beverly Hills studio. The model residences are open to the public every day, including Sunday.

Walter W. Mansfield of Mansfield & Associates, sales agents, reported receiving thousands of visitors on weekends and a MANSFIELD SAID that one of the most interesting facts to visitors is that despite the luxurious concept of the community and its fashionable location on the peninsula, veterans may buy on 30-year 4½ per cent VA terms with down payments actually as low as $1500, including all closing costs, while nonvets may buy on conventional terms with down payments of 20 per cent.

Buyers are also offered their choice of 50 highly diversified architectural stylings based on 10 varied floor plans and have a further choice of many interesting color schemes. Designs are by two leading architectural

from $19,500 to $26,525, are beautifully landscaped with ice plants on slopes and with front side and rear lawns and ornamental shrubs.

Visitors may reach the homes by taking LA Brea-Hawthorne Blvd. past Highway 101 to Palos Verdes Dr. N., then going left to Montemalaga Dr. and right to the model homes. Another route is via Crenshaw Blvd. south past Highway 101 to Palos Verdes Dr. N., turning right to Montemalaga Dr.

Essay Winner Gets Scholarship

A 4-year engineering scholarship to UCLA was awarded to Arthur Charles Devine of Hollywood by the Pep Boys, Manny, Moe and Jack. Devine graduated in June from John Marshall High School in Los Angeles.

Announcement of the winner of the annual Pep Boys award was made by Murray Rosenfeld, general manager of the Pep Boys and chairman of the scholarship committee.

The scholarship pays for tuition, books and supplies for 4 years at a state college or university of his choice. Devine won the scholarship on the basis of an essay on traffic safety, an engineering aptitude examination, and his high school scholastic standing.

In the essay competition which is used to help determine the final scholarship winner, high school seniors graduating in June 1956 were required to write an essay on "What I Would Do to Prevent Traffic Accidents and Save Lives."

Sun Garden Estates Homes Low Priced

Buyers of homes in Sun Garden Estates may occupy the homes rent free until the close of escrow, Gilbert J. Hayes, sales agent for the 3 and 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes announced. Located between Westminster and Trask Aves., Bewland and Yockey Sts., the homes are priced from $10,950 to $12,700. Such outstanding features as forced air heating, thermostatic controls, hand-hewn shake roofs, kitchen exhaust fans, garbage disposals, ash cabinets, sliding glass doors and hardwood floors on raised foundations are featured. The ceilings are insulated and there is genuine plastered walls and ceilings throughout. A large dining space is provided and the builders have made generous usage of closets and wardrobes. In many attractive exteriors, the homes may be seen by going east on 7th St. to Yockey St., turn right and drive south to the model homes.

A HOLIDAY PARK HOME

Since sales started recently on the Holiday Park Homes they have been heavy daily, agents report. Here is the interior of one of the spacious homes.

Holiday Park Sales Off to Great Start

Unanimous approval by home-seeking crowds visiting Holiday Park homes since opening of the development has resulted in strong sales of the 3 and 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes reports a Walker & Lee, Inc., spokesman. The Davies, Keusder and Brown, Inc. subdivision borders Garden Grove and Anaheim, at West St., just north of Chapman Ave.

Unusual uses of brick contribute to the popularity of the dwellings which offer Contemporary or Provincial designs, each treated with such distinctions as open beam ceilings and crushed rock roofs or extra heavy shake roofs. Of the many features found within the homes, the variety of fireplaces brings much favorable comment, it was noted. In one model, a solid brick wall, extending to the patio, is broken by a fireplace at eye level, while another home illustrates a free-standing fireplace-barbecue and a third, floor to ceiling brick centered by the fireplace with seating space on either side.

ROOF AND CEILING insulation, concrete patios, sliding walls of glass overlooking big, fenced-in yards, utility rooms, spacious storage and wardrobe room, fully landscaped front yards, electric bath heaters, radio-intercom system, Schlage locks, forced air furnace with thermostat control, built-in breakfast seats or dining peninsulas, pullman type

This kitchen suits those who want a large enough area for their kitchen, as well as those who do not want too large an area. Naturally, I'm happy to tell you that this is my own Westinghouse Betty Furness Beauty Kitchen, exclusive with Frematic. No extra costs are involved. Here are Westinghouse built-in top burners, super-wide oven, large 12.5 cubic foot refrigerator, newest model dishwasher. "You can be sure" with these quality products.

How You Can Afford Big Home Design On A Small Budget by Betty Furness

The living room is big in spirit, big in reality. The kind of room which dissolves worries about where to put everyone at a party. A feeling of spaciousness surrounds you, yet there's a feeling of intimacy here also. In the extra large master bedroom, occupants really do feel like masters—again illustrating what the proper use of space can do into home.

The builders of Frematic Homes have incorporated a system of zoning not to be found in any other houses. They have made one area separate from another. Another sign of foresight in planning is that the family room can be transformed easily into an additional bedroom. The children's bedrooms, as above, are made even larger-looking by the use of wide-view glass walls.

From the start, don't these homes give you a sense of freedom—along with the feeling that people really live inside? I want to mention that every Frematic Home has a different entrance court, so that yours can be developed according to your own personal taste.

We all know there are different kinds of people in this world, but, when it comes to buying a house, most people want a feeling of "bigness", of spaciousness, of large home design.

The more time you spend looking at homes, the more you learn—such as the fact that some homes are able to achieve a wonderful feeling of space, although not so large and immense that only movie stars could afford to live in them.

The home I would like to visit with you today is not an immense home—1506 square feet on a full quarter-acre—but it is so cleverly zoned that it gives space where it's needed, and privacy when it's wanted. For instance, the family room is sensibly centered for general use, while the large bedrooms are well located for privacy. The master bedroom is unusually spacious, and features a truly glamorous bath and dressing area.

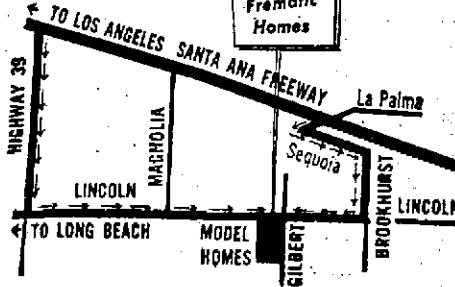

An award-winning house, other features combine to make this home a "special"—color-matched built-ins in my own Betty Furness Westinghouse Kitchen, sliding glass doors, custom-styled baths, colored rock roofs, natural ash finishes, handsome front entrance.

Built by Ross W. Cortese, this winner is the Frematic Home on a full quarter-acre in the finest residential section of Anaheim, California, with three bedrooms, family room, and two bathrooms. It's big home design measured to fit the average budget: just $16,350 on VA and FHA terms, with a down payment of $550 plus impounds for Vets. On regular FHA terms for non-vets, it's just $2750 down, plus impounds. Other exciting models sell for as low as $15,250.

Here's a hint for those who would like to investigate these homes at their leisure, and avoid the crowds. Why not drive out with the family after dinner? Frematic Homes, at Gilbert and Lincoln in Anaheim, are open daily for your convenience (and theirs) until 9 P.M., Saturday till 6. You'll receive extra-personal attention.

IN WESTMINSTER

This spacious Rancho Bel Air home, just 10 minutes from downtown Long Beach, is available to veterans earning only $85 per week. Non-vets. may occupy one of the 4 or 3-bedroom, 2-bath homes for only $50 down, balance of costs and impounds at recordation. Rancho Bel Air, a completely developed community, is located in nearby Westminster.

Vets Earning $85 Weekly Can Buy Bel Air Rancho

Rancho Bel Air, a completely developed home community located 10 minutes from downtown Long Beach, now welcomes veterans earning only $85 per week, it was announced. The $85 income can qualify a veteran home buyer and his family for one of the big 4 or 3-bedroom 2-bath architecturally designed homes in close-in Westminster, said a representative of Walker & Lee, sales agents. "Steady earners at this income level are more than welcome, and the qualified veteran need not make a down payment," the spokesman added. He explained that monthly payments are as little as $67.50 per month, including principal and interest. Only other expenses are the standard purchase costs and impounds.

LOCATED just 12 minutes from the Douglas plant and 14 minutes from many of the beach cities, Rancho Bel Air is also open to non-vets. They may purchase homes with only $50 down, the balance of down payment months later at recordation. "This enables the non-veteran purchaser to move in and have time to assemble the remainder of funds needed. If he presently owns a home, he will have time to sell it while residing with his family in a Rancho Bel Air dwelling," it was pointed out.

RANCHO BEL AIR homes are situated on unusually large home sites. Fine construction includes genuine hardwood floors, fire resistant lath and plaster, and full-home circulating forced air heat with fingertip control. Central home plans are perfect for growing families.

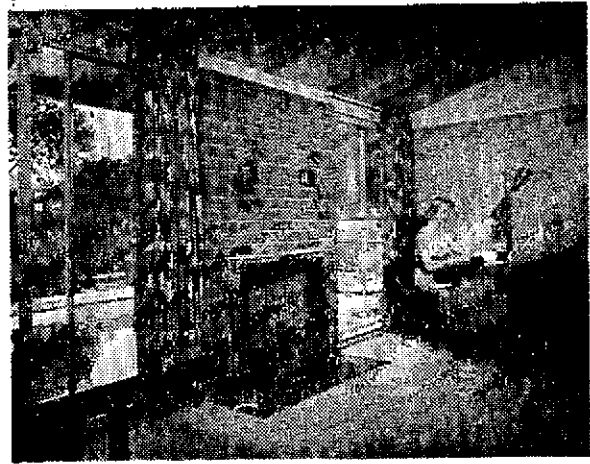

To reach the nearby Rancho Bel Air community, with its adjacent school and other facilities, drive from Long Beach out 7th St. to Los Alamitos, turn right to Westminster, then left one mile to the furnished models.

Beverly Gardens' Terms, Price Have Great Appeal

INDEPENDENT-PRESS-TELEGRAM—B-S
Long Beach (Calif.), Sunday, July 29, 1956

Beverly Gardens, Chapman Ave. at West St., Garden Grove, Heltzer, president of the construction company, pointed out non-veterans as well as former GI's who want luxurious city living, at a price estimated at least $2,000 below today's duplication cost.

IN BEVERLY GARDENS

Shown is an inviting corner of one of the spacious living rooms in the 5th unit of Beverly Gardens, Chapman Ave. and West St., in Garden Grove.

"That is why," George J. Heltzer, president of the construction company, pointed out non-veterans as well as former GI's who want luxurious city living, at a price estimated at least $2,000 below today's duplication cost.

VETERANS STILL NEED NOTHING down, only small costs and impounds, to take possession of one of these 3-bedroom, 3-and-a-den, 3-and-family room or 4 bedroom residences.

Monthly payments of $85 include everything... taxes and insurance, as well as principal and interest, Heltzer explained.

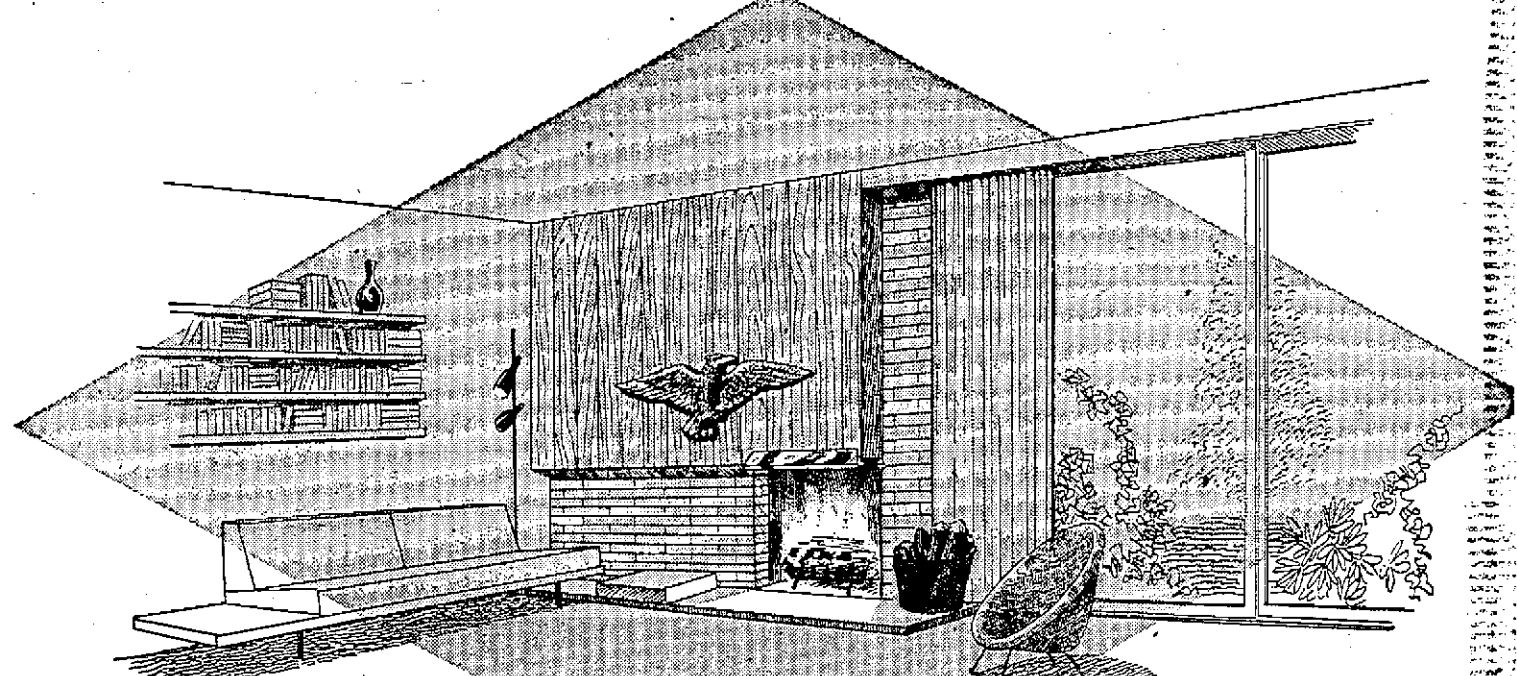

These residences are available in 20 floor plans, 33 individual elevations, and a virtual rainbow of interior and exterior custom color combinations.

Offered optionally, and being demonstrated in the current series at Beverly Gardens for the first time anywhere in the southland, is the new built-in Western-Holly double oven with rotisserie, range-top and automatic top-burner temperature control. Unit 5 of Beverly Gardens is

Many Buyers Now Are Moving Into Frematic Homes, Anaheim

A 30 per cent increase in the number of visitors during the last 2 weeks and a corresponding sales pickup was reported at Frematic Homes in Anaheim, national award-winning residences by Ross W. Cortese.

Families are moving into the community, just off the Santa Ana Freeway, at the average of 10 a week, according to a spokesman for Walker & Lee, Inc., sales agents.

"Crowds come to see the model homes on view at Gilbert St. and Lincoln Ave., because they won Awards of Merit in the most recent nationwide competition of the National Association of Home Builders and then they buy because they like the excellent Anaheim location and the many added features, including the all-electric kitchens," he explained.

Included in the large 3-bedroom, 2-bath homes, some of which have family rooms, are built-in electric ranges and ovens, 12.5 cubic-foot electric refrigerators, garbage disposals and electric dishwashers, all color matched to harmonize with kitchen colors.

Generous cabinet space, breakfast bars and exhaust fans are other features of the modern kitchens.

Buyers are given a choice of 28 diversified stylings. It was stated, with the 3-bedroom models containing 1362 square feet of living space, priced at $15,250, while the models with family rooms have 1506 square feet at $16,350.

FOR THE smaller homes, vets pay $500 down with monthly payments of $75.80, plus impounds. Non-vets, on FHA terms pay $2,450 down with monthly payments of $64.50, plus impounds. Terms for the larger homes for vets are $550 down and $81.40 monthly plus impounds and for non-vets, $2,750 down and $69.45 monthly plus impounds.

Among the many distinctive features offered by the new homes are hooded fireplaces of slumpstone, brick or cement blocks with raised hearths which continue to form a seating space and adorn the living rooms, sliding walls of glass, gabled windows, custom-styled bathrooms with Pullman sinks, colored fixtures, oversize stall showers with terrazzo base, tile walls and glass doors.

The bath adjoining the master bedroom also has a private dressing room and added storage area while the bedrooms are king-size.

Also included are big 2-car garages and spacious lots.

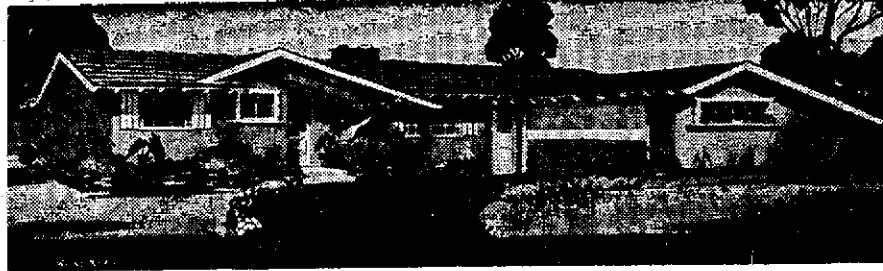

When Shannon and Jene Vandruff, well known builders, designed and built their first Cinderella Homes subdivision last year, the response by the home-buying public was immediate. The homes sold so rapidly that the success story attracted the attention of a great many other builders in the industry. Since then there has been a flow of visiting builders to the Vandruff offices to gain information about Cinderella Homes, the builders say.

The exterior designs (17 of them) were the object of prime interest on the part of builders, since these distinctive designs have had a tremendous impact on the public. Builders wanted to know why there was so much talk about Cinderella Homes and why the public was excited about this new type of design.

Jene Vandruff, the designer of the brother-builder team, stated: "We believe that the most solid reason for the success of Cinderella Homes lies in the great amount of care that went into the planning and execution of every single little detail in every house. We tried to overlook nothing that could add to the beauty and comfort and cheerfulness of the homes, and still keep them within price ranges that were practical from the standpoint of the average home-owner."

Vandruff added: "We list 62 custom type 'extras' that are involved in each of the Cinder-110 Families will take this new approach!

Yes, just 110 families will take this new approach to provide themselves with the utmost in living comfort... AND they'll gain this improved standard of living without investing one cent more than they would if they hadn't read this small advertisement.

The 110 families we seek represent incomes over $500 a month, earned at the most interesting and responsible jobs in Orange and Los Angeles Counties... earned by men who are either homeowners looking for larger, better homes, or... who have money saved, and want to invest in a home that will permit the fullest enjoyment of their peak years.

It is to these 110 families that we address this message:

Write, or phone today for an appointment to see four new homes built entirely on the principles of the new approach... a radically different idea, based on the theory that one important segment of the American public today is vitally interested in buying well-designed homes that are neither fad nor extremist in concept; these buyers demand a perfect balance of luxury throughout... they want homes located conveniently near shopping, schools, churches and the main arteries of travel... yet offering the seclusion and quiet of an established residential section.

The chances are, yours is one of the 110 families we've been discussing. So here's our proposition: We feel you'd appreciate the opportunity to inspect your new home under ideal conditions, without being pushed around by hundreds of sight-seers. Spend just five minutes filling out the coupon below, or in phoning for an appointment... and we promise you'll spend the rest of your life being glad you did.

Telephone JACKSON 7-5717 for an appointment or send coupon today!

EXPANSION COMPLETED

Here is the new home at 709 W. 16th St. of the Bay City Bearing Co., Inc. The structure has a 55-foot clear span which permits a fork lift operation anywhere in the place.

A BEAUTY QUEEN

Celebrating the half-way mark in sales, Welcome Homes, Inc., builders and developers of Beauty Queen Homes, announce special attractions to homeseekers from today through Sunday, Aug. 12.

New, Larger Plant Here for Bay City Bearing Co.

Bay City Bearing Co., Inc. announced completion of their fourth expansion program to meet the growing needs of Los Angeles and Orange Counties. These new facilities include enlarging and remodeling their Los Angeles office at 5275 Atlantic Ave. and the removal of their Long Beach office to new and larger quarters at 709 W. 16th St.

Lease arrangements of the new Long Beach building were handled by H. Cowan & Co. J. W. Rainey of Atkins and Wiggins Co. designed and built the 55-foot clear span structure providing fork lift truck service to any part of the warehouse. A unique feature of the office was his design of a combination classroom and salesman's office to provide quarters for the technical classes conducted every Wednesday night to further the training of the sales engineers and inside sales personnel. Also included is a soundproof conference room embodying latest studio techniques in the treatment of the glass panels. Indoor facilities are provided for dining and employee recreation. Overall management is under the direction of Walter R. Seidel, president, Los Angeles area.

Proving Great Attraction

Katella Park's complete kitchen are color-keyed to the appliances. Only a few homes in the last of the second unit of Katella Park are left. The development, built by H. Cedric Roberts & Sons, is located in Garden Grove, near schools, shopping and churches. The landscaping is completed in the front yards when the buyers move in, so the street pattern has a finished look, the announcement said. Furnished models are located at the corner of Brookhurst St. and Katella Ave. and are open from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily.

Buena Berry
Homes Left

Buyers interested in immediate occupancy are urged to inspect 5 homes now available because of credit rejects at Buena Berry Park, reported Don Coleman, sales agent for Moss Building Corp.

Buena Berry Park homes are available to veterans on terms of no cash down, plus moderate costs and imponds. Monthly payments are $58.92. To non-vets FHA terms as low as $1195 down are available, with payments of only $53.63 monthly, principal and interest. Full price from $11,600.

Three and 4-bedroom homes are available with luxury features that include large fireplaces; beautiful kitchens; forced-air heat (thermostatically controlled); tile stall showers; and sliding glass doors.

Located one block east of famous Knott's Berry Farm, these homes are only minutes away from Long Beach areas and Los Angeles Civic Center, via the Santa Ana Freeway, Disneyland and many other recreational areas are within short driving distance. Nearby are complete shopping centers and fine school facilities.

To visit the development, take the Santa Ana Freeway to Grand Ave., and turn right on Grand to Crescent Ave. (one block south of the main entrance to Knott's Berry Farm). Then turn left on Crescent, and go one block to the models.

Skylark Home Appealing

Skylark Terrace Town and Country Unit 2 homeowners are responsible for many of the sales of the 3-and 4-bedroom, 2-bath dwellings, stated Bill Tietz, president of Tietz Construction Co., builders and developers of the Garden Grove subdivision. This sales promotion is accomplished through their own enthusiasm for their new homes, Tietz said, encouraging their friends and former neighbors to buy their new dwellings in the unit.

Finding much favor with residents of the neighborhood and their guests as well are the large lots with barbecue, patio, play court and swimming pool room. Many owners purchased, as optional equipment, swimming pools and air conditioning units which were installed during building of their homes.

ALL-ELECTRIC, with efficiency built into them, the kitchens feature automatic wall ovens, range, garbage disposal, dishwasher and exhaust fan.

Sliding lanai walls of glass in the living rooms, massive sandstone fireplace, three to six-foot cave overhangs, hardwood floors, 80,000 BTU forced air furnace,

ON LARGE LOTS

Skylark Terrace Homes have much appeal, including the fact that they are built on lots large enough to provide a swimming pool area. This is one model.

heavy shake, shingle or Dolomite rock roofs, genuine lath and plaster construction, brick trim exteriors and ample closets and cabinets are more of the many obvious points of quality construction.

Pullman baths with tile, landscaped front yards, barbecues and grills, and etched glass shower doors are more features.

Veterans, earning $550 monthly, may buy for nothing down. It was noted, while non-veterans may purchase, with FHA financing, on terms of from $900 down.

Model homes of the second unit are open daily and Sundays, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. at Brookhurst and Chapman in Garden Grove, reached from Los Angeles, by driving out Santa Ana Freeway, south on La Palma (Brookhurst) and on to Chapman. HOME OF CHARM

Livable interior design make Buena Park Mutual Homes a favorite with the whole family. The de luxe three and four-bedroom homes feature floor plans that let the family "live," plus solid construction details that make each home a sound investment, salesman stress.

Buena Park Mutual Home Easier Terms Attracting

Veterans who have previously used their GI benefits and non-veterans who have never been able to qualify for long-term, low cost home financing continue to express surprise at the favorable terms available to them at Buena Park Mutual Homes, newest development by the builders of Lakewood Park in fast-growing Buena Park.

Regardless of their status under the GI bill, home buyers can purchase almost any model in Buena Park Mutual Homes for only $295 down. The builders emphasize that these low terms apply to all veterans, no matter where or when they used their GI benefits, and to all non-veterans.

Two full blocks of landscaped model homes are featured in the development, with furnished models decorated by Margaret Hargreaves, color consultant, and furnished by Aaron Schultz of Long Beach. A total of 10 floor plans and 36 exteriors offer the perfect home for every family need.

THE 3 AND 4-BEDROOM, 2-bath homes are built to provide luxury living at budget prices. Slumpstone or brick fireplaces, ash hardwood paneling in the living room, pastel porcelain bathroom fixtures, marble-topped pullman lavatories and two medicine cabinets, natural hardwood kitchen cabinets, separate dining areas, and TV roof jacks wired to living room outlets are only a few of the luxury features that distinguish Buena Park Mutual Homes.

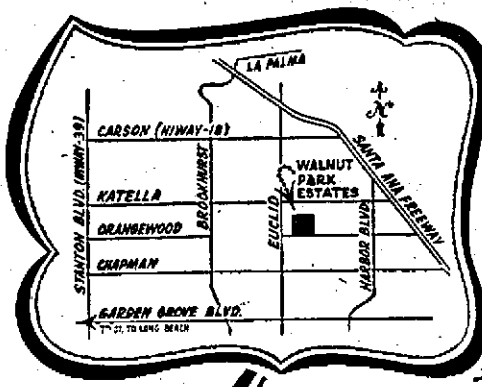

Proud of the fact that every home they have built is worth more today than when it was sold, the builders of Lakewood Park have paid particular attention to the construction details which make Buena Park Mutual Homes a sound lifetime investment.

Starting with conventional concrete foundations 2 feet off the ground, hardwood flooring and rock wool insulation, the quality construction carries through to the split shake cedar, colored rock or composition roofs. IN BETWEEN are long-lasting aluminum sash windows, aluminum frame sliding glass doors to the patios, 40 or 50-gallon water heaters, thermostatically controlled forced air heaters, double drain sinks with heatproof-stainproof drainboards, glass door stall showers, Waste King Pulverators, and dozens of other details hidden by paint or wallpaper.

Surrounded by the resort areas of Knott's Berry Farm, Disneyland, Huntington Beach and Balboa, the city of Buena Park is the hub of the Southland's most rapidly growing section.

Buena Park Mutual Homes may be reached from Long Beach by driving east on Carson which becomes Lincoln Ave. Turn left on Grand Ave. (Highway 39) to the sales office at 7422 S. Grand Ave.

Workmen Claims Processed Fast

SAN FRANCISCO—The U. S. Department of Labor announced that most federal workers in California, Colorado, Nevada, Utah, Arizona and New Mexico now receive federal workmen's compensation payments within one week after putting in their claims.

John J. Newman, assistant deputy commissioner of the Labor Department's bureau of employees compensation, said that the speedup resulted from the Labor Department's decision to decentralize the Western region. Previously, claims made by Western federal employees were processed in Washington, D. C. At that time it took at least 3 weeks before an employee could receive payment on his claim. Since 1952, however, claims made by Western employees have been processed in San Francisco.

Enchanted Home Designing Individualizes Each Unit

Living in a "development" need not mean submerging your own personality. Bill Godbey, builder of Enchanted Homes in Garden Grove, said.

Godbey, whose unique rustic provincial Enchanted Homes are famous throughout the Southland, added: "Today's thoughtful builder of new homes uses as many striking designs as possible."

"Every family is a unique group," said Godbey. "Parents want to express themselves through their home; children want the individuality that makes their particular home a prideful castle."

The Enchanted Homes development attempts to make every home a highly-individualized residence, Godbey said. Shake roofs sweep and dip to wide, sun-sheltering eaves, and diamond-like windows sparkle in the sun-light like homes costing many thousands of dollars more.

Inside each Enchanted Home, decorator-selected wall paper, graceful turn-posts and hand-rubbed wood paneling emphasize the individuality of the home. Fireplaces of antique brick with wide-spreading hearths dominate the large living rooms.

RARELY FOUND in a home development—and not before in the Southland—is the unusual powder room, an entirely separate area containing shower, wide make-up table, colored wash basin and wall-to-wall mirror. The powder room is handy for visitors as well as providing an extra wash area for the family.

All Enchanted Homes have 3 bedrooms and 2 full baths, family room with wide breakfast bar, kitchen with built-in range and oven.

Price range of the homes is $15,200 to $15,400 on VA and FHA terms with low down payments. It was announced by Pioneer Land Co., sales agents.

To reach Godbey's Enchanted Homes from Long Beach take 7th St. (Garden Grove Blvd.) to Magnolia in Garden Grove, turn left to furnished models.

Excelsior Village Is Appealing

Located centrally between Long Beach, Santa Ana, Anaheim and the beach areas makes the Excelsior Village Homes ideal for the suburban commuter. This closeness to urban communities gives the families easy access to large metropolitan stores.

Vets can obtain one of these 4-bedroom (or 3-bedroom and a family room) homes with nothing down except costs and impounds. They get a home with 2 baths—glass enclosed showers included—forced air heating, and built-in ranges and ovens. There also is a built-in washer-dryer combination.

GIs are urged to drive out to see these homes. They are just across the street from a grammar school. Each house has hardwood kitchen cabinets furnishing plenty of space for storage. Also as an outstanding safety feature there are built-in fire alarm systems to protect the family at all times.

ON LOW TERMS TO VET

This is one of the models shown by Hi-Way 39 Plaza where veterans may qualify on low gross earnings and purchase the homes for a small down payment.

Vet Terms Are Low in Hi-way 39 Plaza

Veterans are required only a small down payment for impounds when they buy a Hi-way 39 Plaza home, Gilbert J. Hayes, sales agent, announced.

The homes are either 3-bedroom or 2 bedrooms and a den and are fully priced from $10,950 to $11,850. Total monthly payments range from $73 to $77 and include taxes, insurance, interest and principal.

A monthly gross income of $325 to $350 will qualify a veteran for one of these homes, Hayes said. Visitors from Long Beach may drive east on 7th St. to Huntington Beach Blvd. and turn right to the model homes which are close to the freeway, schools, churches, the beach and Disneyland.

Front lawns and shrubbery are included in the purchase price. A large 20 by 20-foot garage is provided. Homes are insulated, having sliding doors, large wardrobe closets, a guest closet, sliding glass doors in the kitchens, and some have separate dining rooms.

Custom-Built Style in Fairview Ranchos

Owners of the rambling automatic timer, built-in Dish-Prince Charming" series of master and semi-automatic dishwasher with a new rinsing-drying action, and sink-installed Waste King Pulverator. All built-ins are available in a wide variety of pastel colors.

Model homes may be reached from Long Beach by driving out 7th St. (which becomes Garden Grove Blvd) to Bristol; right on Bristol to Fairview and development.

"Custom-built styling and owner-built quality was the goal achieved by D. & E. officials when they designed and built these fantasy homes with such solid construction features as oak and ash, lath and plaster walls and ceilings, and heavy shake roofs," he added.

ADDING TO THE charm of traditional stylings, these 3-bedroom and 2-and-a-den, 2-bath homes are noteworthy for their low sweeping eaves, sparkling diamond-cut windows, bright exteriors, quaint shutters and rustic architectural used-brick detailing.

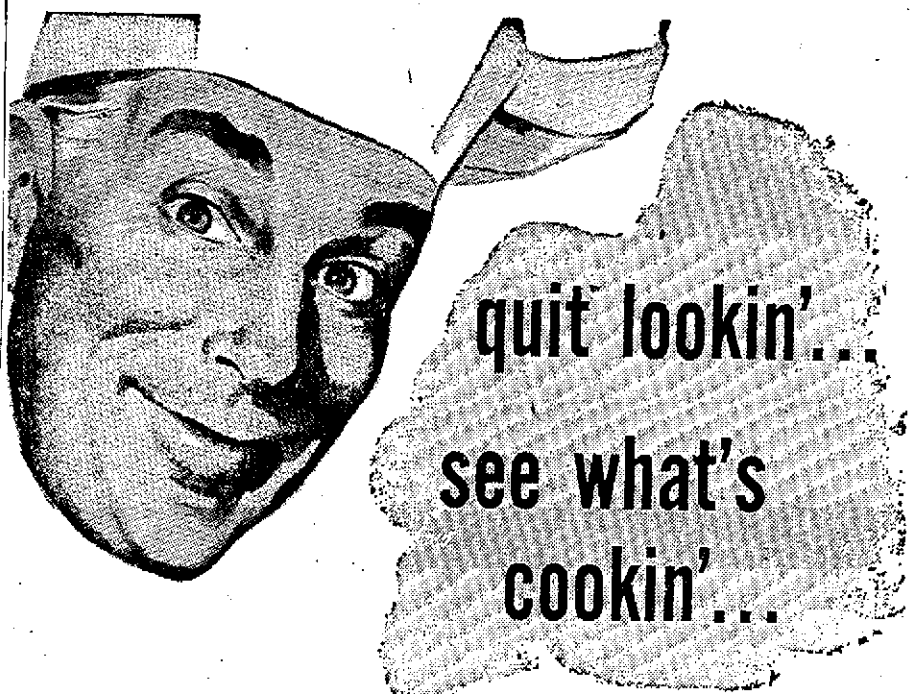

Step-saving kitchens star the new Waste King complete kitchen. These include Waste King gas range with automatic pilot, gas wall oven with window and

New Realty Selling Idea Gets Result

Recognizing that many Lakewood home owners are now in need of larger homes, the Lakewood Housing Corp. has devised a plan whereby many persons are obtaining the big homes through equity exchanges.

"We realized the major problem facing owners in this area is to obtain a larger home," said company owners, R. F. Murrill, J. C. Banes and Ed Strickler. The offices are at 5721 Bellflower Blvd. and 1935 E. Del Amo Blvd.

"If they selected another home prior to selling present properties it would mean paying on two mortgages while awaiting sale of present home or making hasty purchases after sale has been made."

The Lakewood Housing owners established two offices in Orange County, under the name of Atlas Realty, locations at 1112 N. Euclid and 1709 W. Lincoln, Anaheim.

The new equity exchange plan developed among the 4 combined offices has Banes handling details for the Lakewood area and Murrill and Strickler for the Anaheim, Garden Grove, Buena Park and Fullerton properties. Success of the plan was immediate. Several Lakewood property owners have acquired larger homes and in most cases several hundred dollars in cash.

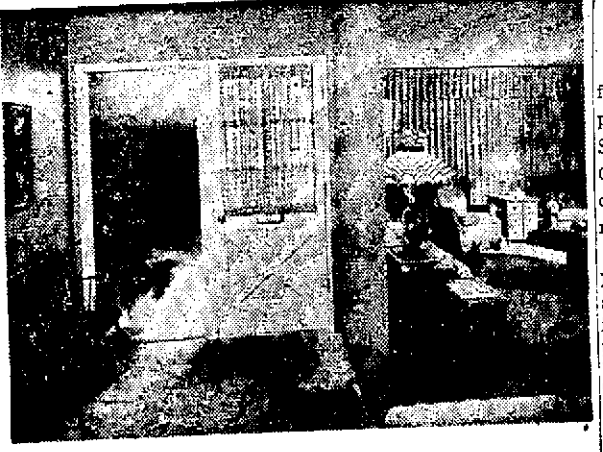

Lakewood Housing Corp. reports a gross sales record of over $2,500,000 in the first 6 months of this year in Lakewood area and Orange County.

Invests $412,591 in L. B. Loans

Investment of $412,591 in mortgage loans to finance real estate projects in Long Beach during the first half of 1936 was announced by the western home office of Prudential Insurance Co.

Peter F. McManus, Southern California regional manager for the company's mortgage loan department, said that all of this was for residential purposes.

During the six-month period a total of $56,919,430 was disbursed for loans throughout the entire 11 western states and Hawaii. Of this $44,082,444 was for residential loans; $4,170,592 for commercial and industrial properties, and $8,666,394 for farm loans.

IN SUNNY HILLS

Midwood's Estates Sales Are Soaring

Spokesman for Midwood's Signature Estates yesterday attributed large crowds of visitors and consistently high sales to availability of both VA and FHA terms, beautiful view-lots with 80-foot frontages and unusually desirable location in the fashionable Sunny Hills area of Fullerton.

"Because buyers know the number of 80-foot frontage sites are limited in their desirable area, they are moving with alacrity to acquire our new estate-class, luxury homes," explained James H. Waters, sales manager.

Priced from $22,490 to $24,220, and offered to vets and non-vets on VA and FHA terms, the new residences are located on El Dorado Drive, just north of Del Monte West, in the midst of an area noted for its many $30,000 to $100,000 homes, Waters added.

SPECIAL FEATURES are displayed and dramatized, he noted, in four attractive model homes with complete furnishings by Lloyd's of Long Beach. Foremost among the special attractions of the homes are all electric kitchens which have color-matched wall-hung refrigerators, freezers, built-in ranges and ovens, automatic washers and dryers, automatic dishwashers and garbage disposers. Colors selected by color coordinator Jenne Williams include turquoise green, woodtone brown, petal pink and canary yellow. Extras include wood burning fireplaces of Texas white stone, flagstone and used brick; entries and porches of flagstone; preview sliding aluminum windows, aluminum sliding glass doors, connecting indoor and outdoor living areas; paved patios; planters and veneers of quality materials; ash hardwood paneling in family rooms; select hardwood floors; real marble pullmans, and 105,000 BTU forced air heating with thermostat controls.

Candy Stick Home Giving Easy Terms

Availability of some homes for immediate occupancy has pushed sales forward at Candy Stick Lane Estates in Garden Grove, it was announced Saturday by builders of the development at 11791 Medina Dr.

The large 3-bedroom, 2-bath homes are offered to veterans at nothing down but costs and impounds, while non-veterans pay only $195, it was explained by an official of the property. The homes are priced at $12,875.

Featured are planter-view fireplaces, hardwood floors, 68-foot lots, covered patios, huge sliding glass doors, separate service porches, range hoods with fans, garbage disposers, steel wardrobe doors, large lighted closets and spacious breakfast nooks.

BUYERS HAVE been impressed also by the location of the development, which is rising in the center of a built-up luxury residential section in which many homes have been valued at $30,000 and more, according to the builders.

In qualifying eligibility for home ownership by non-vets, income of wives, as well as husbands, is taken into consideration, a spokesman explained. The property may be reached from Long Beach by following 7th St., which becomes

Offering Big Home,
Low Price

Living area of 1,300 square feet in the Hazelwood Freedom Homes is attracting buyers to these low price homes, the builder reports. Many low income families have found they were able to purchase new homes in Hazelwood, where it is possible to qualify with only $310 a month income. This means that many families that have waited to buy a larger living area home can now purchase a 1,300 sq. ft. Hazelwood Home at their present low income, salesmen say. Lovely exteriors, colorfully decorated interiors catch their eye. The large master bedroom appeals to both mom and dad—it gives room to breathe in the cool suburban, fresh air during your sleeping hours and plenty of dressing room during the day time.

HAZELWOOD is a community of fine neighbors, with over 200 home-owning families. They share the luxury and comfort of this snug suburban community of large lots, paved street and sidewalks, close to fine new schools. Churches and shopping are convenient to every housewife in Hazelwood, as well as the close proximity to Long Beach.

Each of these homes has a landscaped yard with plenty of space to move around in summer and winter.

Drive out 7th St. from Long Beach to see the furnished models. Hazelwood Homes are just 3 miles beyond the San Gabriel River on 7th St.

THE COMPLETELY convincing proof of the above statement is in the homes themselves. Every inch of construction, every phase of finish, every tiny detail of decoration and color co-ordination eloquently says "expensive". Homes of exquisite design that were created to give the discriminating home buyer the best in gracious and comfortable living for his family. The interiors were carefully designed to give an atmosphere of peace and tranquility; their character is warm and "homey" and wonderfully restful. You will agree when you see Cinderella Homes that they are indeed "the buy of a lifetime in which you will want to spend a lifetime."

Community Playhouse Shines Spotlight on Youth

SCENE TO TURN BACK HEARTS AND MEMORIES to the days when sturdy virtues shone cleanly through a simpler pattern of living, "I Remember Mama," which will open at Community Playhouse Aug. 3 for a seven-week run, will recall long-ago days in San Francisco. Larry Johns (left), director, poses members of the cast for a family portrait: Jack Munson as Nels; Charlotte Durham as Mama; (seated) Carol Nelson, Katrin; Marcia Merritt, Dagmar; Gloria Cole, Christine, and, on the floor, Steven Cobb, who will play Arne. Marcia's cat, Tabby, is in the cast, too, as "Uncle Elizabeth."

TRYOUT TIME BRINGS EAGER HOPEFULS to read for parts. Some appear in costume to set a mood and bolster self-confidence. To keep the production schedule of Community Playhouse on time, tryouts for the succeeding play are held each Monday evening after opening night. On Aug. 6 aspirants will try out for the forthcoming "State of the Union." Britisher Patrick Spencer (right) reads for (from left) Betty Stantz, Pamela Derryberry, Dick Lewis, Marjorie Short and Nancy Spencer. All won parts in "I Remember Mama." Each new play brings out new talent in all age groups.

STRICTLY OUT-OF-DATE for bobby-soxers are the turn of the century costumes which lend "I Remember Mama" nostalgic charm. In the well-stocked wardrobe room of Community Playhouse actors appraise the fashions which will add atmosphere to the play. Eugene Knoerr (front, left) selects a shirt to wear as Papa Hanson, while Elizabeth Bergstrom and Frank Satariano eye a frilly gown. Carole Joy is absorbed in her own problem of umbrella selection visualizing her ensemble.

'Mama' Cast Polished for First Night

By ELISE EMERY

Young people will have a chance to don greasepaint when Community Playhouse swings wide its doors at 5021 E. Anaheim St. Aug. 3 for the opening performance of its summer play, "I Remember Mama."

Like a friendly handclasp, the Community Playhouse is a two-way proposition. In the most literal sense it is sustained by the community, drawing its financial support, its actors and its technical staff from the area.

Just as tangibly it yields rich dividends. In the center stage theater, under the professional guidance of Larry Johns, director, volunteers interested in acting, directing, set design, construction, painting, lighting and sound effects receive thorough training.

In addition, the community benefits from the intangible cultural stimulation which the theater quickens and enlivens, sharpening interest in drama. For the past quarter century, Community Playhouse has served a civic need. Mrs. Walter Case, business manager and president of the board, has charted the financial course of the organization since its beginning, and has contributed her wise aid in countless ways.

Perhaps the unique value of the summer program is its decisive cut through age barriers. Young people and adults forget the hedge of years as they savor the best part of living — working together to produce something for the enjoyment of others.

In the heart-plucking "I Remember Mama," adapted by John Van Druten from Kathryn Forbes' "Mama's Bank Account," Charlotte Durham, who has appeared in 20 plays for the theater in the past 10 years, takes the title role.

Youngest member of the cast is Marcia Merritt, 9, who will play Dagmar. Her cat, Tabby, a stagestruck character, hasn't missed a rehearsal for his part as "Uncle Elizabeth." He considers the theater his natural home, and when the Merritt family started for a visit to Marcia's grandmother one evening, Tabby jumped in the car, ready to head stageward.

Carol Nelson, 13, a Long Beach City College student, won the important role of Katrin. She tried out for a part in last summer's play, failed to get it, and came back again this year. A drama major, she wants to combine the career of actress and housewife.

Like most other members of the cast, Jack Munson, 15, tried out for the part of Nels after reading the newspaper announcement of tryouts. He

THE CREW BEHIND THE CAST is as essential to the play's success as the tree trunk is to the showy green leaves dancing on its boughs. Typical of the volunteers whose after-hours work will assure a successful production are (from left) Fred Capouch, who also will portray Mr. Thorkelson in the play; Lowell Fredrickson, Charlotte Shuman and Katherine Shuman. The women are twins and are artists who have donated their considerable talents to many civic enterprises.—(All photos by Staff Photographer H. S. Melvin.)

Tea Fetes Two Peninsula Newcomers

Enthusiasm for their beloved peninsula bubbled over into party proceedings Friday when Mrs. Gilbert C. Wagner, 5912 Bay Shore Wk., entertained other bay shore residents at a "welcome to the peninsula" tea honoring newcomers, Mrs. McIntyre Faries and daughter, Mrs. Milo W. Bekins Jr.,

The Faries have recently purchased a bay front home, and will divide their time between Long Beach and San Marino, as will the Bekins of West Los Angeles.

Mrs. Wagner selected colorful red and white carnations with magnolia blossoms as tea table centerpiece arranged on a cloth of white lace over red. Assisting with hostessing duties were Mrs. A. Rush Martin, a sister of Mrs. Faries, Mrs. Ryland R. Madison, Mrs. Sidney T. Exley and Mrs. Sidney T. Exley Jr., and bay front neighbors of the newcomers, Mmes. Harold G. Appleton, Llewellyn Bixby Jr., Don Pratt, Cyril S. Tipton, William G. Durning and Frederick Kellogg.

To Attend Luau at Arrowhead

Three Long Beach couples, the Lloyd S. Whaleys, Ryan G. Whisenants, and J. E. Brains, will be among guests Aug. 4 when Lake Arrowhead Yacht Club stages its annual luau at the fashionable North Shore Tavern at the lake.

Authentic Hawaiian dishes will be served, and guests will hear music of the islands especially imported for the occasion.

Gay Events Honor Visiting Colemans

Among the many merry gatherings taking place today in Recreation Park is a picnic to be given by Mrs. Frank Colton and Mrs. Marian Harvey honoring Maj. and Mrs. William R. (Bill) Coleman who are visiting from Waco, Tex.

Although Long Beach is the home of the Colemans, they have not been in the Southland for more than two years and during their visit they are being entertained by their many friends here.

Festivities at the picnic today will be heightened by the presence of the children of many of the guests who will join the Colemans' youngsters, Sally and Bill, at the outing.

Other weekend entertaining took place Saturday night when Mr. and Mrs. William Shirey entertained a group of friends in their home, 3676 Carfax Ave.

During their stay the Colemans are guests of Mrs. Coleman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Rich, 319 Euclid Ave. Major Coleman is stationed at Connally Air Force Base in Waco.

Living Masterpieces Continue at Laguna

By VERA WILLIAMS
Independent Press-Telegram Art Editor

Two weeks remain in which to see the 21st annual Festival of Arts and Pageant of the Masters at the seaside art colony of Laguna Beach. During the 30 days and nights of the annual community event, which closes Aug. 12, six acres of Festival of Arts grounds becomes a creative midway, displaying the output of sculptors, painters, craftsmen and allied handicraft workers.

A special gallery of contemporary art is sponsored by the Laguna Beach Art Assn. Of special interest to the visitors are the demonstrations and "working exhibits" of many artists and craftsmen.

The Festival grounds are open daily from 1 p. m.

The Pageant of the Masters is presented at 8:30 nightly in Irvine Bowl, when the world's heritage of great painting and sculpture comes to life under the stars, with 300 men, women and children of the art colony serving as models.

Three entirely different programs, produced by Clarence Upson Young, are presented

Mrs. Joseph Spinelli

Californians Seat Leaders

Mrs. Joseph Spinelli was installed as president of Young Californians Tuesday during a meeting at the Bank of Belmont Shore Banquet Room.

Also installed by Mrs. Robert Wilmont, installing officer, were Mrs. Dean Jones, vice president; Mrs. Robert Folger, recording secretary; Mrs. Dickson Braley, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Jack Buehn, treasurer; Mrs. Donald Wilson, publicity.

Mrs. Gene Cheek, retiring leader of the group, presented a gift to Mrs. Richard Scott as outstanding member for the past term. Mrs. Robert Wilmont also was recognized for the generous use of her home for Young Californian activities.

Refreshments were served and bridge enjoyed during the social hour arranged by Mrs. Scott.

Island Visitors

Leaving Thursday for a well-earned week of rest at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel in Honolulu was Aaron Schultz, president of this year's Miss Universe Pageant, and Mrs. Schultz. Making the entire trip by air, they plan to spend time visiting with friends before their return to Long Beach this week.

on successive nights under the direction of John Callan, Lyle Robertson and George Pletts. Narrators and script-writers for this season's pageant are Brainerd Duffield, television actor and writer; David Iredell, Art Gallery curator and artist; and Rugs Potter, who is heard for his ninth consecutive season.

With the single exception of "The Last Supper," no subject is repeated on all three programs. Among the many new living reproductions are "Bacchus and Ariadne" by Titian; "Mystery of Life" by Gazerri; "Hercules and Lica" by Canova; "September Morn" by Chabas; "Daring Researcher" by West and "Young Girls at the Piano" by Renoir.

Climax comes in the "command performances" of Aug. 10, 11 and 12. These programs are made up of popular favorites selected by audience vote during earlier performances.

One hundred masterpieces selected from the Walter P. Chrysler Jr. collection fill six of the largest galleries in the Los Angeles County Museum, Exposition Park, Los Angeles. Pictures by Titian, Rembrandt, Rubens, Goya, Cozanne, Monet, Matisse and other masters are shown. The exhibition which opened last Friday, ends Aug. 26.

Also featured at the County Museum are period costumes and historical textiles, and a portrait of Stephen Collins Foster by Frederick R. Spencer, recent acquisitions.

Fifty water colors by contemporary artists of six countries will go on display Wednesday in the 25th floor Tower Gallery of the Los Angeles City Hall, when the Municipal Arts Department sponsors the showing of the third international Hallmark Art Award exhibit.

Included in the display, in which all the works are keyed to the theme of Christmas, are paintings by such internationally famed artists as the late Maurice Utrillo of France and California's own Millard Sheets and Sueo Serisawa.

Couple Plan to Marry

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Buffington, 820 E. 37th St., announce the engagement of their daughter, Corinne, to Harold D. Schweppe, formerly of Vincent, Iowa, now a resident of Long Beach.

Miss Buffington recently returned from Provo, Utah, where she studied at Brigham Young University. While attending she was affiliated with Aloyone social unit. Schweppe, after four years with the Air Force, came to Long Beach and began his studies at Long Beach City College.

The couple recently vacationed with Mr. and Mrs. Buffington in Iowa and Nebraska to discuss the coming wedding plans with his parents and family there. The wedding will take place Aug. 18.

POLYNESIAN PARADISE

In their exotic prints, handmade leis and earrings, Mmes. George Nason, Gerald Tollefson and Leland Beckett look more like Hawaiian natives than members of La Sertoma Club readying for a luau Saturday night at White's Point. But the truth is that they are among the many La Sertomas hard at work to make the fourth annual fund-raising project an evening their guests will long remember.

TOTE THAT SHOVEL!

Sand castles? Not this time. Mrs. Charles Skillman, Mrs. Wally Stolz and Mr. Stolz dig deep into the sand to make a glowing pit for roast pig, piece de resistance of La Sertoma Club's feast amidst the palms at White's Point. Opening of the pit at 7 p. m. calls for a traditional Hawaiian roast pig ceremony.—(Staff photos.)

Sister Kenny Events Fill Fall, Winter Calendar

Although summer usually signifies a time for relaxation, Sister Kenny Auxiliary members have spent busy summer days filling the calendar with future events.

Mrs. Harold Heidenreich will entertain Aug. 21 with a luncheon benefit in her home, 3908 Camerino Ave.

Reciprocity meeting for the Long Beach Presidents Club will take place Sept. 2 at the Kenny Memorial Hospital in El Monte. Hostesses will be Mrs. Lester B. Cooper, president, and Mrs. Thomas Carr, first vice president, assisted by Mrs. W. M. Drowne, president of the Presidents Club. Luncheon that day is scheduled for 1 p. m., to be followed by a tour of the hospital and grounds, viewing of a polio rehabilitation film, presentation of the staff and therapists, and serving of tea.

An Oriental tea is planned by Mrs. Frank Ellsworth in

Teachers Set August Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Clair O. Longmire of Cullom, Ill., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Lois Carol, to Wendell R. Whitener, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Whitener, 6184 California Ave.

The wedding will take place Aug. 18.

Miss Longmire was graduated from the University of Illinois with a degree in home economics. She was a member of Kappa Delta sorority and Delta Omicron, honorary music fraternity. Her fiancé was graduated from New Mexico Western College with a degree in mathematics, and received his master's degree from Long Beach State College.

Shower Flurry Precedes Pauline Nelson's Wedding

As her wedding date draws nearer, Miss Pauline Winifred Nelson is ensnared in an exciting round of pre-nuptial courtesies and wedding activities.

Kitchen gifts from 20 friends were opened Wednesday by the bride-elect at a shower given by Mrs. Paul Perry in the home of her mother, Mrs. Charles Morrison, 3805 E. 2nd St. The hostess suspended three white wedding bells and streamers over the refreshment table whose appointments were all in white.

Earlier in the week the bride-elect and her fiancé, Robert A. Reiff of South Pasadena, were honored at a cocktail and patio supper party for 16 couples in the Pasadena home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Thorne Andrews. Gifts of linen from 25 guests were presented Miss Nelson when Mmes. Harlan Miller Jr., George R. Moore and Mitchell O. Dion Jr. entertained recently in the Miller home, 1132 E. 1st St.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Nelson, 258 Granada Ave., Miss Nelson will become the bride of Mr. Reiff on Aug. 25 in St. Bartholomew's Catholic Church. For her matron of honor she has chosen Mrs. Hugh C. Carter (Helen Newcomb) while Miss Marcia Perry Stapp of La Canada will act as maid of honor. The wedding reception will take place in the Red Velvet Room of the Lafayette Hotel.

Braids Host Garden Party

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Braid, 801 W. Patterson St., entertained 75 guests last weekend at their 14th annual garden party. Cocktails and snacks were served during the afternoon while various party games and dancing were in order.

A special surprise for guests was news that the day celebrated the host's 28th wedding anniversary.

Honeymoon at Tahoe

Mrs. Gene F. Friese

A family heirloom cameo, more than 100 years old and worn by four brides before her, was chosen as "something old" by Sonja Lee Begsley for her marriage to Gene F. Friese in First Baptist Church of Lakewood. Rev. Harold S. Carlson read the July 20 evening service before nearly 200 friends and relatives of the bridal couple.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. William J. Begsley, 4808 Hazelbrook, wore a floor-length gown of satin and lace and a crown of seed pearls from which fell a finger-tip illusion veil. She held a bouquet of lilies of the valley, stephanotis and white orchids.

Attending the bride were matron of honor Mrs. G. J. Andrews, bridesmaids Mrs. James Geston, Miss Dorothy Redfield and Miss Gloria Paul and little flower girl Barbara Elliff.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Friese of 4862 Faculty Ave., chose James Geston to be his best man. Seating guests were Robert Schilling, William Beer and Gilbert Andrews, while Craig Andrews was ring bearer.

Following a reception at the church, the newlyweds left on a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe. They will make their home at 3374 Lees Ave.

The bride is a graduate of Wilson High School and affiliated with F.B.E.A. Her husband, an alumnus of Polytechnic High School, attended Long Beach City College.

Miss Fisher Says Vows

A single strand of pearls, gift from the bridegroom, enhanced the bridal radiance of Wanda Lynn Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon A. Fisher, 1885 Chestnut, as she spoke wedding vows with Richard Dale Hogate in recent services at North Long Beach Methodist Church.

Preceding the bride and her father down the aisle was Roger Hogate, brother of the bridegroom, to light the state-ly tapers which would cast their soft glow on the nuptial ceremony read by Rev. Roy C. Mason.

The bride's floor-length gown was fashioned with sweetheart neckline, lace bodice and long torso, and a finger-tip-length veil fell from a pearl-studded tiara. In her hands she held a white orchid atop a white Bible.

Members of the entourage included the bride's sister, Mrs. JoeAnn Peterson as matron of honor; bridesmaids Misses Dianne Largamaco and Janice Cole, niece and cousin of the bride; best man James Hogate, brother of the bridegroom; ushers Ralph Turner, Fred Anderson and Sterling Fisher, the bride's brother; flower girl Kathy Shafer and ring bearers Paula Fisher and Noel Peterson.

The bride is a graduate of Wilson High School and Long Beach City College B.T.D. Her husband, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hogate, 3063 Carfax Ave., was schooled in Fresno. The newlyweds are now residing at 830 Chestnut, Apt. 12, following a honeymoon in Las Vegas, Lake Tahoe and San Francisco.

Card Party

World War I Auxiliary 599 will sponsor a public card party at noon Monday at Mottell's Garden Room. Luncheon will be served by Minnie L. Norman, president, and Clara Boyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Howard Sippel

Sippel-Kelly Names Joined in Ritual

In a double-ring ceremony solemnized July 15 at Carlsbad Union Church, Marvin Howard Sippel claimed Lucia Carolyn Kelly for his bride. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan O. Kelly of Carlsbad, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Sippel, 3621 Gundry Ave.

For the ceremony, read by the Rev. Roy D. Brokenshire, the bride chose a gown of tulle and lace over white satin. A pearl crown caught her elbow-length veil, and she carried a cascade of white phalaenopsis orchids and bouvardia.

In the bridal entourage were Miss Karlene Mattiesen, maid of honor, and Misses Margie Wilkin, Ann Howard and Joanne Gire, bridesmaids. Bradford Merrill Jr. served as best man, while ushers were Dwight Hoelscher, Gary Wrench and Allan Kelly, brother of the bride. Scott Woodland, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

The newlyweds met on the Whittier College campus where the bride was affiliated with Metaphonian Society and the bridegroom with Lancer Society. He majored in physical education and was active in basketball and track during his school years at Polytechnic High School, and Long Beach City College and Whittier.

The Sippels will be at home in Denver, Colo., while the bridegroom completes his term of service at Fitzsimons Army Hospital.

Miss Marion L. Graham

November Plans Told

Plans are being made for a November wedding by Miss Marion L. Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Graham, 4216 Stanbridge Ave., and Howard C. Nielsen of Garden Grove.

The bride-to-be attended Polytechnic High School, Bob Jones University in South Carolina and Long Beach City College. She was graduated in June from Huntington Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in Pasadena.

Her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Nielsen of South Beloit, Ill., received his schooling in Illinois and served four years with the U. S. Navy.

Lace Gown for Bride

A lovely white orchid encircled with stephanotis was carried by Lee Breitfeller, 2202½ E. 65th St., as she walked with her father to the altar of St. Anthony's Catholic Church to become the bride of John Joseph Laughlin in double ring services Saturday.

For the morning Nuptial Mass, the young bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Breitfeller of the Bronx, N. Y., chose a waltz-length gown of white Chantilly lace with sweetheart neckline and short sleeves. A dainty crown dotted with tiny pearls and iridescent sequins caught her shoulder-length illusion veil.

Mrs. Forrest Baker, as matron of honor, carried a bouquet of yellow roses in contrast to her pale green taffeta waltz-length gown.

Attending the bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas Mahan of Temple City, were his brother, Martin Laughlin, and usher Forrest Baker.

Workshop Elects Board

For a second year Ray Holsted will serve as president of Singers Workshop. He was elected and installed at a meeting last week in the home of Laura Killingsworth.

On his staff will be Ray Griffith, vice president; Pat Schmidt, treasurer, and Ruth Strand, secretary.

Betty Arntzen, Ray Chace, Betty Shimer, Stan Toppen and Harvey Wagner will serve as board members.

Following the election, the board laid plans and financial arrangements for "The Vagabond King" to be presented in October. Henri Scanlon, producer-director of the Workshop, led the discussion.

Native Daughters

The August calendar of events for Long Beach Parlor 154 Native Daughters of the Golden West is spotlighted with two major events, the first being a business meeting and party at 7:30 p. m. on Aug. 2 in Morgan Hall, 835 Locust.

On Aug. 8 members will tour the Greek Orthodox Cathedral of Saint Sophia in Los Angeles, considered by many as one of the most beautiful churches in the world, and then move on to the Los Angeles County Museum where they will view the Walter Chrysler Jr. art exhibit.

Reservations for the tour may be made with Ellen Woodyard, 182 Argonne Ave.

Television Mislays Art

By ILKA CHASE

Time was when I had few kind words for the Philistines. In my book Philistine applied to business, Wall St., the military, commerce and labor, categories which I considered to be deficient in the Higher Values. Higher value candidates were, possibly, professional men but primarily the creators and interpreters of Art. The rest were crasser clay.

Well, time marches on. I am beginning to think differently. I now consider it more important to do a job well even when, from my point of view, it is a prosaic job, than to be an inefficient artist.

The factor largely responsible for this change of heart is television. Summer is upon us and in this season, with few exceptions, the one first-rate thing about television is the instrument itself. The physical object is the product of engineers and mechanics, manufacturers and distributors and the old Philistines are far outdoing those sensitive spiritual creatures, the actors, writers and producers.

Obviously not all programs are bad. Sports are vividly presented, many of the panel shows are bright, good humored and good fun; the news is succinct and dispassionate and public figures face the press, the nation and, God help them, the nation's youth with a good deal of courage and self-control. The actualities, so to speak, hold their own but that still leaves about 20 hours a day and a barren spell it is.

TWO EXCEPTIONS

No, I haven't forgotten Ed Sullivan or This Is Your Life or the $64,000 Question but I have to confess that as regards the first, even in the days of the Palace, vaudeville was not my dish. Unfortunately, I saw a couple of brilliant television burlesques of This Is Your Life, one of them Sid Caesar's, and have tended to come apart at the seams ever since as one friend and relative after another enters and throws themselves in tears upon the Life.

On the $64,000 Question some of the contestants are provocative figures but the charm of Mr. Hal March eludes me. His yearning for intimacy with the people who are answering the questions baffles me. That man must be desperate for friends. He is certainly desperately uneasy if he has to call anybody by his surname and when the gypsy printer, who chose as his category the Civil War, politely and quite correctly — in view of the fact that he had just met him — called Mr. March "sir," the quiz master's frantic pleas that he be called Hal were painful to witness.

But these programs at least are live. Consider, if you have the strength, the filmed shows. Over old movies I draw a veil of silence. It is all very well to live life to the hilt but some experiences are too horrible to contemplate.

Let us turn only to filmed television shows. With outstanding exceptions such as I Love Lucy, Phil Silvers' Sgt. Bilko and the best of Our Miss Brooks, most of them can serve handily as emetics. I think the reason these particular ones stand out is that they are not so all fired homey as the rest of the clutch. Here and there a ray of malice penetrates. A fragment of honest human exasperation, a selfish motive, gleams like pure gold in a morass of taffy.

INSIPID, PERHAPS

Not so with the others. Take Father Knows Best. Oh, the family has its little misunderstandings, but fundamentally it's "sunny side up." They're all as clean as hounds teeth, terribly, terribly decent, and their troubles are due to a temporary misinterpretation of Boy-Scout-pure motives, not to any common or garden variety orneriness in human nature.

I've been taking them for a long time and have in fact considerable affection for them. Just the same it would do me a world of good to learn that they were sitting in their California ranch-type hillside home with shades drawn, swilling liquor and cheating at cards. After a certain amount of wholesome locked-in goodness I begin to shy.

The man Silvers comes as an astringent tonic. Since this is television, Sgt. Bilko's shenanigans are performed relatively freshmen but you feel that the will to defraud is there. Here is a spirit who takes unholy relish in mulcting his fellow man. Here is an affable swindler who sharpens his wits on the trust his brethren place in him and gleefully fills his pockets with their hard earned cash. A malingering, a cajoler of females for nefarious purpose, airily flouting the authority he circumvents with glib ingenuity, Sgt. Bilko is nature's nobleman.

Beside him the goody-goody husbands, the wholesome, loyal wives, the anguished heroines fade away. Beside him what is Elvis Presley? What indeed? I read that Ed Sullivan is paying Presley $50,000 for three appearances. I do not agree with my friends who cry, "Insane!" "Disgusting!" On the contrary, I would like to see Mr. Presley make $500,000 in one week tax-free. He could then enter into the reward that would bring happiness to so many and that he so richly deserves: permanent retirement.

Bride-Elect Is Honored

Miss Patricia Shearer, who will become the bride of Albert E. Adams Jr. on Aug. 17, was honored recently at a bridal shower given by Mrs. Ernest Brunswig in her 6102 Brayton Ave. home.

Beautiful pink and white flowers and a wedding ring centerpiece with gay nut cups were used to carry out the nuptial theme on the refreshment table.

Attending were Mrs. Jess Cain, mother of the bridegroom-to-be, and Mrs. Bobby Long, Miss Dorothy Adams and Miss Barbara Adams, sisters of the benedict-elect from Monrovia; Mrs. Harold Shearer, Mrs. Albert Pearce and Miss Penny Shearer, mother, grandmother and sister respectively of the honoree.

Others bidden were Mmes. Victor Shearer, Ross Strena, Les Vincente, Robert Boyce, Lynn Brady, James Atchison, Robert Boyce Jr., Gary Bothke, William Welty, George Shaver and Arnold Brunswig; Misses Carol McElroy, Sue Beck, Carol Downey, Lorraine Crow and Jean Goss.

Republican Women Keep Busy Schedule

Even through summer vacation time, Long Beach Council of Republican Women keep right on working. Maybe that is why it is the largest women's Republican club in California.

A luncheon recently at Marineland honored 10 members bringing in the largest number of new members to the club during the National Membership Drive from Jan. 1 to June 15. Present at the luncheon were Mmes. H. P. Dunlop, Glen Purvine, M. E. Ridenour, J. S. Huskey, F. Howard Merriam, W. H. Gillis, John Probst, Fred G. Capouch Jr., E. J. Glover, Logan H. Goodnight, Mrs. Ella Wade, Mrs. Mary Nyren, Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell and Mrs. Zelma Burson Schooling. Mrs. E. J. Glover received a prize for bringing in the greatest number of new members of any club in Los Angeles County, a total of 33.

Planning ahead for the fashion show scheduled by the Council of Republican Women on Sept. 20 at Lakewood Country Club, means many hours of committee meetings. One such meeting took place recently at Lakewood Country Club with Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell as hostess. Fashion show committee members present were Mrs. Esther McCaughan, general chairman, and Mmes. D. LeRoy Letart, Ralph S. Bowdle, Louis O'Bryan, F. Howard Merriam, W. H. Gillis, John Probst, H. P. Dunlop and Marion Polhill.

was graduated from Bancroft Junior High School in June and will enter new Millikan High School in the fall.

Gloria Cole, 13, delighted with her first brush with the theater, wants to study at Pasadena Playhouse when she finishes high school. She'll be in the ninth grade at Rogers Junior High School in the autumn.

Steven Cobb, 11, a student at St. Bartholomew School, names acting as his first career choice—failing that, he'll be a veterinarian.

Larry Johns sums up his opinion of young people and the theater this way:

"Children are so easy to work with because they don't have to unlearn. A director must know exactly what he wants youngsters to do, because they'll remember first direction and don't want to change without a good reason."

By opening night, the 18 members of the "Mama" cast will have put in 4,360 hours of rehearsal time and the technical staff will have worked 450 hours. Although the average play draws from 3,000 to 5,000 playgoers, this one with its several young actors may exceed that figure. Youth is a magnet for youth, and the wise, gentle, tender play will draw entire families.

Their common interest in the theater has drawn together this cross section of the community:

Eugene Knoerr, a supervisor at Douglas, will play Papa. Also Frank Satariano, TRANSITION MAGIC

Bright answer to the mid-season dress problem is silk, shown here in designs by House of Lord's. Its fresh seasonless quality looks, and feels, cool on the hottest summer day, yet is perfect for autumn afternoons and for "don't dress" winter evenings. Easily bloused backs keynote the above styles in tawny brown, wine and green stripes. Available locally.

Silver Preserves Even Temperature

America's first silversmiths made flagons, beakers and tankards from which pious Puritans drank New England rum.

Many of these old drinking vessels, now the property of churches in and around Boston, are frequently on loan to museums. Silver is believed to preserve an even temperature and is considered the best container for drinks, hot or cold. But silversmiths no longer make such enormous beakers as were made for the Puritans.

Ebell Jrs. Make Plans

Officers of Ebell Juniors, led by president Mrs. Robert F. Carter, had their first board meeting of the year recently when they gathered for luncheon at the home of Mrs. Thomas B. Turner, 3919 Lewis Ave.

In addition to the monthly meetings, the board has made plans for a number of special activities during the year. First on this list will be two brunches which Ebell Jrs. will hostess on Aug. 15 and 22 at the Ebell clubhouse. Next event to take place will be the annual Cotton Ball, at Lakewood Country Club on Aug. 24.

Anticipate Hey-Day in Hats

There is "more hat" news for Fall than in years, for hats top the new fashion excitement of the new season. Your Fall wardrobe will be as smart as your hat collection—anything less would be "old hat" and fashion foolish.

Budget foolish, too, because the new bulkier silhouettes, the most exciting new fashion colors, are at their head-turning best in modestly priced wool felts. Every woman can well afford a wonderful hat collection this fall and no smart gal can afford to be without hats, hats, hats.

The hat is the focus of Fall fashions, in both silhouette and color news and wonderful wool felts richly deserve first place in color appeal that adds depth and glow to high fidelity shades with kitten-soft finishes, brushed furry luxury, tempting tweedy mixtures and a fine hand for quality and a "more expensive" look.

This new season's "hatter hats" excel in face framing flattering and are the strong personality types of "this year of the hat." Easy-to-wear clothes have deep crowns and a choice of brim widths for verve and variety. The bulky clothes compound their fashion interest in tweedy mixtures of beiges and grays, coppery browns and forest greens.

Dressier hats are brimful of news, in the casablanca silhouette with shallow crown and deep brim. Here, the width of the brim is a versatile span—close and curving or broad and beautiful and at least two versions of the casablanca belong in every new season hat wardrobe—for both the New Look and for new color interest.

Beloved berets have added bulk to their comfortable fit and fitness for many occasion wear. The same desire to please is apparent in the bulkier pill boxes that cushion their edges for a new look at the threshold of a new season.

Among the sophisticates of the new season domes rises to new heights in a variety of sizes to suit every taste, with bumper edge bulk to satisfy the smartest wish. The glamour magic of face veils is still with us, for domes and clothes and casabancas.

Stephenson-English Vows Solemnized by Candlelight

With the glow of flickering candlelight casting its romantic spell over the nuptial scene, Joanne Marie English became the bride of Arthur Lawrence Stephenson Jr., 400 La Loma, in ceremonies July 21 at St. Timothy's Lutheran Church in Lakewood.

The Rev. Alvin Storbick read the double ring service which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank I. English, 4735 Woodruff, Lakewood, and the son of Arthur Lawrence Stephenson Sr. of San Francisco.

For the evening service and reception which followed in the church social hall, the attractive bride chose a ballerina-length gown of Chantilly lace with scalloped neck and long sleeves pointed at the wrist-line. Lace paneling swept down the front of the bouffant tiered skirt of lace and tulle, and a fingertip-length veil of illusion cascaded from a pearl tiara. Seven butterfly orchids, sprays of stephanotis and long white streamers comprised the bridal bouquet.

A pale pink gown of nylon lace of tulle was worn by maid of honor Miss Helen Boll, while pale shades of blue were chosen for the gowns of bridesmaids Misses Connie Gold and Diana Sanders. All wore large picture hats to match their gowns and carried cascades of white carnations.

The bridegroom was attended by his best man, Robert Stephenson of San Francisco, and guests were escorted to their seats by Joseph Alfano and Frank I. English Jr.

Both newlyweds attended Long Beach City College, where the bride, a graduate of Wilson High School, was a member of Dashahara. Her husband, who received his early schooling in Memphis, Tenn., is affiliated with the Long Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce.

They will make their home at 5277 La Loma after a wedding trip to Las Vegas.

Gay Event Ahead for Officers Wives

By VIRGINIA NEWTON

Making gay plans for a mid-summer luncheon, the popular Officers Wives Club of Long Beach is preparing to meet on Tuesday, Aug. 7, at the Officers Club, Allen Center. The regular meeting time has been moved up to 12 noon to allow more time for afternoon bridge.

Senior hostess will be Mrs. Forrest Brown; wives of officers of the Navy Supply Corps in this area.

All members are reminded to bring a white elephant to be sold at the club's benefit brunch Aug. 15.

New residents here from the Coast Guard Academy in New London, Conn., are Cmdr. and Mrs. William K. Earle and their twins.

Right now they are touring California getting acquainted with their new state. The middle of August the officer will take command of the Coast Guard cutter Ponchartrain.

Wives of officers attached to the USS Roanoke entertained recently at a delightful party as a farewell to Mrs. J. E. La Barr and Mrs. D. C. Goldie. Hostesses for the event were Mmes. J. A. Burke, J. S. Blake and R. W. Scott.

Last Friday afternoon the Officers Wives Club of the Long Beach Air Force Base enjoyed a friendship coffee welcoming new members. Hostesses were Mrs. Charles Burton and Mrs. Clyde Fleming. Many of the guests remained for an afternoon of cards.

Going with Capt. Nick Di Giglio to Chicago where he will attend six weeks of school will be Mrs. Di Giglio who will visit relatives there.

Cmdr. M. Steltenkamp and Mrs. Steltenkamp, who was one of the Miss Universe hostesses, entertained at a barbecue recently honoring one of "her girls," Miss Colorado, who is Karen Keller. Miss Keller is seeing California with her parents, who are here from Denver, Colo.

Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. James W. Dodson and Patty Darlene and Mike are busy packing gear getting ready for a summer move. In a few weeks they'll be going to Cleveland, Ohio, where Lt. Cmdr. Dodson will assume command as director of the Coast Guard Auxiliary there.

Friday the Air Force Officers Wives Club will meet at the Long Beach Air Force Base for a potluck luncheon, followed by entertainment supplied by the Baker Dance Studios.

New resident here awaiting her husband's return from the Far East is Mrs. Francis Foley. She and her daughter are here from the east. Capt. Foley is an Amphibious Division commander.

Last Thursday an attractive baby shower, gay in the pretty blues and pinks of Babyland, was the order of the afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. D. Bixt. She was assisted by Mrs. H. D. Sturm in honoring Mrs. Norma Skartland. Attending were the wives of officers attached to NAS, Los Alamitos.

Lots of excitement at the home of former Lt. (jg) Al Kausch and Mrs. Kausch with his arrival home from the Far East. He is now a brand new civilian. The young couple with their son, Mike, are busy packing to fly home to visit relatives in Rochester, N. Y. From there they will go on to

GOP Slates Fashion Show

Final plans for the group's annual fashion show Aug. 4 at Lakewood Country Club were completed at a recent board meeting of Southeast County Republican Women at the home of Mrs. Ira Batdorf.

According to Mrs. Louis Murray, fashion show chairman, the day will feature styles from Columbia Department Stores who are cooperating with the Long Beach Fashion Guild in presenting the show. Also planned is an organ concert by Reba Kirk, and dances on the lawn by students of the Wells Scott Studio.

The public is welcome, and tickets may be obtained through Mrs. Charles Teasley Jr., ticket chairman; Mrs. Frank Lowry, president, or at the door.

Picnic Tuesday

Woman's Benefit Association will have a covered-dish picnic Tuesday at the home of Margaret Craven, 2276 Canfield St.

Promotion Granted Back Seat Drivers

There's a new look in family motoring this year. The "back-seat driver" has gotten herself promoted. She has the new role of co-pilot—and she can be a real help in making this year's vacation a safe one.

The authority is no less than Mrs. R. I. C. Prout, President of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

"While it is true that men do more driving than women, the intelligent woman will see to it that the trip is made as comfortable—and safe—as possible," says Mrs. Prout, whose organization represents more than 11 million women throughout the country.

"With the peak driving season at hand, and with today's super, high-speed highways and modern cars, it is extremely important that drivers keep alert so as to reduce the appalling number of needless accidents," Mrs. Prout stated.

"Women should remember that they are more than just passengers along for the ride," she warned. "A car driver has enough to do just driving safely and can use help with other safety precautions. That is where the co-pilot comes in."

Mrs. Prout offered seven rules for women to follow when auto passengers:

1. Make sure car doors are locked. It is a good precaution and may prevent children from falling out.
2. Keep the children from distracting the driver. And see that they do not fiddle with door handles or push buttons.
3. See that the driver stops every 100 miles or two hours to stretch his legs, have a cup of coffee, walk around. Safety stops like this do much to combat the fatigue and monotony of long trips.
4. Give the driver a break. If you are a licensed driver, take a turn at the wheel.
5. Be sure there is plenty of fresh air in the car. Manage the ventilation yourself.
6. Conversation is fine, as it helps keep the driver alert. But avoid worrisome topics. Above all, don't argue. It's better to lose the argument than to lose your life by upsetting the man at the wheel.
7. And help keep an eye on the speedometer. Don't fail to remind the driver to slow down and live.

Arrive for Interlude

Vice Adm. and Mrs. F. C. Denebrink, with their daughter, Joyce Ann, have arrived at the Lafayette Hotel for a visit with relatives and friends.

The admiral's mother, Mrs. Myrtle Denebrink, resides here, as does Mrs. Denebrink's father, Nelson McCook, chairman of National City Bank.

Adm. Denebrink will leave for San Francisco on Aug. 5 to assume duties as vice president of the Matson Navigation Co., having just retired from the Navy.

Mrs. Denebrink and Joyce Ann will remain here until September, then will move to their new home in San Francisco. Joyce Ann will enter Stanford as a junior.

Sentiment Touches Chapel Ceremonies

A single strand of crystal beads worn by the bride's mother at her own wedding lent a sentimental touch to the July 12 nuptial service which united in marriage Dorcas Jean Wilson and Richard C. Richards. Dr. Owen T. Day read the double-ring evening service in Christ Chapel, First Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Doris Mason, 3817 Marber, and Rory S. Wilson, 426 1/2 Lime. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Richards of 4522 Nipomo.

As 130 friends and relatives looked on, the lovely bride walked to the altar with her father. In her hands was a cascade bouquet of pink roses and stephanotis centered by a white orchid. Her ballerina-length gown was styled with white lace scoop neckline bodice and bouffant nylon tulle skirt. A fragile veil of illusion net fell to her fingertips from a satin tiara trimmed with rhinestones.

Coral nylon tulle embroidered in white was worn by maid of honor Miss Eileen Bruhns. Similar gowns of pink nylon tulle were chosen for bridesmaids Misses Donna Edwards and Gretchen Anderson. The pink roses in their cascade bouquets were repeated in the floral headpieces encircling their hair.

Attending the bridegroom were his best man, James Moore, and ushers Norman Guith, Tom Sienaros and Ross Newhan.

The newlyweds were assisted in greeting their guests at the church reception by Misses James Ulrich and Pete Malan and Misses Ursula Delworth, Betty Reid, Dolores Levada and Carolyn Roberts.

A graduate of Wilson High School and Long Beach City College, where she affiliated with Ramayana Sorority, the new Mrs. Richards attended UCLA and received her degree from Long Beach State College. While on the LBSC campus she majored in English and was a member of Delta Zeta Sorority. She was a 1955 recipient of the 48er Award as one of two outstanding graduating seniors, was elected Sweetheart of Tau

Library Group

Alamitos Library Association will depart from its traditional custom of having the August meeting as a park picnic. Instead, the members will meet at the home of the president, Mrs. Arthur Scott, 3416 E. 2nd St., Wednesday for a covered dish luncheon at 12:30 p. m. Cards will be the afternoon diversion.

Black Leads Fall Parade of Colors

Don't be misled by the summer sun's relentless beating, nor by traffic snarled roadways to the beaches. July 15 the month to begin thinking about fall, fashion, fabric and color.

Fall 1956 is going to be the biggest black year in a decade or so. Black is important by itself — and its influence is extremely evident in all other colors as well . . . in blackened versions of color . . . woven combinations in fabrics . . . black warps. The volume twined story is black with white; the fashion story reverses to white with black.

Vibrant is a word you'll be using most often to describe fall colors. They are indeed vibrant . . . but never violent; they are rich, but not dazzling; they are restrained rather than brilliant.

The color family you will see most of is, once again, brown. From palest nude to darkest "blackened" brown, with taupe the new fashion star of the family. The rosy-hued taupe is the volume shade; the high-fashion taupe is more grayed and a bit darker. Burnished golden tones are sportswear leaders.

Red looks like fashion volume, with two strong contenders for top place. Take your pick of the blue-cast reds and the slightly browned or brick-toned reds. The true red, as always, will hit full force in school clothes.

Greens are controversial but important. Greens are blue or grayed. The color referred to as "Loden" may set an unexpected high volume mark in sportswear. High fashion is choosing sage green in medium to deep tones. Smartest greens are brighter — in the emerald category (especially important for evening), but usually modified or toned down.

Blues range from a true, bright medium tone to sapphire — another accent color. Clear blues are at their best combined with black.

Advance color glimpse of spring 1957 . . . Paris was blue as could be this spring and a beautiful medium gray was featured in many of the major collections, often combined with white or a light, clear yellow.

First Fine Art

Silversmithing, first of the fine arts in America, was introduced in Boston in the days of the Puritans and has flourished steadily in New England for more than 300 years.

Molly Mayfield

A Friend and Her Husband

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I have a problem—what a problem! I'm horrified, disgusted and sick at heart. My girl friend's husband came over last night and tried to take advantage of me.

My husband is out of town, and other men have tried to play on my loneliness, but I never thought my best friend's husband would. Why is it men seem to feel that a woman alone is a challenge to their manhood?

When my friend's husband dropped by, I let him in the house without a quail. I kept the children up, though, when I caught the first signs of his objective. I pretended not to pay any attention, though, and kept up a running line of chatter about his wife and his children.

When the kids finally fell asleep, he asked if I wanted him to carry them up to bed. Was he kidding? I'm not that dumb! Anyway, after I had put the kids to bed, I got the gun and placed it where I could get to it easily. I think he knew what I had done, for before long he left, telling me not to tell his wife he had been there. "You know how women are," he said.

He also said perhaps it would be better if I didn't drop by to see her until she had called over here. Looks as though he is trying to keep us apart, doesn't it?

The question in my mind is: Must I lose a friend of 10 years because her husband is no good? I like her and I wouldn't think of telling her what a rat he is.

Another thing, I suspect my husband tried the same thing with her some time ago. If he did, I know he got as cool a reception as her husband did.

Also, if I hadn't been so scared, I'd have told him maybe if he spent half the time making up to his wife that he does to the girls, they'd have a little romance at home. He insists on a spotless house, and then wonders why she's so tired when he comes home.

But the problem is, how can I keep my friendship with her in the face of how he acted?

—HELP! HELP!

DEAR HELP:

Well, one thing for sure, I wouldn't let this would-be neighborhood Casanova come between me and one of my very best friends. Apparently, if your husband did act up, she didn't let that break off her friendship with you.

Why not handle the situation the same way? Continue to see her when he's not around, and if the four of you happen to go out for an evening, simply act as though nothing happened. He'll be sure to sense a coolness which she needn't suspect at all.

I quite agree with you; it would be a shame to cause her more worry than she probably already has. —M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

Recently I was in your city, and while there I must admit I had a swell time and no harm done. I wrote a letter to my mother telling her of the fun but inadvertently addressed the envelope to my wife. (She is, by the way, a very jealous person.)

Her answer was just a piece of scrap paper with, "I'm glad

I opened your letter. Good-bye." I love my wife and I'm sure she loves me. Now what can I do? —STUBBORN

DEAR STUBBORN: You should have written your wife immediately. You did have the fun, even though it was harmless. And it's your wife who is jealous, not you. In the face of this, you can afford to eat a little humble pie.

Let your wife feel that you're truly sorry you hurt her, let her feel your good times were pitiable little things as long as she couldn't be along. Write her the softest, sweetest letter you can and—send her a present, too.

You're in love; you don't want to lose her. Go ahead then, get busy! —M.M.

Separate Items

To keep all of the small items, (stockings, gloves, scarves and handkerchiefs) separated in your suitcase, use those clear plastic envelopes.

For Traveling

Expandable washcloths in cotton pellet form are nice space savers for suitcase or overnight case. Save you from toting a wet washcloth about.

Tip for Brides

New way to use sterling candlesticks. Remove candles and fill sockets with water. Ah-bah-jigadah! A few blossoms, a little ivy—and candlesticks become flower holders. Light-hearted and lovely.

Nylon Freshener

With nylon lingerie both pretty and inexpensive, don't let your slips and gowns turn smudgy gray. Give them a sudsing every night with lots of white soap if you want them to stay fresh.

Pen Women Led by New Executives

Elaine (Mrs. Leo) Malco, artist and writer, today will become president of the Long Beach Branch of the National League of American Pen Women, Inc., succeeding Mrs. Ellen R. Conaty. Installing officer will be State President Lucille Palmer (Mrs. T. A.) McMillan of Los Angeles.

Serving with Mrs. Malco will be Julie Armin (Mrs. Gordon B.) Cosper, vice president; Alice Tenneson (Mrs. Alvin) Hawkins, secretary; Catherine M. (Mrs. Henry L.) Richter, treasurer; Catherine Henson (Mrs. Ray) Manley, auditor; Freda Marshall, historian and librarian; Vera Williams, hostess; Anna Weber (Mrs. D. A.) Robeson, ways and means chairman; Ellen Conaty, membership chairman.

Guests will include Wilma Kruger of San Diego, national chairman of international relations in creative arts, and Anna Burnett, president of the San Diego branch.

Mrs. Malco studied painting under Paul Lauritz and at the Otis Art School. She has won first place in California and second place in the nation in Pen Women art competitions and is a member of the Pen Women's national art review committee. She has had shows in Pacific Coast Club, the Greek theater, Frances Webb gallery and Margaret White gallery. She twice has judged the art show at the Date Festival at Indio and this year judged the Festival of Arts, Laguna Beach. She is art chairman of Pacific Coast Club.

The Malcos, who live at 5441 El Cedral, Park Estates, have a son, David, and two daughters, Elaine Anne and Anna.

Club Hears Trip Details at Dinner

"Vacation Home" was the main topic of discussion at Tuesday night's dinner meeting of the Long Beach Branch of the National League of American Pen Women, Inc., held at the El Cedral, Park Estates. The dinner was given by Mrs. Leo Malco, president-elect, and her husband, Elaine (Mrs. Leo) Malco, artist and writer, who will become president of the Long Beach Branch of the National League of American Pen Women, Inc., succeeding Mrs. Ellen R. Conaty. Installing officer will be State President Lucille Palmer (Mrs. T. A.) McMillan of Los Angeles.

Sadie Michnick told of her two-week visit at Lake Tahoe where she did "lots of swimming and fishing."

Mrs. Frank Nanzio gave an account of the recent Harbor Section B&PW breakfast in Gardena. The next group meeting is scheduled for Aug. 19 when Nieto members will join the Long Beach National B&PW in Banning Park.

Mrs. Jack Pierson and Miss Sadie Michnick presided at the recent meeting.

Varied Techniques, but the Same Ideas

By VIVIAN BROWN
Associated Press Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Men the world over like to park with their girl friends, even on a camel. But except for that one similarity, says blond Lotte Wohlbold, men are as different as they can be.

Lotte qualifies as an authority on men on an international scale because her airlines job takes her gadding around the globe. She explains:

"I've met all types of men and parking is universal. Nothing stops them. You spend a long pleasant evening with any man, and somehow he is biding his time until those few minutes at the end of the evening."

Lotte, who trains air hostesses, says it does a girl good to get a world picture of men. It's helpful knowledge for husband-seekers to have at vacation time.

Her cataloging of men around the world shows: Austrians are the most romantic and charming, Frenchmen the most exciting, Englishmen the coolest, Egyptians the wealthiest, Italians the best dressed and Germans look the most masculine. Spaniards adore blondes, and so do Egyptians.

It's the Frenchman, Lotte says, who'll see that you have soft music, tea dancing, ultra cuisine, and onion soup at the early morning market after a late date. He appreciates feminine foibles, too, and is likely to suggest a Dior fashion show.

Austrians concentrate on the romantic aspects of a date—the atmosphere of a restaurant, Gypsy music, candles on the table, a leisurely dinner and the old-fashioned waltz.

Spanish gentlemen are difficult to understand. They are gallant and they also make ample complimentary comments as you walk by them in a strange custom for most girls.

Spanish tempo is slow. You go out late, come home late and sleep only four or five hours a night. Then you siesta for a few hours in the afternoon. An invitation to a bullfight is a command performance. "You won't see him again if you refuse to go," says Lotte.

It's a treat to go out with Italians, who are so elegantly dressed. Your date will have his mind made up about where you'll go, however, after the opera—but he'll remark that he "hopes you like it." Romans, proud of their city, will take you sight seeing. And there's always good Italian food as date fare.

German men are the most positive in their opinions and manner, says Lotte, who was born in Nuernburg, Bavaria, and came to the United States in 1950. The German hates weakness and makes every effort to appear strong, manly and in complete possession of every situation, she says.

"When he takes you out," she explains, "he'll try to impress you the first time. He orders wine, not because he wants it, but because it is the correct thing."

Egyptians are temperamental, mysterious, suave and have "a good line," she says. They entertain you royally at the races, best restaurants and camel riding. But they stop and stare at you on the streets if you're young and blonde.

"I had been in my Cairo hotel room only five minutes," Lotte recalls, "when a man called saying he'd overheard my room assignment and would like to take me to dinner."

The Englishman will take you to the theater and occasionally a nightclub, but he's not romantic. He hesitates to ask for a goodnight kiss. A Frenchman, on the other hand, must be pushed away after the third.

But this is typical of Frenchmen, says Lotte. They show their interest immediately, unlike Italians who are careful to conceal their feelings. Lotte had observed European men for years in trips around the Continent with her father, a German importer-exporter.

So what does Lotte think of American men?

"I'll take American men any day," says Lotte. When they take you out on a date they want you to enjoy yourself. They'll compliment you and maybe send flowers, unlike the Englishman who seldom pays a compliment.

American men are charming and have a wonderful sense of humor, unlike Germans who are too serious; and they'll give a girl a choice of dates, unlike Italians. They're the happy medium, a combination of all the traits a woman looks for in a man."

Gold Band Circles Her Finger

The candlelit altar of Belmont Heights Methodist Church was setting for the exchange of marriage vows between Alona Carol Mealey and Dan Hubert Hinz. Rev. Richard V. Kendall officiated at the double ring ceremony where the bride received the gold band which had been worn by her paternal grandmother.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride, daughter of Mrs. Leona B. Mealey, 1364 Grand Ave., and Mr. Albert K. Mealey, also of this city, chose a floor length gown of crystalline fashioned along princess lines and topped by a fitted lace jacket with round neckline and bracelet length sleeves. Her short filmy veil fell from a coronet of seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

For her maid of honor Miss Rita Jensen, the bride chose a street length dress of crisp white lace, similar in design to the bride gown, and an old fashioned bouquet of American Beauty roses. Identically gowned and carrying matching bouquets were bridesmaids Miss Patsy Hewitt of Tucson, Ariz., Miss Janet Thorne of Walnut Creek, and Miss Clara Walker of Anaheim, all Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority sisters of the bride. Junior bridesmaid was the bridegroom's young sister, Juliet Hinz.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Hinz, 5627 East Second St., asked his brother, Edward A. Hinz Jr., to serve as best man. Robert D. Armistead III, David A. Bauer, and Jon Meyer seated the 125 friends and relatives who witnessed the evening nuptials.

Following the wedding the couple received at the church's Wesley Hall. Mrs. Robert E. Grimes, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Harry Harvey served as hostesses, and tiny red and white bags of rice were given to the guests by Margie and Patty Harvey. Miss Beth Sudenga presided at the guest book.

Both young persons attended Wilson High School, and both received AB degrees this June from their respective colleges, the bride from the University of California at Berkeley, the bridegroom from Harvard University. The bride previously attended Long Beach City College, and her affiliations include Kassai and Tammuz. The bridegroom was a regional scholar at Harvard, and is affiliated with Hasty Pudding Club.

Following a honeymoon trip to Carmel and the bay area, the young couple is residing at Palo Alto where Hinz is continuing studies at Stanford University for a MBA in business.

Our Children A Plea for Assistance to the Mentally Infirm

By ANGELO PATRI

We need more hospitals for mentally-ill children and grown-ups, more psychiatrists to help them, more doctors to treat them, more nurses to tend them, more interest in their plight by all of us.

A teen-age boy or girl should be the most joyous, active, healthy creature alive, a "sight for sore eyes," to his elders. Imagine then how sad it is for 5,000 of them yearly to lose the gaiety and exuberance of youth, to become the withdrawn, the mentally-sick ones who have lost all touch with life and feel lost, with no firm hold on anyone, on any place, on anything definite in themselves or in anybody else.

In time past, this sort of illness was hopeless. There was no cure and only death released the suffering soul. Not so today. Many of these children and young people can be helped back to sound health and returned to their homes and families—IF.

They can return if we, the great community of the United States, are willing to help them to do so by calling for hospitals, rest homes, doctors, nurses, and the money to pay for them. The money is our problem.

It means taxes. Now, we are paying high taxes and everybody knows what they are being used for and nobody is too happy about it. Any additional tax is bound to bring out a shout of wrath and it is understandable. But think. Think of a happy teen-ager who suddenly is a stranger to himself and to his stricken family. If there are hospitals, clinics, nurses and doctors on hand, he has a chance for recovery. If not?

Think. One person in every 15, the doctors say, will be a mental patient this coming year and there are so few opportunities for their recovery that many of them will go untreated. One of those 15 might be yours, might be one of those teen-agers. That is quite possible.

Homelife With Alyce

By MARYALYCE RIVARD

Little girl down the street has a problem. She can't figure out if Adam and Eve were shut out at the gate of the Garden of Eden, why they didn't climb the fence. She has a point there.

Here's a meatless main dish that's a little something different. Split round flat rolls (hamburger rolls will do nicely) and top each half with slices of sharp American cheese. Broil until the cheese bubbles and browns, then put two cheese toasted halves together with creamed vegetables in between. Delicious.

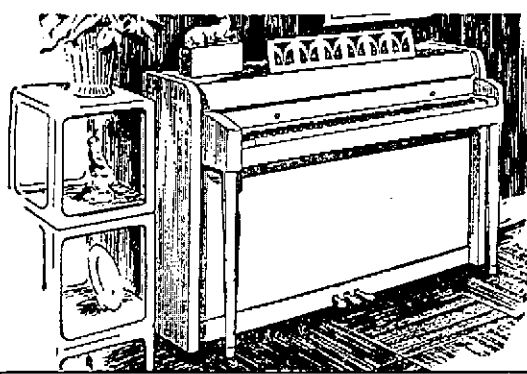

It all depends on how much you like a gal as to whether she is committing a social faux pas when she slips her slipper off at a tea, or whether she is just being admirably natural.

Delicious sauce for cold meats and meat salads by mixing ½ cup each of ketchup, prepared mustard and sweetened condensed milk.

Pretty kitchen canister sets can be great "pepper-uppers" for your kitchen sink, but they can make you pretty unhappy when the time comes to clean off the rust stains they leave. You'll find that coating them on the bottom rim with clear fingernail polish or lacquer eliminates that cursed clean-up job completely.

Your Baby & Mine

Behavior Differs

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Toilet training! How many crimes are committed in its behalf. The mother accepts the drudgery of diaper-washing so willingly the first year; then comes the turn of the year and she expects almost overnight, that her child will become trained.

She knows that some children are larger, some walk, talk, feed themselves sooner—but in the matter of toilet-training she wants her child to be the equal or superior of all others. She takes enormous pride in saying, "After her 14th month, we never had a soiled diaper."

She should recognize that toilet behavior, along with all other behavior, is part of a development pattern and children differ in that as in all other ways.

Mrs. F. E. writes, "My son is 21 months of age and he is still not trained. When I started to train him we were living with our in-laws and when he was put on the toilet seat someone would always walk into the bathroom. Or else, someone would complain that he was kept in there too long."

"Now that I am in my own home I find he is afraid of the bathroom. He only says Mommy and Dada and doesn't seem to understand about the toilet. Should I keep trying or wait awhile?"

If by trying you mean giving him the opportunity to go to the toilet at regular intervals—yes. If you mean any kind of compulsion or punishment for his behavior—no.

Usually about 20 minutes after breakfast is a good time to put him on the toilet. Maybe a nursery chair would please him more than being elevated to a toilet seat on the regular toilet. The height of the seat and the rush of the flushing often frighten small children.

Put him on again at mid-morning, right after lunch and after his nap, before and after dinner and before he goes to bed. Stay with him and encourage him and if he isn't successful within five or 10 minutes, take him off and wait until the next regular period.

Don't keep talking to him about what he should or should not do. He sees you go to the toilet and he is reaching an age when he will want to do exactly as you do about everything—provided you haven't made going to the toilet a sort of torture period or have punished him for his mistakes. He is no more accountable for the time at which he develops the capacity to be dry than he is for the time at which he cuts his teeth. Provided, again, that you have not aroused his animosity toward doing what you seem to want him to do. If you do, he won't, even when he is able.

If you would like our leaflet "Toilet Behavior," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 65 to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of the Press-Telegram.

'Trial Marriage' Offer Shows His Love Is False

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case S-321: Linda N., 18, is an efficient stenographer.

"Dr. Crane, I am madly in love with a boy," she began, "but my friends tell me it is just infatuation. They say he doesn't love me. My family doesn't interfere but I know they don't care much for this boy."

"In fact, my brother tactfully tried to tell me last week that I should give this boy up. But I feel as if I'd die if I couldn't see him every day and hear his voice on the telephone."

"He isn't as nice as I'd like. He gambles some and doesn't have a regular job. And lately he has been demanding that we indulge in trial marriage for awhile just till we are sure we are properly mated."

"How does a person know if it is true love or just infatuation, anyway?"

TRUE LOVE is unselfish. Infatuation is selfish and demanding.

In both conditions, the vic-

Need Expert to Bid Slam

The opening of the national tournament in New York today reminds one of a hand that presented a bidding problem to the experts in last year's tournament. Most of the players stopped at game in no-trump, making an over-trick. A few got to the excellent slam in diamonds.

There was nothing much to the play at diamonds. South needed only to draw trumps.

and run the clubs without loss. Since the queen was doubleton and in favorable position, South couldn't go wrong.

The bidding is worth some attention. North's opening bid and raise of diamonds showed nine cards in those suits. South marked time by bidding hearts, and North indicated that his remaining four cards were equally divided between the major suits by his bid of two no-trump. If North had held a singleton or void suit, he would have avoided no-trump.

South made another waiting bid, this time by raising clubs, and North had the chance to cue-bid the ace of spades. This was the information South needed. He was interested in the ace of spades, but not in something like king-queen of spades.

The double and redouble in spades were unimportant, for South could have bid six diamonds at once. Just for the record, however, the double of three spades was an effort to indicate a favorable lead; for East knew that the opponents weren't going to stay in spades. The redouble indicated a singleton or the king of spades, provided that both partners are experts and understand what is going on. (It doesn't pay to trust many partners to this extent). All ended well, however, with a successful slam contract.

They'll Sock You Again With Slapstick

By Bob Thomas
Associated Press Staff Writer

THE VETERAN laugh-getting team of Laurel and Hardy has suffered physical setbacks, but the comedians are planning a film return to cash in on their immense TV popularity.

For 30 years, the gaunt, sad-eyed Englishman and his rotund, slow-burning companion have delighted audiences with their slapstick antics. In recent years, reruns of old films on TV has brought them their greatest popularity.

Unfortunately, they have been unable to profit from their renewed fame. They get nothing for the constant televising of their old films made for a flat salary in the days before actors were hep to percentage deals. Illness has kept them from going ahead with comeback offers.

They lead quiet lives in modest homes 20 miles apart, seldom seeing each other but keeping in touch by telephone.

OLIVER HARDY, the big one, lives on a busy street in Van Nuys, in the heart of the San Fernando Valley. His fans might have difficulty recognizing him these days. His hair is thin and gray, and his multitude of chins has diminished.

"Yes, I've lost 150 pounds," he remarked as he seated himself in his study. "I got pneumonia when we were touring England two years ago. My heart was jumping around a bit, and I got asthma, too. When I got back here, I went to the hospital for a checkup, and the doctors told me I should lose weight."

"My wife, who's a good taskmaster, kept me on a strict salt-free diet with a limit of calories. No, I didn't miss eating. I never really was a tremendous eater. It was the drinking. I drank a lot of beer, and always there were guys around Lakeside golf course, asking you to have a drink. I did it not because I liked the stuff, but because it seemed friendly."

"I NEVER DID KNOW how much I weighed, because most scales don't go over 300. I know I was over 350. Now I'm down to 210."

Hardy, who is 64, said they had been unable to resume work because his partner—the thin one—suffered a stroke a year ago.

"But he's better now," he added, "and as soon as Stan is feeling up to it, we want to start a series. It will be on film, not live. All the comedians on live shows have heart attacks or get sick; that's not for us."

HE REMARKED that they get more fan mail and public recognition now than at the peak of their movie fame. "Kids are always coming to the door and saying, 'are you Hardy?'" he said. "I give 'em a picture and they go away happy."

Stan Laurel, the slim one, lives in Santa Monica with his fourth wife. Although he has been seriously ill, he was able to laugh about his condition.

"I'm coming along fine now," said the comedian, who is 66. "But I can't do any skiing right away."

HE EXPLAINED that paralysis of his left side started a year ago and affected the use of his arm and leg. But recently he has been more active and got out to pay a call to Hardy, their first visit in three months.

"These things take time," Laurel remarked, "but I'm really improving. I'm able to walk up and down stairs now. I might be able to start a series now, but I want to wait until I'm sure I would be able to get through it. I wouldn't want to get started and then let people down."

"I'm anxious to get some new films on TV so we can get those darned old ones off. It makes me so mad to see them because they're cut so poorly. The TV people just measure off so much film and make a cut."

LAUREL AND HARDY are living examples of the theory that the proper chemistry can mean show business success. Separately, neither set the world afire. Laurel was born Arthur Stanley Jefferson in Ulverston, England, and played British circuses and music halls until coming to this country with the same troupe as Charlie Chaplin.

He dabbled in films and plays until he was cast in a two-reel comedy with rotund Oliver Hardy in 1926. Hardy was an Atlanta boy who had studied law at the University of Georgia and later played in stock companies and comedy films.

The teaming was perfect. Laurel and Hardy were a hit from the start. They still are, in films that are old and faded yet contain more laughs than most of the modern comedy on television.

Both showing the effects of recent serious illnesses, Laurel and Hardy mug in one of the gestures which used to convulse movie audiences. TV audiences are laughing now at revivals of team's old slapstick comedy films.

Dr. Seuss and His Nerkle Corral

By Norman Bell

Associated Press Staff Writer

THE HOME of a strange elephant named Horton is on top of a mountain called Solodad. It means "lonely place" in Spanish, but it isn't lonely.

That's what 4-year-old Lucinda discovered when she called on Horton.

His keeper—who also has a fantastic collection of other creatures, such as Ziffs and Zuffs and Nerkles and Nerds, as well as a hospitable moose known as Thidwick—welcomed the child with grave courtesy.

For, after all, as Horton himself says: "A person's a person, no matter how small."

THAT ALSO EXPLAINS the keeper's success.

He creates picture-word-sound stories aimed at grown-ups to captivate children. He is known to his public as Dr. Seuss. His real name is Theodor Seuss Geisel.

Lucinda and her adult escort were invited to enter his mountain menagerie. It is actually a spacious home built around a former lookout tower, from which there is an unbroken view of ocean and shoreline and mountain ranges. The "village" of La Jolla nestles below and the mushrooming city of San Diego sprawls all around.

THE MENAGERIE, being entirely make believe, consists of figures on drawing paper at the artist-author's desk or paper-mache models on the walls.

Geisel treated Lucinda and her escort with equal consideration during the tour of the tower. He made it clear that he shares Horton's view—he doesn't underrate a person—"no matter how small."

"I write all my books on simple, adult level," he said. "I do it on the theory that a child can understand anything—you can even explain an atomic pile to a 6-year-old, if you are able to put it down in the right form."

He uses simplicity—the modern method of reaching the mass mind—and capitalizes on the wonderful, unspoiled imagination of childhood.

What if Umbus, a cow, has 98 faucets or if another of his creature's knees are on wrong.

"I DRAW THE BEST I can," says Geisel, who makes a point of the fact he never took an art lesson. "If things come out wrong, the child doesn't care. Legs on backwards are even more fascinating."

Thus, a 4-year-old like Lucinda has no trouble accepting the idea that infinitesimal beings—queer little "Whos," who only Horton, the elephant, can hear—inhabit a dust speck which, when magnified by Geisel's illustrations, appears something like a curved section of the world.

Geisel, whose kindness is reflected in his quiet, brown eyes, wouldn't sadden even adults with a tragic ending to any of his stories.

He goes so far as to offer hope that America can be saved from what he and the La Jolla Town Council, Inc., a civic group in that "village" section of San Diego, say is the threat of being "messed up" by uncontrolled advertising signs.

GEISEL AND the town council, of which he is a member, use Dr. Seuss pamphlets in their war against oversized, gaudy or flashy signs which exceed the limits of "good taste." The pamphlets blame a couple of stone-age "guys" named Guss and Taxx for originating such advertising to market rival products called "Gus-Ma-Tuss" and "Zaxx-Ma-Taxx."

The La Jolla campaign is catching on elsewhere, says Geisel. He hopes it will spread and spread.

Yet, it was advertising of a commercial product that started Dr. Seuss on his way to fame and fortune, and his current commitments include some billboard illustrations for sugar.

It was in the '20s that Geisel, who had been editor of the Dartmouth Jack O'Lantern, gave up his ambition of becoming a high-brow professor after studies at Oxford and the Sorbonne in favor of "noodling" pictures for a living.

A GIRL HE MET at Oxford, Helen Manon Palmer, now his wife and collaborator, encouraged him. One of his cartoons, appearing in the humor magazine Judge, showed a knight in armor facing a dragon with a spray gun. By toss of a coin, Geisel chose one of two rival products for the caption, which said: "Quick Henry, the Flit."

The manufacturer was enraptured and engaged the talents of Dr. Seuss for a campaign that continued through the 1930s without lapse.

Geisel also credits luck for leading him to a publisher, after 25 rejections, of his first children's story, in 1937. It was a rhythm tale, later set to music by Deems Taylor, of a little boy whose imagination runs away with him on "Mulberry Street." His father admonishes:

"Your eyesight's much too keen."

"Stop telling such outlandish tales."

"Stop turning minnows into whales."

THE GEISELS, with Mrs. Geisel in the role of Dr. Seuss' severest critic, say that the first fantastic premise of a story is the one to get across. Once it is accepted by the reader, anything goes—as in the latest Seuss volume, in which the alphabet begins with "Z" for zebra.

"On Beyond Zebra," the reader finds wum, um, humpf, fuddle, glikk, nuch, snee, quan, thnad, spazz, flobb, vroo, yukk and so on to yuzz, which is short for yuzz-a-ma-tuzz.

This book of nonsense and another, "If I Ran the Circus," also to be published by the fun-loving Bennett Cerf of Random House, demonstrate Dr. Seuss' talents which now are being directed to a serious enterprise.

The Geisels are working on helping Johnny to read with three supplementary textbooks, for the first, second and third grades, to be published by Houghton-Mifflin.

EACH TELLS A STORY in simple vocabularies of the respective grade ages, with phonetic pronunciations and Seuss' animal illustrations to help the small pupils.

"The aim is to make their first experience in reading pleasurable," said Geisel, "not difficult."

He is doing the hard work for them, he explained. His rate of production is about four well-polished lines a day.

Geisel says his fantastic creatures spring from a genuine interest in real animals, which runs in the family. His father is park department and zoo superintendent in Geisel's native Springfield, Mass.

He also likes children in person, although he and Mrs. Geisel have none. Geisel, in his role as a trustee of the San Diego Fine Arts Museum, would like to introduce a new sort of children's section, with equipment for their use in various types of creative artistry.

DURING WORLD WAR II, he served with Frank Capra's Signal Corps motion picture unit as producer in animation of intelligence and educational films. He was awarded the Legion of Merit.

His postwar film creations, including the cartoon character Gerald McBoing-Boing, have won four Oscars for the producers.

He smiles when he remarks that his textbook project is finally achieving, in a limited way, his old ambition to be a professor. An honorary degree at Dartmouth, awarded last year, made him a doctor of humane letters and, he says, an honest man out of Dr. Seuss.

He might like to know that that Dr. Seuss' illustrations aimed at putting a stop to the advertising excesses of Guss and Taxx didn't get the message over to Lucinda. Now she scolds them, but in a tolerant way that indicates her first impression still stands.

There she is, on the wall, docile and neatly coiled. Docile? Well . . . rattlesnakes coil before they strike!

Man With the Hose

So you're going to water the lawn? Well, first you've got to get out the garden hose—that's the technical name for a long chunk of tubing. There are other names. We won't repeat them as all lawn-dunkers know them. Besides, there are laws. A hose has no character, but it does have two moods: adverse and perverse. Watering the lawn has two hazards: pneumonia from wetting yourself and boredom. Now let's watch—from safe distance—Neighbor Eric Wahleen make with the water.

Neatly coiled? Oops! . . . too bad he stubbed his toe and bumped his head on the door at the same time. Coiled! . . . Schmoiled! Oooh, what he just said!

Rain? No, just a leak in the hose, forgot to fix it after using it last time.

One thing about it: you can always tell when the leak is fixed . . . you dry off.

Bug squirting will break the monotony of watering. Waste water, but have fun.

Gambling type? Then try a squirt or two into neighbor's yard. See what happens.

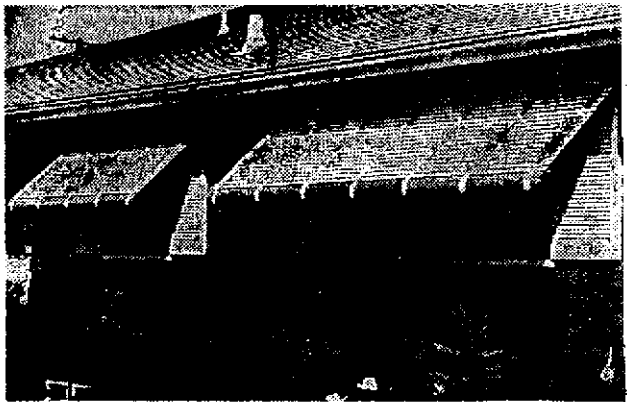

Yeah, see what happens? You had yours, now it's his turn. And that's no hose!

This sprinkler idea will do while fixing up the lumps the neighbor inflicted.

Her Newspaper's World's Tiniest

By Jean Hansen

WHEN IT COMES to newspapers nowadays, the bigger the better! Picking up the Independent, Press-Telegram on the front step, carrying it inside and spreading it out for reading is as much exercise as the average Long Beach citizen requires on a Sunday morning.

With newspapers growing steadily bulkier it is both surprising and amusing to find a miniature which proclaims itself "The World's Smallest Newspaper" maintaining its place and popularity for three years. But that is the record of The Bay Area Bugle, published on a postal card weekly, at Belvedere.

EDITOR-PUBLISHER Mary Otis Davis lives in Tiburon, Calif., but was born in Boston. She is the wife of Don Davis, radio and television announcer. She has written for magazines and newspapers, and has published three books.

The aim of The Bugle has always been to know your neighbors. Its purpose (to quote Mrs. Davis, is "to promote international friendship and understanding, particularly among writers."

Incredibly, in the small space of a postal card are found bits of news, announcements, illustrations, even an occasional pungent couplet or quatrain. Long

Ingenious Swiss

In the little village of St. Martin in the Valais, the ingenious Swiss have come up with a new twist in pipelines. Not oil or natural gas, but pure milk is flowing down from mountain pastures directly to the dairies in the valley. A narrow plastic hose, completely resistant to odor and decay, has been strung between the dairy of St. Martin (4,557 ft.) and the milk collection point at Aison (5,115 ft.). According to a report from the Swiss National Travel Office in New York, the pipeline will soon be extended to an altitude of nearly 6,000 feet and will eventually measure a total of five miles. When not being used for milk the line will bring fresh spring water to the valley insuring cool pipes to protect the milk while in transit. Over two gallons a minute can be transferred to the central dairy. The dairymen communicate with each other by a telephone system running parallel to the pipeline to prevent any mixing of milk and water.

Block Parties

American tourists visiting Australia for the Olympic Games this fall will be feted with block parties, according to Pan American World Airways. Transportation to and from the Games at the Melbourne Stadium will be simplified by car pools now being organized for out-of-towners. The Australians estimate that more than 12,000 spectators from abroad will stay in private homes. The block parties will introduce the overseas visitors to each other and to their temporary neighbors.

Interested Japanese girl tries out an American vacuum cleaner—rare item in average Japanese home. Girls are studying for life as wives in the U. S.

Japan's Unique School for Brides

By Paul Kackley

EAST IS EAST, and West is West, and in a most unusual school in Japan, the two do meet—in spite of Kipling's famous saying.

Japanese girls who marry American service personnel know that the two do meet, and that upon their husbands' return to the United States, they will be required to become American housewives, making their homes in typical American communities.

Helping these Japanese wives prepare for the day when they must prove that the East and West can meet, is the Bride's School, located on Johnson Air Base, a huge U. S. Air Force installation near Tokyo. There the Oriental brides learn the basic principles of homemaking as practiced in the United States. The instructors, also American wives—one of them is from Long Beach—are Red Cross volunteer workers.

TIPS ON COOKING, shopping, using household appliances, the dollar currency system, religious activities, how to dress properly, and even how to apply make-up are all eagerly absorbed by these future members of the sorority of American housewives. The mysteries of supermarkets, bargain basements and other typical American phenomena are revealed for these students.

One bit of sage advice given the Japanese brides is "Start your husband's day with a good breakfast, and he will be in a good mood all day." So the girls may follow this advice, special emphasis is placed on breakfast preparation during the course.

HIGHLIGHT of the school is the graduation ceremony. Following the presentation of diplomas, the students turn the tables on their instructors and show them an old Japanese custom. Dressed in colorful kimonos, the graduates host their teachers in a formal, ceremonial tea party—conducted strictly in the ancient Japanese style!

Trouble's Enemy

Handicaps have been met with a smile by David Pyle, above. He has many hobbies, among them shuffleboard.

By Charles W. Crutcher

DAVID B. PYLE of 138 Hermosa Ave., never lets troubles get him down.

Pyle, 87, is blessed with a sense of humor, an infectious smile, and ability to carry on an interesting conversation.

He is also an expert at shuffleboard. He has only one leg and plays from a wheelchair in Bixby Park where he is a member of the shuffleboard club "in good standing." The sport keeps him active, physically and mentally, and helps to shuffle the blues away.

David rolls, or "self-propels himself" he calls it, to the selected court. He receives many rolling offers, but "shifting for himself" has always been one of David's chief assets.

NEWSPAPERMAN for more than 60 years, he would rather talk about his first job at 15 on the old Lincoln (Neb.) Journal, or his later work as editor of

WHEN IT COMES TO MARINE LIFE—

These Kids Can Teach the Profs

EXASPERATED as any parent may become at the endless stream of questions his 6-year-old can ask, he secretly thinks the kid's pretty smart. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Chamberlain of 502 Ninth St., Huntington Beach, would be in complete agreement. As co-sponsors of the Beachcombers of America, Inc., one of the most unique non-profit organizations in the United States, whose members aged six to 13 have taught college professors a thing or two, they really know how smart youngsters can be.

These Beachcombers are no Quiz Kids. It's just that the Chamberlains have channeled the insatiable curiosity most youngsters have about the world into creative activity. As a result, colleges, hospitals, schools and the general public have benefited from the knowledge hundreds of children have accumulated about marine life during the Beachcombers' nine-year existence.

COLLEGE PROFESSORS discovered the club's crowded headquarters in the Chamberlain home several years ago when they heard that some youngsters knew how to preserve marine specimens so that they wouldn't become brittle or disintegrate. They've been returning ever since to examine the huge collection of sea shells gathered by club members on weekly expeditions, to borrow rare finds for classroom study and to give informal lectures. Furthermore, Long Beach City College and several other institutions adopted the youngsters' preservative formula several years ago. It is a 16-to-one solution of water and formaldehyde which works successfully on everything but starfish.

So many requests have been received as to the best method of preserving abalone, crabs, and shell fish that mimeographed instructions by the thousands have been handed out to grade school teachers, Boy Scouts, and Camp Fire Girls who visit the club to swap shells, examine rare specimens or take a lesson in sea-shell art.

THIS SEA-SHELL ART has consistently won first honors at county fairs and hobby shows for the Beachcombers during the past nine years. Their most ambitious project to date, the 9½-foot tall Statue of Liberty replica which was made entirely of jingle shells, received world wide publicity when its picture was circulated by the press throughout Europe and the Orient. Recently the club gifted the Mayor of Long Beach with an official city seal made of 25,000 shells of the blue mussel, jingle, sand dollar and crackling variety mounted on a four by four foot board.

Even 6-year-old Beachcombers work on the "shell board" which was designed primarily for shut-ins. Rows of shells varying in color and size are mounted on small wooden boards with identification printed beneath each specimen. Hospitals place orders for these boards for they have discovered that chronically ill children delight in fingering and examining the shells.

IT ISN'T JUST a sea shell that brings a creative gleam to the eye of a Beachcomber, however. Mrs. Chamberlain, the club's "top sarge," has taught them that the possibilities for beauty and further usefulness in any material are limited only Beachcombers' officers, Bonnie Roth Fuss, 9, secretary; Anita Canas, 12, president, study sea trophies.

By Ellen Saunders

by the scope of their imagination. Thus egg cartons reappear as amusing table decorations. Scraps of crepe paper, tinsel, foil or plastic form the background for their shell exhibits. Bits of bark are fashioned into pictures or picture frames. Much of such discarded material is used in the club's annual Nativity scene, which last year was voted to be Huntington Beach's most outstanding outdoor Christmas exhibit.

The only rule this unique club enforces is that each member engage in some form of creative activity. No one, from 12-year-old Anita Canas, who is currently serving as president, to 9-year-old Leroy Counts, sergeant at arms, can hold office unless he has earned that right by hard work. There are no membership dues, no budget and no set hours for meetings. The club's working membership is limited to 25, but the total number of Beachcombers, past and present, runs into hundreds. For, as Mrs. Chamberlain, or "Shorty" as the youngsters have nicknamed her, says, "Once a Beachcomber, always a Beachcomer."

YOU WOULD EXPECT a club without membership dues to have money troubles. This one doesn't because its members are experts when it comes to getting

May Otis Davis is editor and publisher of Bugle.

TINY PAPER

Beach writers' names have appeared.

The Bugle has wide circulation in spite of its diminutive size. It has readers in Washington, Oregon, California, Hawaii, Canada, Japan, North Africa, England, Massachusetts, New York, Virginia, and many other states for single issues.

"THE BUGLE has always been a self-supporting hobby," says Mrs. Davis, "which I set by hand, having sent to Connecticut for a hand press. I didn't know a thing about printing at first but I learned in a hurry because it was such a thrill to set the type backwards and see what it looked like forwards."

"History repeats." Evidently the Bugle is a throw-back to Colonial days, for it has been said that the first American newspapers were "news letters" usually published by postmasters who had an opportunity to learn first of news sent in letters from other parts of the country.

Going to Russia?

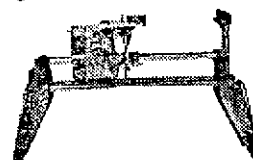

With tourist travel to Russia becoming a reality again, Pan American has broadened the scope of its best-selling travel book, "New Horizons," to include helpful tips for Americans going to the U.S.S.R. this year.

Prospective tourists to Russia, for instance, will learn that the hotels are clean and the staffs pleasant, and that chocolate bars and American cigarettes make excellent tips. Travel, the book points out, is not cheap in Russia. The only practical way to see the country is through the tours set up by Intourist, the national Russian travel agency. Tours are $30 a day for each person in groups of four or less, $21 a day per person in larger groups.

The restrictions for Americans have been eased and all that is required for U.S. citizens is a valid passport, a visa with three photographs, a biographical sketch and one-fourth of the cost of the tour. If the visa from the Russian Government is not granted, all of the money is refunded. If the applicant cancels, 90 per cent of the money is refunded.

The pocket-size guide is available for $1 at any Pan American ticket office, at authorized travel agents, or by writing to the company at P.O. Box 1111, New York 17, N.Y.

HE FIGHTS OFF TROUBLE FROM A WHEELCHAIR

Wakefield News in Wakefield, Kan., and editor of the Charleston American, Charleston, Wash., than talk about how he lost his leg.

Amputation of his left leg was imperative, resulting from an infected toe and a diabetic condition.

David didn't want to retire in 1946, but his wife made up his mind for him.

"You know the main trouble with retiring," says David, "It is afflicted with old age, and who wants to get old?"

BUT DAVID won a point with his wife, Ethel, when he insisted, "I must keep my hands busy."

He asked her to bring him an empty two-gallon ice cream container when she returned from a dining room where she has been hostess for more than 17 years.

The next day he pasted designs and colored paper inside and outside the carton. Pleased with her husband's artistic job, Mrs. Pyle brought many more cartons home and he made dozens of waste paper baskets for his friends.

HE HAS DECORATED more than 50 plastic boxes of various sizes and descriptions by pasting decals on their tops and sides, making useful holders for pins, hair pins, buttons and jewelry.

David loves children, and he knows that there are many in hospitals who cannot get around in a wheelchair as well as he.

His wife brought him scrapbooks. Friends supplied him with birthday, Christmas, and New Year's cards. He pasted the cards attractively in the books and has given away more than 100 of these books.

One doctor wrote: "We put several long tables together and seat the children around them. Your scrap books are passed to them, one by one."

DAVID IS ALSO proud of letters received from Harry Duchene, director of Long Beach General Hospital, thanking him for making the world brighter for young shut-ins there.

On Dec. 4, 1956, David almost lost his sight from cataracts.

When Albert J. Smith, an old friend, brought a get-well card of cheer and 96 shuffleboard signatures upon it, he was rewarded with one of David's big smiles.

"Now wasn't that thoughtful of them?" Mrs. Pyle commented. "And you know David and I will celebrate our golden anniversary in just three more years."

COOKING

Try This Triple-Threat Jelly Roll

By Mildred K. Flanary
Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

I KNOW a young working bride with an unusually good fresh raspberry recipe. She is Mrs. John Schlipper. "Being a working bride, I have to make every minute count. This jelly roll, while it looks difficult to make, bakes in less than 10 minutes and takes only a jiffy to fill. It's a refrigerator-type dessert," she says.

Parfait Jelly Roll

Jelly Roll: One quarter teaspoon salt, 3 eggs, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon lemon extract, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup pancake mix.

Grease sides and bottom of a 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ x15 $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch shallow pan; line with waxed paper and grease again; dust with flour. Add salt to eggs; beat until thick and lemon-colored.

Add sugar to eggs a little at a time, beating well after each addition. Add flavoring and pancake mix; mix lightly until batter is smooth. Spread evenly in pan.

Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 7 to 8 minutes or until brown.

Sprinkle a towel well with confectioners' sugar. Immediately on taking cake from oven, loosen it around edges of pan and turn out on towel. Peel waxed paper carefully from cake; roll cake in towel.

Let stand 10 minutes. Eight servings.

FILLING: One package raspberry gelatin, 1 cup hot water, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup cold water, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup whipping cream, whipped, 1 tablespoon sugar, $\frac{1}{2}$ pint raspberries (fresh or partially frozen, drained).

Dissolve gelatin in hot water; stir in cold water. Chill in refrigerator until gelatin becomes slightly thickened. Beat gelatin with rotary beater until fluffy and thick.

Combine whipped cream with sugar; fold into gelatin.

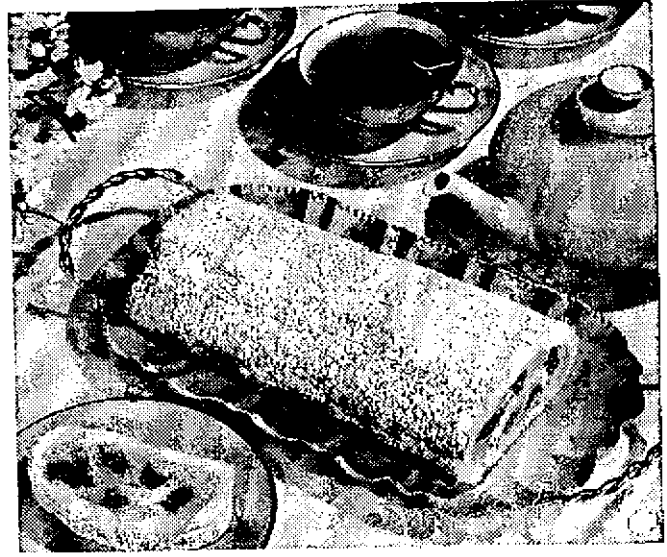

Unroll cake. Spread gelatin mixture evenly over cake; place raspberries on gelatin. Roll up cake and wrap in waxed paper.

Refrigerate cake roll several hours before serving.

THERE ARE MANY ways to make summer meals more appetizing. For instance, did you ever try baked summer squash pudding? Squash lovers enjoy it, so here's the recipe:

Baked Summer Squash Pudding

Beat 3 eggs lightly and mix with $\frac{1}{4}$ cup milk, 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoons salt, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon ground black pepper, 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups soft bread cubes, 2 cups shredded summer or zucchini squash and 1 tablespoon minced onion.

Raspberry parfait jelly roll is a homemaker's triple treat... easy to make, quick to bake and a joy to eat.

Pour into a greased 1-quart casserole. Place in a pan of hot water. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ hours or until a knife inserted in the center of pudding comes out clean.

Serve as a hot vegetable. Six to eight servings.

RESORTS AND TRAVEL

Around the World With DELAPLANE

"What is the rule about sending gifts from abroad. I mean the duty over the gift limit?" S. Customs says $10 is the limit on gifts. And if the gift costs more—say $12—you pay the duty on the whole amount. Not the cost minus $10. My experience has been that some gifts go through and right to the home delivery without any customs action. And sometimes a small gift marked "Gift, less than $10 value" gets held up for duty. At least this happened once. I don't think it's the rule. Most of mine go through.

"We are interested in learning enough Spanish to get along in Mexico on a three-weeks motor trip. Any suggestions?"

HOW TO SAY It in Spanish is thin, notebook size. All the needed phrases. Brentano's book store in New York or branches has it. There are some inexpensive records at most record shops. About 50 words covers you in any country. Count up to 10, then by 20s, then by hundreds. Learn menu Spanish quick or you wind up eating eggs.

"How do you gage your overseas tipping? Is there some measure?"

IT'S AS OFFBEAT as the U. S. They tell you, "It depends on the service." But as you know, this is nonsense. Tipping usually depends on what you think will be accepted without making yourself silly or sneered at. A good measure: The train porters have a fixed amount per bag in many countries. Since we seem to have a fixed quarter a bag in the States, I estimate the foreign charge at the station is equal to a quarter and tip accordingly in hotels.

"What hotel do you like in Cuernavaca, Mexico?"

THE MARIK or the Bella Vista for me. Middle of town and fair enough. Like all Mexican hotels these may have changed, though, in the past couple of months. Food isn't much to talk about. Lunch usually good at Casa Cardenas, the delicatessen across from the Cortez Palace.

"Could you advise us on clothes for a six weeks cruise in the Caribbean?"

LIGHTWEIGHT sports things. If it's a very class cruise, dinner clothes. And probably a little more sports in the shorts and shirts department. Small folding umbrella for rainy days in port. If it's a freighter, better depend on nylon things that wash easily. The big ships have laundries but you are the laundry on a freighter. Don't forget a small head scarf for women when visiting Catholic churches.

"How could we be invited to Embassy parties when we are in Europe? Is there a way?"

I SUSPECT there is a way if there's a will. What you need is a juice man, preferably a politico. A nice Senator on the Appropriations Committee. Or a Congressman. Or ask any political man you know well who he knows. You don't just walk into an Embassy and ask, I'm sure of that.

community cooperation. Right now the Chamber of Commerce is mimeographing material "Shorty" has written about the common shell. The public schools are doing the same job with the instructions on how to preserve specimens. Parents provide transportation for the shell collecting expeditions and act as chaperones on overnight trips. Housewives know the quickest way to get rid of odds and ends is to take them to Shorty, so the club limits its purchases to glue, pipe cleaners and shellac.

The expense of incorporating the club nationally was borne by the owner of radio station KVOE after he had read a series of plays dealing with marine life which the children had written with Shorty's help, for presentation on a 15-minute weekly broadcast.

Any group interested primarily in creative work and constructive study may request permission to organize under the Beachcombers banner. Since these member clubs have no age limit, they may include youths up to 100.

House With a Sunny Disposition

An interesting, arched fireplace of red brick is in harmony with provincial decor of this living room.

By Eileen Ball

IF ALL HOUSES, large and small, the most interesting (and usually the most captivating) of all is the one that proudly bears evidence of its occupants' prowess with paint, brush, hammer, saw, needle and thread.

Just such a house is the one owned by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dingler. It isn't large, overwhelming or in any manner conceived. It has a sunny disposition and sits cozily on its small peninsula lot at 47 66th Pl., just a few steps from the ocean to the south and from Alamitos Bay to the north.

A high wall of used brick fitted with heavy weathered doors from an old ship encloses a small courtyard that converts the "front yard" to an intimate sun-flooded patio. Here is a portable barbecue, garden furniture and a greenhouse overflowing with plants. Geraniums bloom vigorously in clay pots set in clusters around the front door.

THE FRONT DOOR is painted white to match the trim of the quaint, two-story, cocoa stucco bungalow. It opens into a living room that abounds with the sort of prim provincial mood one would expect of a pretty country house.

A high, pitched ceiling has had its exposed rafters stained coffee brown. The height of the ceiling together with its dark tone give a shadowy "tallness" to the room that largely accounts for its atmosphere of quiet charm.

In perfect harmony with the setting is the brick fireplace with its arched opening. Over the mantel hangs a small, glass-doored what-not cupboard displaying some exquisitely delicate demitasse cups. On the hearth an old silver tureen planted with greenery gleams prettily with reflected firelight.

parts have been fitted with adjustable wood shutters. These shutters, like those throughout the rest of the house, were made by Dingler.

Larger windows overlooking the front patio and the side yard at the opposite end of the living room are curtained in full white cotton ruffled tie-backs made by Mrs. Dingler.

Throughout the lower level of the house — including living room, dining room and kitchen — the floors are covered with linoleum in a small red brick pattern, waxed to a high gloss. (Hardwood floors are somewhat less practical for sandy beach locations.) Over the living room floor a large hooked rug covers most of the floor area.

A HANDSOME SOFA styled in the Italian provincial manner is upholstered in deep tobacco brown fabric lending a note of elegance to the simplicity of the room.

A smaller love seat stands, pretty as a picture, before a window and along the wall opposite the fireplace. The quaint lines of the turquoise, lime and gold tweed settee are "framed" by the white cotton curtains.

Maple tables on either side of the love seat hold silver smoking accessories and a few small pieces of heirloom china. On one table stands a table lamp with a simple silver base topped by a white drum shade. Sharing the light with the love seat is a tiny old rocker upholstered in garnet-red velvet, a small needle-point footstool standing before it.

COMPACT AND charming is the kitchen which, more than any other room in the house, reflects Dingler's carpentry skills, pursued in his spare time.

Cabinets of pine stained a warm provincial brown (by Mrs. Dingler) were built by Dingler who painstakingly fitted the cabinet doors with small adjustable pine shutters. It is a highly customized job which, if hired out, would have cost many, many more dollars than Dingler spent in happy hours. Brightening the dark wood are countertops of butter yellow plastic and provincial wallpaper in a small cocoa, gold and beige medallion motif. Lighting the room is a hanging student lamp with yellow glass shade.

Glossy-brown, spatter-pattern linoleum covers the floor which Mrs. Dingler keeps as shiny as glass.

A scalloped pine hood tops her stove and is hung inside with attractive copper utensils. Set into one of the counters is

HOW TO Make Tool Storage Racks to Protect Tools and Keep Them Handy for Use

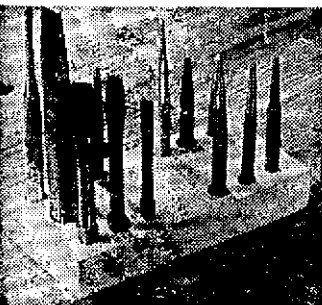

1. SAW RACK YOU CAN PUT on wall, or take along to the job, has notches for handles in the base, and slots for the blades. Teeth are protected, and you don't bump them accidentally. To prevent rust, avoid touching blades.

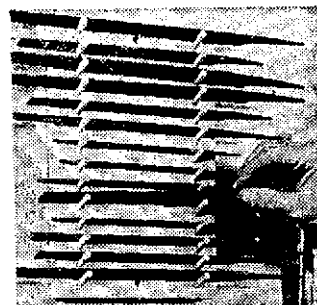

2. OPEN-SLOT design for a screwdriver rack makes it easy to put tools away. You don't fish-and-fumble to drop them in the hole. Instead, you simply slip them in slot from the front.

3. PROTECT CUTTING edges of chisels by letting them nest into slots, or by holding them away from dulling surfaces of tool board. These chisel edges don't reach the bottom of the slot. Strip across the front is aluminum.

4. SUCH TOOLS as nail sets and screwdriver bits can be racked in scrap wood, but they should be put away with the business end up, NOT buried. That way, you can find which is which. Board rests on a self, and is much handier than one fastened immovably to the tool board.

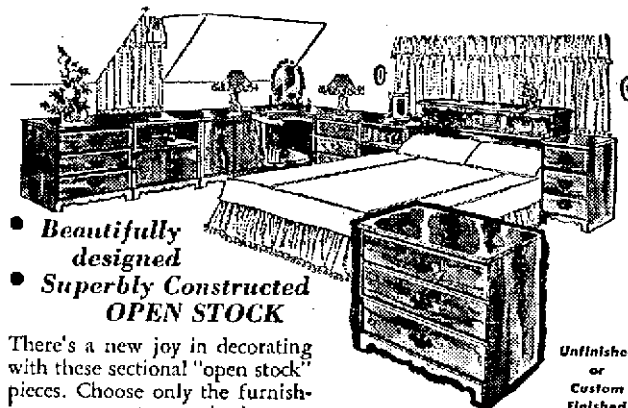

5. RACK UP files (or hang them) so their razor-sharp edges will not wear dull by rubbing against each other. This type of rack keeps selection visible, and makes your files easy to get and to put away when you are finished with them.

6. MAKE FILE rack by boring holes for 1/4-inch dowels down both the edges of a board about six inches wide, as shown here. Holes are at a slight angle. Then tap in dowels. Screw to tool board, or drill another hole at top to hang it.

When Indians of the Southwest gather in annual powwow at Gallup in August, dances of many tribes are performed. This is a Hopi butterfly dance.

Tribes Gather for Powwow

INDIANS of the Southwest will hold the nation's biggest powwow this summer at Gallup, N. M., when more than 30 tribes from all over the region gather for the annual Inter-Tribal Ceremonial, Aug. 9 through 12.

The yearly event at Gallup—known as the Indian capital—draws not only the Indians of New Mexico, such as the Pueblos, Apaches and Navajos, but those from neighboring states as well. Hopis, Utes, Kiowas, Arapahos, Pawnees, Cheyennes and members of some 25 other tribes stream into the city on horseback, on foot and in wagons and trucks to camp around the Lyon Memorial Park Ceremonial Grounds for the four-day affair.

EACH DAY of the ceremonial begins with an hour-long parade through the main streets of Gallup, for which the Indians who march and dance along the route wear their most resplendent costumes.

In the evenings, the Indians perform ceremonial dances and songs beside the night-fires burning on the grounds, and sing their legendary songs of hunting and war—the oldest American music in existence.

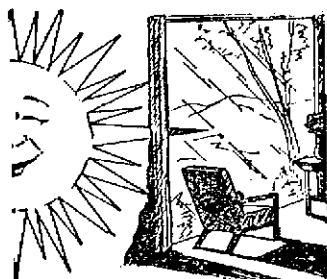

GALLUP IS in western New Mexico on U.S. Hwy. 66 and the main line of the Santa Fe. There are a number of modern hotels and motor courts in Gallup, but it is wise to secure reservations as far in advance as possible.

New Mexico is accessible by a dozen U.S. highways, and by transcontinental facilities of the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific Railways, TWA, Pioneer and Continental Airlines, Southwest Greyhound and Santa Fe Trailway buses.

Movies round out a true picture record of your vacation trip; so, take still and movie cameras with you.

CAMERA ANGLE

Two Cameras on Vacation

By the Shutterbug

YOU DON'T have to be a confirmed shutterbug to take two cameras with you on vacation this year. All you have to be is one who'd like movies for remembering the action and color; snapshots for remembering the subjects that can be pictured nicely with a still camera.

Since movies are the newer, especially to us limited-budget picture takers, we want to talk most about them. Of course, now that you can buy a really good movie camera for less than $30 only a nickel less, but it's still less, movie making comes easily within the family budget. Wonderful color movies cost less than 10 cents a picture on the average roll of film.

USE YOUR MOVIE camera to record action, not to make still snapshots. Don't have people pose stiffly for your movies—that's such a waste. Shoot action. The diver in mid-air, the carriages clapping along the road, the logs floating down a stream. Wherever you go for vacation, you are bound to find plenty of subjects that you'd love to picture if there weren't so much motion involved. Take your whole trip home on film by using both a still and movie camera.

The new, inexpensive movie cameras are snapshot simple. They are as easy to use as a box camera. There's only one setting to be made—that in accordance with how much sun there is—and right on the front of the camera is a guide to help you with the one setting.

So, here's to happy vacationing with two cameras—one for stills, one for movies.

THREE FILMS will be shown at the meeting of the Long Beach Cinema Club at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Houghton Park clubhouse. They will be Lewis Underwood, "The Fourth at Huntington Beach"; Warren Nash, "Northwind Ho!" and Al Larrabee, "Peru." Visitors are welcome.

Make Do

A durable cover for snapshot album can be made easily by the home craftsman using panels of embossed fiberboard resembling Spanish grain leather for front and back. A one-inch strip of leatherwood for the front cover is sawed off and hinged with binding tape. All edges are slightly beveled with a file or sandblock and corners are rounded. The leatherwood can be left in its natural brown color, or painted.

PET PARADE

Good Shepherd for Pets

By Eleanor Avery Price

Beautiful cats are pets of many Long Beach area residents. Good care and humane ways are urged.

HUMANE TREATMENT of cats and dogs—all animals, in fact—is the goal of the Good Shepherd Foundation of Long Beach which meets at 7:45 p. m. on the first Friday of each month at Alice Birney School, 710 W. Spring St.

Cruel treatment of cats by thoughtless persons is particularly deplored by the Foundation, which cites cases of female cats with litters being tossed from cars along the roads and left to suffer from lack of care and food.

To keep down the population of unwanted cats, spaying or altering, as the case may be, is urged by many humane groups. Summer is an excellent time to see that something is done to prevent many more unwanted kittens from arriving the fall and early winter months.

ANYONE INTERESTED in the welfare of cats and dogs is welcome to attend meetings of the Good Shepherd Foundation. Mrs. Sara Thomas presides at the business meetings which are followed by refreshments and a period of good fellowship and cat-and-dog talk.

Although contributions are always accepted to help in carrying on its good work, the Good Shepherd Foundation has an interesting way to help raise funds. At each meeting the members bring "white elephants"—anything from unused hair-curlers to unwanted articles of clothing—to be sold. The cost of the articles is kept low, so low, in fact, as to be almost ridiculous, but everyone has an hilarious time around the white elephant table—and pennies mount up to dollars that go to help in the welfare of cats and dogs who might otherwise suffer or die.

A FREE DOG obedience class for children, 8 to 14 years, and their dogs, will start Aug. 4, 11 a.m. to noon, at 5400 Cherry Ave. Children must be accompanied by their parents. The class will meet once a week for six weeks. Joe DeBeck will be the trainer.

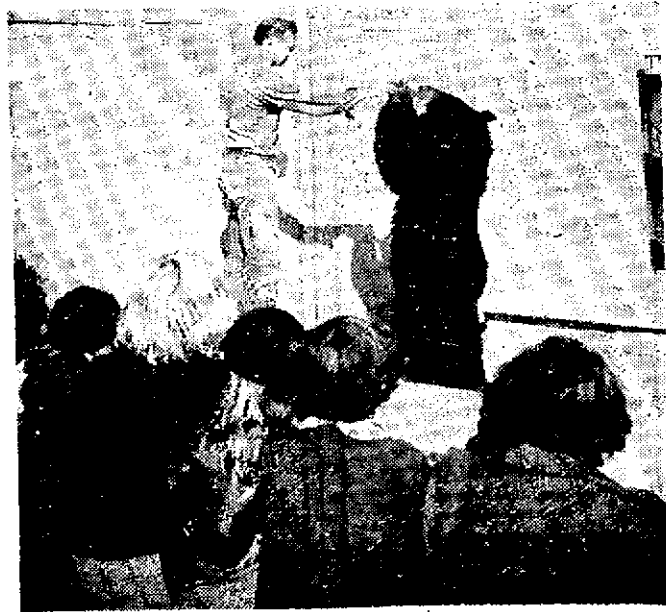

THE WORD Identicode probably strikes a familiar ring, for there are estimated to be about 18,000 dogs, pure or mixed breeds of all kinds, Identicode in the Los Angeles area. Identicode is an eight-year-old national service dedicated to protect dogs by placing indelible codes on the inner right rear leg. Records and service necessary to protect the dogs are maintained by a local, state and national code system. Codes last a lifetime, and lifetime identity records are maintained for 10 years in a Federal Reserve member bank.

Many additional services such as change of address, medical vaccine registration and other critical data are a courtesy of the Identicode service. (For location of local Identicode stations, you may telephone the author at Long Beach 5-3369.)

BESIDES THE BARON, he has a few monkeys. But he has had a gibbon ape, zebra, Japanese deer, horses, coyotes, ocelot, hairless Chinese crested dog, spider monkeys, javelina (wild boar), raccoons, parrots, red mackaw and blue and white peacocks.

Sharing his enthusiasm for pets are his wife, Joanna, and their son, Frankie Joe, 4, and daughter, Susie, 2.

He Likes Pop--on You!

By Helen Smith

SANTA ANA. KNOW WHO has the biggest appetite for pop in Southern California?

Baron Leone, a Himalayan bear owned by Frank McCubbins, 16422 Harbor Blvd.

The Baron—you're right, he was named for the wrestler—polishes off one to three cases of pop a day.

Frank solved the bear's frequent need for cooling, nonalcoholic beverage by installing a soft drink dispenser near his cage. Visitors may offer him a bottled drink with the use of a pole.

A TRIP TO SIAM a few years ago produced the 15-pound Himalayan bear cub. The tiny, fuzzy "teddy bear" first was kept in a bird cage but now stands taller than a man, weighs more than 300 pounds, and occupies a cement-walled open-front den.

Frank attributes part of the bear's weight to the unending supply of pop.

The son of S. H. McCubbins, who then was an animal importer, Frank became interested in animals some six years ago

Start Primrose Seed Now

By Murtha Hurley

PRIMROSES, plants of grace and intimate charm, radiant with pretty, sparkling flowers through winter and spring, are at their best in Long Beach gardens. The plants start to bloom in December and continue to flower up to and often including May.

Two varieties of this large family that are popular here and that grow easily from seed are Fairy Primrose, primula malacoides, and primula obconica. A third primrose, of the polyanthus variety, is also much in prominence these days. However, its propagation is easier from plants or divisions and not from seed.

If you have the knack of growing flowers from seeds and want to add the charm of primroses to your winter beds and for pot plants, sow the seeds in July.

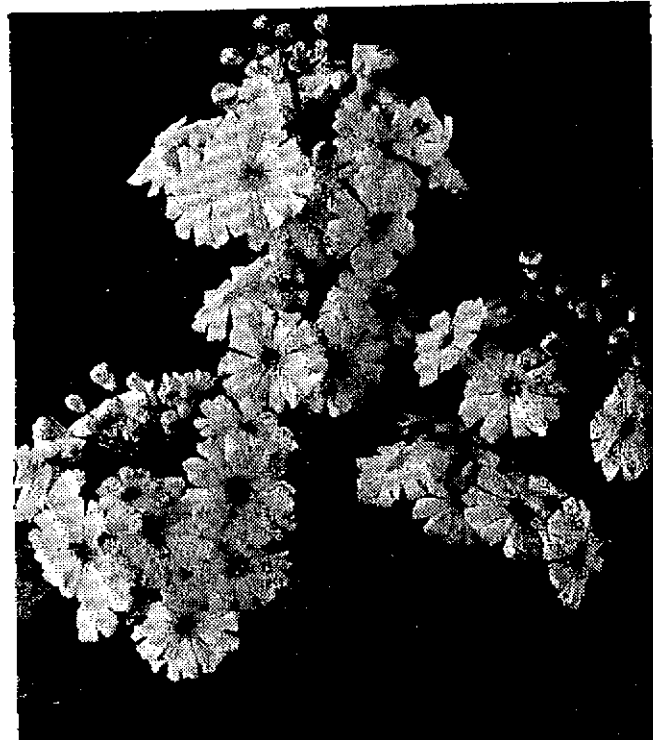

Fairy primroses, so airy and dainty, are charming when interplanted among spring bulbs or massed solidly in a border behind pansies or violas, candytuft or other cool season flowers. They are particularly effective, peeking out from the nooks of a rock garden or framing a shubbery border, also doing well in pots for patio or terrace.

Although the plants have a delicate, fragile look, actually they are very sturdy. From low, dense tufts of decorative lobed foliage rise slender, wiry eight to 10-inch stems bearing dancing flower clusters. Colors are gay, varying from clear pink to rosy lilac, lavender, glowing rosy-red and pure white. Keep the faded flowers snipped for a long blooming season.

PRIMULA OBCONICA is generally grown in pots but it is just as easy to grow in the open ground as the Fairy primrose. It has larger flowers in pink, rose, lavender or white and blooms sometimes longer even than Fairy primrose. It makes a handsome large pot plant, its large leaves forming a crown above the pot's rim, the flowers rising up on foot-high stems. It is a great favorite as a gift plant.

In beds, plant it among cyclamen, forget-me-nots or cinerarias. This plant has one fault. It has leaf hairs that have an irritating effect on the skin of some people.

Primroses require a cool, moist atmosphere and thrive in shade, though they will tolerate the sun morning and evening. They need a rich, well drained, slightly acid soil. A mulch of leaf mold is good. The plants abhor drought and heat and quickly fade off in a baked soil or when exposed to dry winds. Feed the plants with liquid manure when coming into flower.

Flower clusters of both Fairy primroses and primula obconica lend themselves well to artistic arrangements.

Here's a novel way to sow the seeds. It is used by many professional growers. Spread the seeds between moist blotters and place in a tray in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator. At the end of one week, remove them and let them thaw out overnight or for one day. Return them to the freezing com-

I no longer think of lawn moth or sod webworm as a spring, summer or autumn problem. I do not think of it as seasonal at all because, from early spring until late fall, new cycles of lawn moths will appear in various sections of the country with their subsequent hatch of sod webworms creating brown patches in lawns.

Proper timing of the application of your control measures for this pest is all important. Do not apply control measures when the moths are on the wing, nor immediately afterward. Wait at least a week; ten days is even better. Then, whatever control measures you use will be applied as the young worms are starting to hatch and will be many times more effective.

Tips on Gardening

GARDENING TIPS for the week . . . A lovely bougainvillea is Texas Dawn, a splendid pink-flowered variety. The bougainvillea is very much at home here in Southern California. It performs especially well when covering stucco buildings or as a subject where vines are desired. Fuchsias will react favorably during the summer months to being doused with cold water.

This treatment invigorates the plants and produces, even though temporarily, a more humid environment. Keep the soil damp about your camellias. If the roots dry out this summer the flowers may suffer next spring. Use a mulch of peat or leaf mold, substances that hold the moisture and tend to reduce the temperature at the surface.

partment for one more night, then sow in flats or pots.

A MIXTURE of vermiculite and sand, moistened before sowing, is an excellent seed-sowing medium. It's best to sow the seed in rows rather than to broadcast. To prevent the seedlings from becoming spindly, try to space seeds evenly. Primrose seeds are tiny, so mixing a little sand with the seeds helps to spread them more evenly.

A trick of covering seed flats with an inverted flat from which the bottom has been removed and replaced with a piece of muslin is excellent for summer seed sowing. It reduces drying out, tempers the light, prevents plants from becoming weak and spindly. After sowing, set the flat in a cool, shady spot.

A good idea when sowing seeds in pots or plant bands, to prevent drying out, is to sink the pots to within an inch of the rim in boxes filled with moist peat moss.

In hot weather it may be necessary to sprinkle seed flats twice a day.

Sunny House

a wood chopping block installed by Dingler.

A small staircase leads from the dining room to the second story.

The "hobby room" has pale pink walls with white tie-back curtains, pin-dotted in cherry red. Over a print love seat hangs a cuckoo clock and a grouping of small pictures.

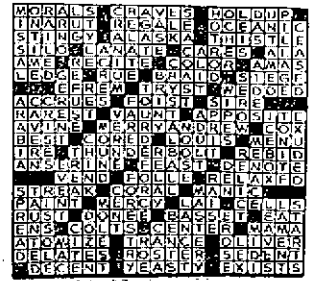

MRS. DINGLER PAINTED her sewing machine cabinet flat black and ornamented it with gilt scrolls. In accord is an amusing old platform rocker of undetermined ancestry whose frame has been similarly painted. Its upholstery is a pink and deep rose-red provincial print. A small black iron stool stands before a dressing table that is part of a chest of drawers built all the way along a 12-foot wall. The built-in cabinet, made by Dingler, has a provincial finish and is topped with a counter of pale green, marble-pattern plastic.

The master bedroom has walls of deep sage green and a high exposed-rafter ceiling.

THE TELEVISION ROOM has swinging saloon doors of pine and wall paneling, finished in a greyed driftwood.

Even the bathroom has come in for its share of the Dinglers' artistry. Pine cabinets with shutter doors were built and installed—along with wall paneling and sliding white plastic shower "curtain"—by Mr. Dingler.

BOOK REVIEWS

In Time of Trouble

THE HAPPY NOVEL is a welcome change at times, and Elizabeth Goudge is at her best when dealing with characters whom the reader can feel are trustworthy. In "The Rosemary Tree" (Coward McCann, $3.95) no sly advantages are taken with the reader; when the story opens in the home of John Wentworth, which contains his vaguely unhappy wife and three sprightly daughters, and Michael Stone appears at the roadside to be comforted by John the vicar, a good and honest story is promised.

Michael had come from prison, and he had been engaged to Wentworth's wife in his non-imprisoned past. Where John blundered, Michael also blundered, until tension grew. And that there was a school in the area that was run by a perfectly dreadful woman adds to the suspense. Mary O'Hara did her best for the set-upon children, but she grew troubled and weary of the unpromising life of a school mistress. Michael found her at a time of great trouble, and the unfolding of a natural love between the two unhappy people makes a sensitive and happy story which is good Goudge.—G.L.

IF YOU'RE GOING abroad, and wish to be led by the hand over routes which not only save time and money but which also offer the most in sightseeing, don't pass up "Nagel's Europe Travel Guide" (Nagel Publishers, 23, rue du Vuache, Geneva, Switz, no price given). For here is the peer of all detailed travel guides, now in a new, up-to-the-minute edition. There are complete descriptions and information about the unusual countryside you're looking for, entertainment, restaurants and hotels (with prices and type of accommodations), churches, art galleries, and even current fairs and festivals country by country and city by city. The guide contains 1,024 pages of which 174 are maps (126 of them in color), plus a large, detailed color map of Europe.

TWO FAMOUS best-sellers by Bruce Barton—"The Man Nobody Knows" and "The Book Nobody Knows"—have been combined into one volume in a new and revised edition called "The Man and the Book Nobody Knows" (Bobbs-Merrill, $3.50). The motivating idea in each is that the greatest life ever lived and the greatest book ever written can be rediscovered in each generation and understood anew when it is interpreted in terms that that generation understands best. Mr. Barton does give a new and vital insight into Jesus and the Bible, discussing them as he does in modern, everyday terms. To read the book is to be spiritually refreshed and enriched.

THE SMALL, PRIM, insignificant looking man appeared, blackmailed, vanished . . . appeared, blackmailed, vanished. He seemed untraceable. But once, he stopped to admire the head of a Roman statue. That set him apart, and from that slender clue, he was tracked down. The absorbing thriller, a study of one man's mind acting upon another, is "Small Venom" (Dodd, Mead, $2.95) by William Mole.

MAKERS OF FINE cloth will be delighted with "A Handweaver's Workbook" (Macmillan, $4.50), which is devoted exclusively to the four-harness loom. Author Heather G. Thorpe points out that while the book is designed for the novice,

DOROTHEA JONES
Tours Washington

For tourists, there's a new guide to the nation's capital: "Washington Is Wonderful." This one, written by Dorothea Jones, (Harper, $3.75) includes 10 suggested tours.

and that the four-harness loom is the most practical for the average weaver inexhaustible effects are possible by the introduction of color in the threads used and by use of various fibers. There are chapters on such vital subjects as loom assembly, winding the warp, threading the pattern; and many unique weaves are introduced. Drawings clarify the text and make it simple to follow.

THE UNITED STATES is not a democracy, but a "republic of the most advanced type ever developed," states Bela Hubbard, petroleum geologist, in "Political and Economic Structures" (The Caxton Printers, Ltd., $4.) Communism and socialism, two forms of planned economy, are believed by Hubbard to be primitive systems, predominant in the Stone Age and still found flourishing among savage tribes in remote tropical jungles.

TRUE POETRY is the skillful expression of an emotion, but at times sentiment takes its place to weaken the poet's song. "Wind-Blown Petals" by Marguerite Stanley (Banner Press, Emory University, Ga., $1.50) often faults by being sentimental, but some poems show power and discipline.

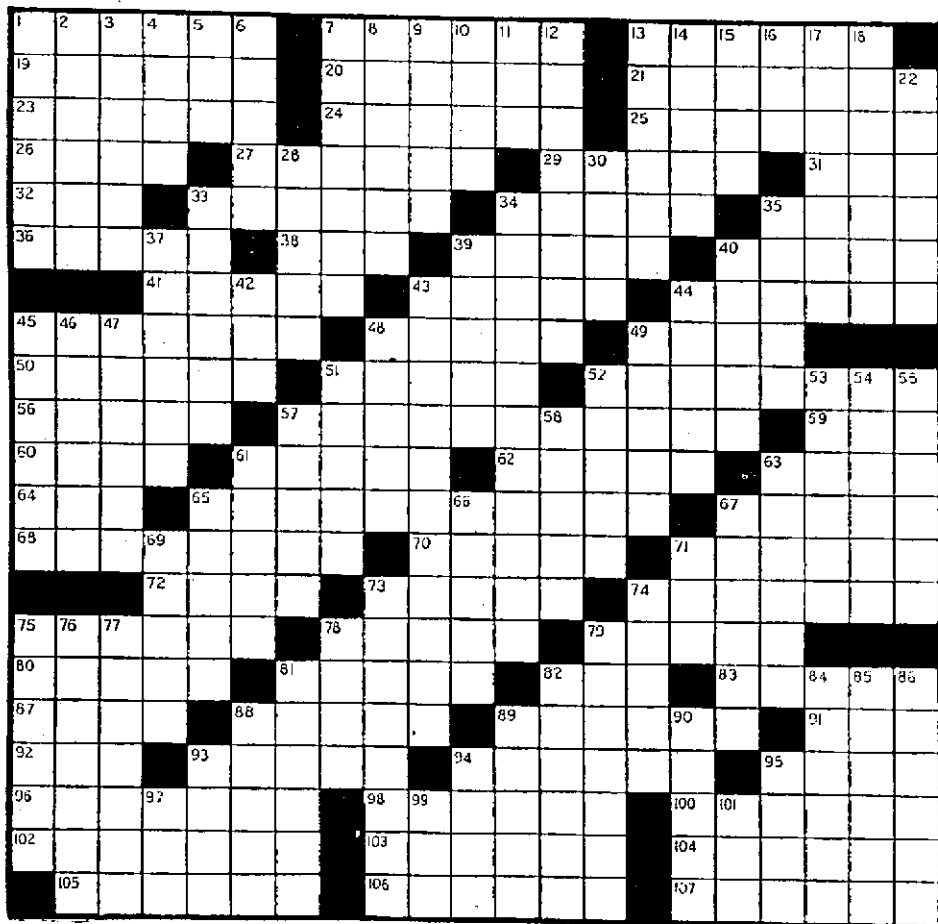

*Courage is a song
That sings in quiet places
When the heart is filled
With trembling, but the lips
Refuse to tremble, and
The voice stays firm and clear.*

Glug, glug, glug!

EVER SO OFTEN at the Hofbrau Club, 22 Hart Pl., they hold a "chug-a-lug" contest. This is a rousing competition to see who can drink a 10-ounce glass of beer the quickest—glug, glug, glug!

And what does the winner
get? A 55-ounce pitcher of beer, no less!

The Hofbrau is an unusual beer garden located on the west side of the Robinson Hotel, which is near Ocean and American Ave. The Hofbrau is not what you would call a quiet place, but it's a heck of a lot of fun, featuring boisterous community singing and the dandy electric accordion of Carl Zeller.
It attracts patrons from all walks of life—folks from the Pike and those from the country club set as well.

FROM 6 TO 9 P.M. Owner-
Host Irv Chernyk offers a bargain 12-ounce top sirloin steak dinner for only $1.50. (From 9 p.m. on it costs $1.85.) The steak is a thick, juicy beauty, served with a salad, hash-browned potatoes, vegetable, toasted garlic bread and coffee.
Also featured are a sauerbraten dinner for $1.25 and a knack-wurst dinner for 85 cents.
(These prices are the same all evening.)

A wide variety of domestic and foreign beers are available.
Among the imported brews are Asahi from Japan, San Miguel from the Philippines, Ballarat from Australia, Heineken from Holland, Hackerbrau from Munich and Tuborg from Denmark.

Lucky Lager on draught is served for 25 cents a stein and $1.05 for the gigantic 55-ounce pitcher. Lowenbrau, a German beer, is also on draught, priced at 35 cents a stein and $1.50 a pitcher.

Open daily until 2 a.m., the Hofbrau also features mixed cocktails, sandwiches, domestic and imported wines and champagnes.

I'll always remember my letter from IKE

by Ruth Geri Hagy

THE AUTHOR (in private life, Mrs. Albert Thomas Brod) has been for the past four years the creator-moderator of ABC-TV's College Press Conference. She will be one of the few women TV commentators reporting both political conventions.

AS A NEWSPAPERWOMAN, forum director and TV producer-commentator, I have had occasion to correspond with many of the world's great leaders.

I shall, however, always remember one letter which I received in 1952 from a man who was then Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Commander of NATO. Perhaps it's because it contains a philosophy of life so touchingly expressed that it seems to me to belong to all Americans. Here are excerpts from a letter I can never forget:

"When, as occasionally happens, I find myself feeling somewhat pessimistic toward life, I recall an admonition that I heard an old commander of mine address occasionally to his subordinates, including me. It ran: 'Always take your job seriously, never yourself!'

"All people are made up of combinations of characteristics that divide themselves fairly well into two categories between which there is constant war. These two categories we can characterize as the noble on the one side, and the ignoble on the other. In the first, we find courage, selflessness, the spirit of team play and cooperation, balance and judgment, consideration of others, cheerfulness and so on. On the other side are, in general, those that are the exact opposites of, or at least the lack of, these particular characteristics. They include fear, hysterical temperament, selfishness and the like.

"In such a complex human mechanism and under the stimulus of various types of temptation, I sometimes wonder that the results we achieve are as satisfactory as they are. Man is complex, puzzling, frequently unreliable; but, all in all, he is most certainly interesting and likeable.

"These truths are what make life worth living. They are the things that keep us going.

"All this to say that, even when I find myself disagreeing violently with what others may lay before me as a duty, when all my instincts refute emphatically the arguments they adduce in support of their position, I try to remember two or three obvious things. The first of these is that the motives and purposes of real friends are pure even if their advice is bad. The second is that it could very well be — indeed probably is — that I am the one in error. Thirdly, my feeling is that if we all just keep trying and never hesitate to devote our best to those things in which we believe, then we can't go too far wrong. The final record, when written, may not be too brilliant. But it will at least reflect honest purpose and effort. Possibly this is the most for which we should, individually, seek."

MINERALS AND AMINO ACID—Safe High Potency Nutritional Formula

25 proven ingredients—11 Vitamins (including Blood-building B₁₂ and Folic Acid), 11 Minerals, Choline, Inositol, and Methionine

TO prove to you the remarkable advantages of the Vitasafer Plan... we will send you, without charge, a 30-day free supply of high-potency VITASAFE C. F. CAPSULES so you can discover for yourself how much healthier, happier and peppier you may feel after a few days' trial! Just one of these capsules each day supplies your body with over twice the minimum adult daily requirement of Vitamins A, C and D... five times the minimum adult daily requirement of Vitamin B-1 and the full concentration recommended by the National Research Council for the other four important vitamins! Each capsule contains the amazing Vitamin B-12—one of the most remarkably potent nutrients science has yet discovered—a vitamin that actually helps strengthen your blood and nourish your body organs by stimulating your bone marrow to produce more and more energy-bearing red corpuscles.

And note this! The normal retail price of similar vitamin capsules would be $5.00. Yet now you get this 30-day supply of VITASAFE C. F. CAPSULES without charge! And here's why!

Why We Make This Sensational Offer!

We offer you this 30-day free trial of VITASAFE C. F. CAPSULES for just one simple reason. So many persons have already tried VITASAFE C. F. CAPSULES with such astounding results... so many people have already written in telling us how much better they felt after only a short trial... that we are convinced you, too, may experience the same feeling of health and well-being after a similar trial.

In fact, we're so convinced that we're willing to back up our convictions with our own money. You don't spend a penny for the vitamins! You don't risk a thing! All the cost and all the risk are ours!

In other words, we're willing to give you a full 30-day supply of our VITASAFE C. F. CAPSULES for you to prove to your own satisfaction your body's need for a comprehensive nutritional formula.

Why YOU May Need These Safe High-Potency Capsules

MASTER THIEF Minnie C. Mangum took record sums, got 20 years.

COULD YOU BE AN

Here's a startling report on an 'amateur' crime that costs bosses

A PLUMP, GRAYING spinster who looks as prim and kindly as your favorite aunt has just been sent to jail for 20 years for stealing more money than any other woman in history. For 28 years, Minnie Mangum worked for the Commonwealth Building & Loan Association in Norfolk, Va. During 22 of those years she systematically juggled the books to conceal shortages amounting to nearly $3,000,000.

This extraordinary excursion into crime is the most dramatic illustration to date of a mounting problem which is baffling law-enforcement authorities, business executives and insurance companies across America.

Miss Mangum is merely one of thousands, possibly millions, of employees who have been helping themselves to company assets — taking everything from postage stamps and pencils to hard cash. This "amateur" embezzlement is skyrocketing at a fantastic rate, costing bosses in the nation as much as $500,000,000 a year. So reports the Surety Association of America, which represents many of the country's bonding companies, insurers of employee honesty.

Insurance officials, basing their estimate on the embezzlement claims being paid to victims, assert that the crime has jumped 400 per cent in the past 10 years. And the take may actually run far higher. According to the Surety Association, many firms which catch employees with their fingers in the till are reluctant to reveal the fact. The affair is handled privately and hushed up to avoid "bad publicity."

The frightening aspect of the entire problem is this:

It shows all too clearly that, given enough temptation and enough cause, almost anybody can become an embezzler!

Investigators seeking an answer to the shocking wave of employee thefts advance the theory that nearly all of us have a mite of dishonesty in our makeup which we neither label as such nor even recognize. We think nothing of taking stamps from the office, carrying home a ream of paper or a small tool, making long-distance calls on the boss' bill.

Any difference between these tactics and embezzlement is academic. One man took a few dollars from petty cash every time he was short, and never replaced the money. Another paneled his entire rumpus room with wood from the lumber yard where he worked.

A Step to Larger Sums

It's a mere step from this to stealing bigger sums and more costly merchandise, and an astonishingly large number are taking it. The Minnie Mangums, who grab millions, get headlines but the multitude of obscure pilferers with less ambitious designs on the cashbox are just as guilty.

In case after case the embezzler turns out to be the "trusted employee," admired for his efficiency, respected for his devotion to duty and generally considered above suspicion. Asserts B. N. Mercer, president of the Fidelity and Deposit Co. in Baltimore: "Almost invariably, the embezzler's previous record with the company was spotless, his reputation excellent."

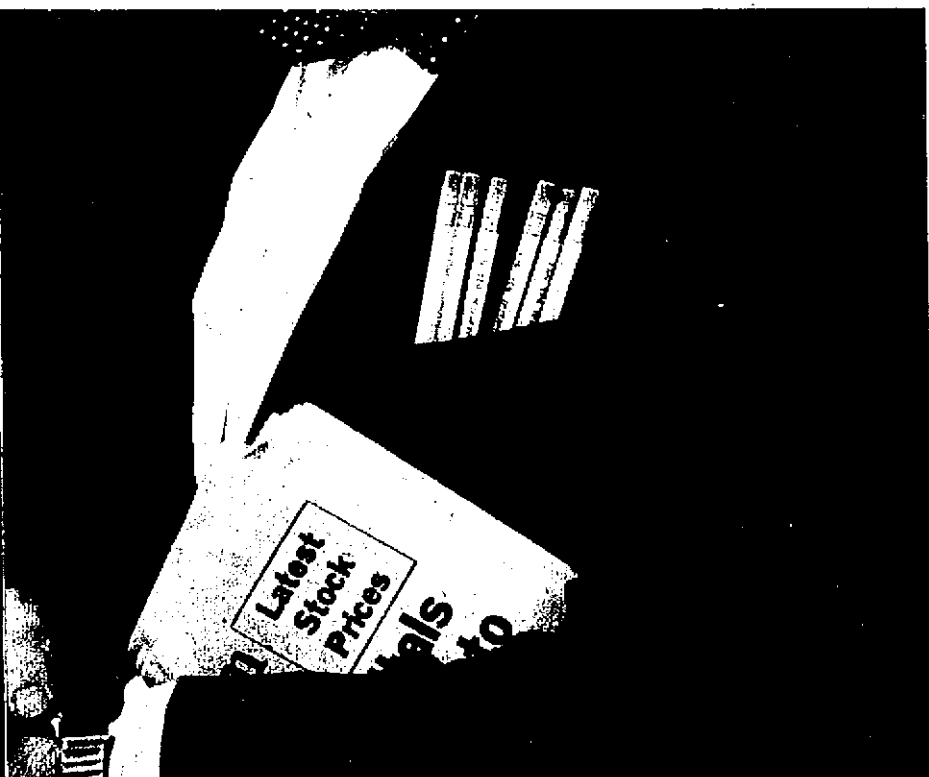

Because of this, police officials and insurance executives are labeling these thefts the "amateur's crime." Psychologists are suggesting that every employed person examine carefully his own attitudes, mode of life and susceptibility to temptation, and ask the frank question: "Could I be an embezzler?"

Could you? Studies producing a composite picture of the embezzler show that he can be anyone at all. He's the average man or woman living anywhere in the United States.

In the south, a mild-mannered, "respected citizen" is charged with embezzling $300,000 from the bank where he held the position of vice president. In the Midwest a cashier for a delivery service, never in trouble before, goes weeping to jail after appropriating $12,000 of his firm's money. In New York city, a respected attorney, pillar of his community, steals $60,000 in bank funds. In a midwest city, a 58-year-old widow takes $3,000 from the store where she has worked for 30 years.

The pitiable fact is that these and most other embezzlers were honest until temptation hit them at a vulnerable moment. The U.S. Fidelity and Guarantee Co. reports: "They considered themselves honest and when they first stole from their employers they regarded it as merely 'borrowing' to tide themselves over an emergency need for money — real or fancied."

One explanation is offered by David Porter, the Surety Association's educational director, who contends that all people have a moral breaking point. Investigation by the Association shows that:

BEGINNER taking only pencils may soon be tapping the cash box.

EMBEZZLER?

$500 million a year by LESTER DAVID

"When there is enough need, nervous strain and turmoil, a basically honest person can turn dishonest. This enables us to understand why a previously upright individual becomes a thief, though it does not in any sense excuse the crime."

What, specifically, causes such a desperate need for money that an individual would be willing to risk career, reputation and everything else he has built up in a lifetime? These are found to be basic motivating factors:

1) Gambling. One surety manager told the Chicago Crime Commission: "Gambling is probably the greatest single contributing factor that we know of, particularly with claims of large size." All forms of betting are involved, but race-track plunging crops up more often than any other type. Generally the first step is small, but as losses rise thefts get bigger and bigger to cover up.

2) Living beyond one's means. The embezzler, says J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, is usually a man "with an egotistical pride which forces him to live above his income." Or a wife who tries too hard to keep up with the Joneses; or children whose demands surpass his financial means.

In all cases, the expenses go much higher than income, the family gets deeper and deeper in debt, worries mount — and the hand reaches for the cash drawer. The embezzler means to return the money next payday, but puts it off because he owes too much. Repayment is deferred indefinitely. And once he has stolen, it becomes easier to do so again and again.

3) Bad associates. In quite a few cases, the "other woman" is a causative factor. A typical case was that of the 45-year-old father of three on the West Coast, who stole $22,500 over a three-year period to buy gifts for a young blonde carhop. Frequently, too, men fall in with a good-time crowd and need money to help finance the fun.

Some embezzlers are the dupes of others and do not profit by their thievery. One teller, for instance, met three "nice people" who flattered and entertained him. The "nice" folks then induced him to cover up repeatedly when they overdrew their accounts. The shortages climbed to $49,000.

How They Do It

Embezzlers' techniques range from elementary to very fancy. Some, like Richard H. Crowe, simply take money and walk out with it. Mr. Crowe walked out of a National City Bank branch in New York City with $883,660, but of course didn't get away with it.

Others use such devices as inventing bills from phantom customers, paying them and pocketing the money; withdrawing cash from dormant bank accounts; dipping into petty cash by "hiking" vouchers; selling goods, "forgetting" to record the sales and taking the money; collecting long-due bills without reporting them; raising amounts on checks after they have been approved.

Can anything be done to halt the galloping embezzlement wave? Authorities say you can do plenty.

One way, says the FBI, is to check your bank state-

Watch for These Danger Signs

Psychologists say nearly everyone is a potential embezzler. Here's a test to help you detect warning signs in yourself. Give yes or no answers.

- 1 You bought something for a quarter and paid for it with a $5 bill. The clerk, mistaking it for $10, gave you $9.75 change. Would you keep it?
- 2 When dining out with friends, do you generally overtip to make an impression?
- 3 Do your children go with friends whose parents are quite a bit wealthier than you?
- 4 Do you owe any friend or relative $50 or more borrowed as a personal loan more than three months ago?
- 5 You are in a department store where signs say it is unlawful to smoke. Would you light up anyway if you felt you wanted a cigarette?
- 6 When talking about yourself to people, do you pretend your family is wealthier than it actually is?
- 7 Did you phony up your income-tax return this year to save yourself a "nice piece of change"?
- 8 Are you a hypochondriac?
- 9 Do you enjoy gossiping about friends, neighbors and business acquaintances?
- 10 Are you convinced your boss exploits you — pays you too little and demands too much?

WHAT YOUR REPLIES MEAN: Only yes answers count. Each indicates a factor in the embezzler's makeup. Here's how to interpret them: 1 and 7 — some dishonesty present in your character; 2 and 6 — inferiority feelings; 3 — children's demands can get you in trouble; 4 — unreliable about debts; 5 — antisocial aggressiveness; 8 and 9 — insecurity, which can mean weak resistance to temptation; 10 — deep resentment which can lead you to feel it's okay to steal from such a meanie.

SCORING: A rating of up to 4 marks you a fairly safe bet; between 4 and 7, a borderline possibility. If you score over 7, put some weights on your fingers — they may be a little light and get you into trouble.

ment carefully and report mistakes at once. Your suspicion should be aroused if you spot a difference between the date shown for a deposit and the date you actually made it. Also, never allow an account to remain dormant long; ask for a statement.

Here is how the boss can help: Insurance companies and legal authorities say a big dent can be made in office pilfering if banks and businesses would tighten up sloppy accounting systems and thus remove temptation from employees. Loose money hanging around, plus looser controls over it, can push a weak and hard-pressed individual over the line. Here are specific recommendations:

Rotate all employees in money-handling jobs so that nobody gets too deeply involved.

Require all personnel, including executives, to take annual vacations. Many times a trusted employee has stayed on the job, not from devotion to duty, but to avoid being found out.

Institute systems of checks and balances so that no one individual has sole supervision over cash or merchandise.

Insist on countersignatures on all checks.

The real answer, though, lies with the man or woman in the shop, office, factory or executive suite. Temptation, however strong, must be set aside because a human being has to live with himself. And few embezzlers, who say they steal to help their families, ever consider they are really letting their loved ones in for a lifetime of misery and regret — not to mention themselves.

5 ways with Franks

As American as baseball, as young in heart as the circus, frankfurters are a national favorite.

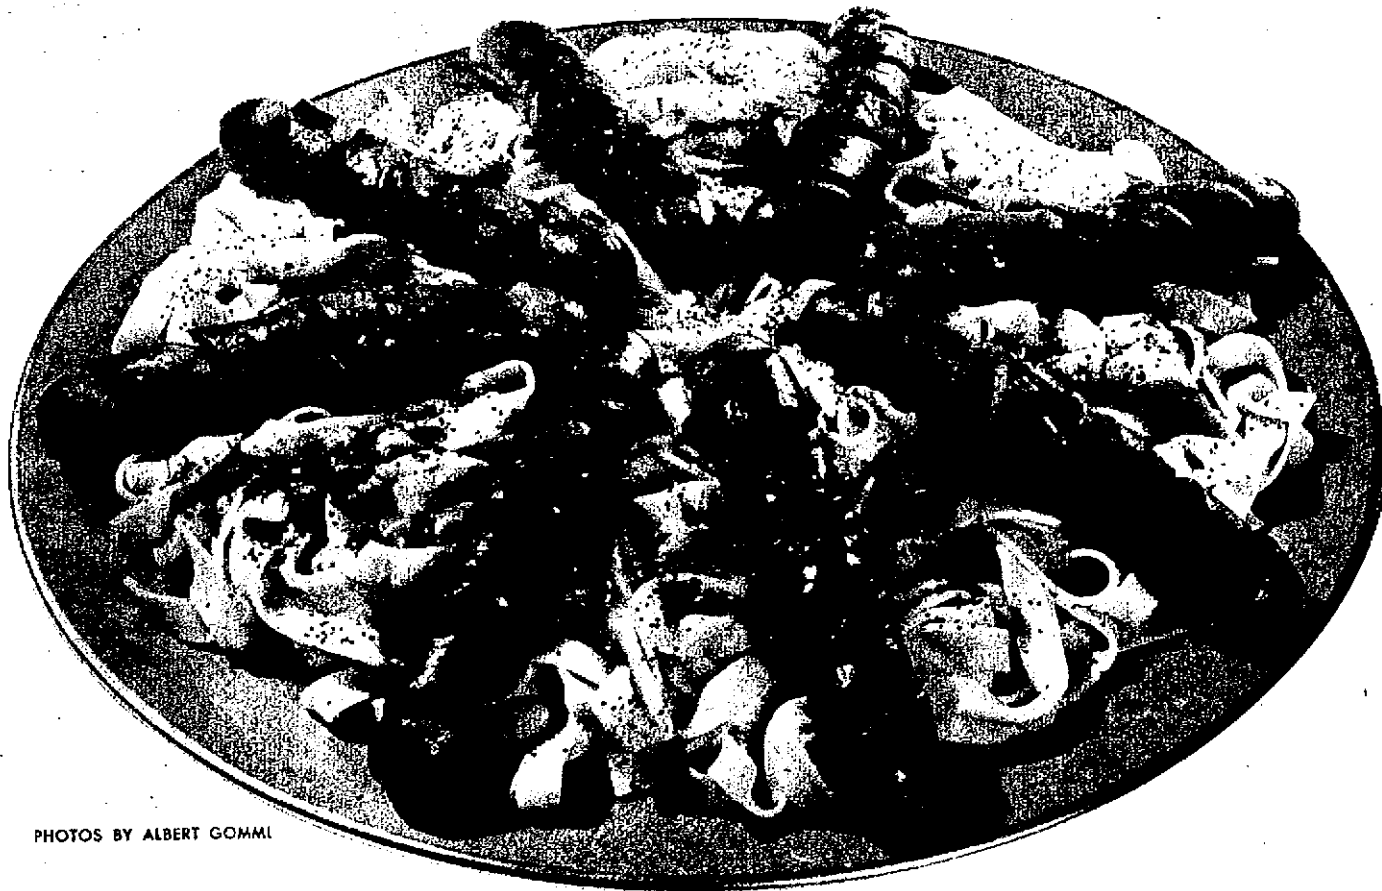

Here are new ways to serve them

by BETH MERRIMAN PARADE FOOD EDITOR

Dutch Franks

Shred 1 small cabbage; cook with $\frac{1}{2}$ cup water, 2 tablespoons butter and 1 teaspoon salt in skillet on medium heat 10 minutes; split 8 frankfurters; place on cabbage; cover; cook 5 minutes. Melt $\frac{1}{4}$ cup butter; blend in 2 tablespoons flour, 4 teaspoons each dry mustard and sugar, 1 teaspoon salt. Stir in 1 cup water, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup vinegar; stir until thick. Stir in $\frac{1}{4}$ cup mayonnaise, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup pickle relish, 4 radishes, sliced. Fill franks with sauce. Makes four servings.

KITCHEN HINT

Whatever you call them — hot dogs, weiners, all hats, franks — don't overcook them. Remember that they have been precooked and need only to be brought to serving temperature in a skillet or broiler, in hot water, in a casserole mixture, etc.

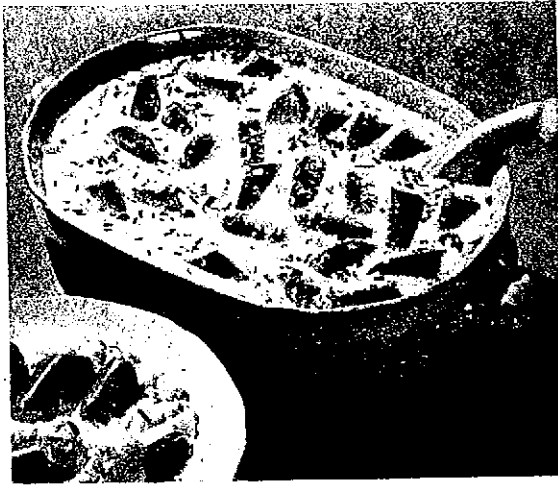

Savory Franks and Noodles

Score 8 frankfurters at half-inch intervals. Brown with $\frac{1}{4}$ cup grated onion in 2 tablespoons fat in skillet on medium heat. Remove frankfurters. Stir in 1 tablespoon flour. Add $\frac{1}{4}$ cup ketchup, 1 cup dairy sour cream, 2 teaspoons sugar, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon bottled hot-pepper sauce and $\frac{1}{4}$ cup water. Stir until thickened. Replace frankfurters; heat to boiling point. Serve over hot buttered noodles; sprinkle with poppy seed. Makes four servings.

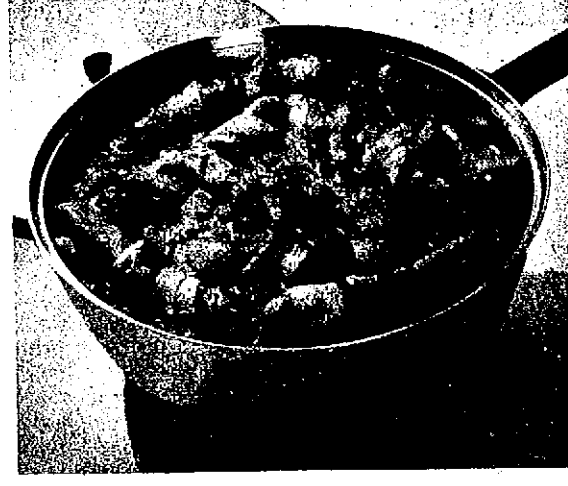

Spanish Franks

Brown 8 frankfurters in a skillet, using medium heat; remove frankfurters. Melt $\frac{1}{4}$ cup fat in skillet; add $\frac{1}{2}$ green pepper, diced, 1 medium onion, chopped, and 1 5-oz. pkg. pre-cooked rice. Cook and stir, using high heat, until lightly browned. Add $1\frac{3}{4}$ cups hot water, 2 8-oz. cans tomato sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper; mix well. Bring to boil; cover, lower heat; simmer 15 minutes; replace frankfurters; simmer 5 minutes longer. Makes four servings.

Fresh Corn Chowder With Franks

Melt 2 tablespoons butter; add 1 large onion, sliced thin; cook over medium heat until onion is soft but not brown. Add 3 cups diced potatoes, 2 cups boiling water; cover; simmer 10 minutes or until potatoes are fork-tender; add 3 cups corn stripped from cobs, 2 teaspoons salt, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon pepper; cook 5 minutes. Add 1 quart milk. Cut 6 frankfurters in quarters; add; heat to serving temperature but do not allow to boil. Makes four to six servings.

Skillet Beans and Franks

Wrap each of 8 frankfurters in a strip of bacon. Place in cold skillet. Turn heat high; cook, turning carefully, until bacon is uniformly crisp; remove frankfurters; drain fat from skillet. Combine 2 tablespoons each molasses, prepared mustard and vinegar; add to contents of 2 1-lb. cans kidney beans; mix well; pour into skillet. Cook over medium heat until slightly thickened. Place franks on top; heat to serving temperature. Serves four to six.

A NICE GUY off the screen, Sal poses with the woman who intends to see that he stays that way: his mother.

SAL MINEO:

He's got the magic

This 17-year-old from the Bronx is the hottest new actor in Hollywood

A TOUGH GUY on film, Sal acts as spotter for two other teen-age thugs (r.) as they await an unwary passerby in Crime in the Streets.

by LLOYD SHEARER

Occasionally an actor comes along whose personality or talent creates such warm, instantaneous rapport with the audience that its members adopt him as their immediate favorite. Out here it is said of such an actor, "He's got the magic." The newest player to be so classified is a handsome, black-haired boy from the Bronx named Sal Mineo.

At 17, this son of an Italian coffin-maker is recognized as the bobby-soxers' new delight. After 15 TV shows, two Broadway plays and six movies, young Mineo ranks among the first three screen stars on all the movie-magazine popularity polls, receives 2,000 fan letters a month and, according to his mother (with whom he shares PARADE's cover today), "averages at least 30 phone calls a day from girls and young women who just want to hear how he sounds."

Sal's latest film, Somebody Up There Likes Me (the Rocky Graziano story), was previewed here a few weeks ago. Audience cards read like a press agent's panegyric: "Sal Mineo is the most... I dig Mineo. I wish he had the lead instead of Paul Newman... Mineo has genuine acting talent. What a cute guy."

Mineo generated similar reactions in two previous films, Rebel Without a Cause, for which he won an Academy Award nomination, and Crime in the Streets, in which he depicted a juvenile delinquent so effectively that critics dubbed him a junior Marlon faint nor rip his clothes. They crowd around, beseech him for autographs, ask him for his phone number, invite him out on dates.

Because many Mineo fans in the East are aware that his Sicilian-born father owns the Universal Casket Co. in the Bronx, Sal's phone number is relatively well known. The young actor makes it a point, however, not to go out with girls who take the first forward step. "I like to choose my own dates," he explains, "and I won't date any girl more than three times. After that they think we're going steady, and they start to hint about marriage. Can you imagine me getting married at the age of 17?"

Actually, Sal can take girls or leave them alone at this point. What counts most to him is the acting career that keeps him shuttling between Hollywood and New York. When working here, he boards with Mrs. Gladys Hone, who teaches school at Universal-International Studios.

"Insofar as we're concerned," Mrs. Hone declares, "Sal is a dream—polite, respectful and well-mannered. His major interest is acting and his major hobby, like most teenagers, is his car. Out here he's a member of something called the Kurb Krushers. It's a car club that buys old cars and builds them up for drag races."

In New York Sal lives with his parents, two older brothers and a younger sister in a sturdy, old-fashioned Bronx house near Long Island Sound. Sal's parents, Josephine and Salvatore Mineo, are peacock-proud of their boy's success. "Frankly," adds his mother, "it surprises me. I knew Sal had talent—but after only two years in pictures, everyone wants him. Why?"

Boy of Many Looks

"Some say Sal has the magic. Others say it's that he's wistful, that he looks gentle, that he gives the feeling he needs mothering. Others tell me he's got the Sinatra Look, the Marlon Brando Look, the Jimmy Dean Look. I've even been told he's a male Grace Kelly. All we know for certain is that he's got some quality the public likes. The other thing is that Sal has always been ambitious. Ever since he was 7 he's wanted to become a movie star.

"I remember like it was only yesterday. He came up to me one day, this skinny little guy, jet-black hair, jet-black eyes, olive skin. 'Mama,' he asked, 'why can't I go to dancing school and become like Fred Astaire?'"

"Sal," I said, "if you go, then I have to send your two brothers and your sister. What's fair for one is fair for all." Well, Sal kept after me so strongly that finally I took all the kids to one of these children's academies in Manhattan. Sal and Sarina studied dancing; my older boys, Vic and Mike, studied the saxophone and clarinet.

"My husband was just starting out on his own making caskets, and we didn't have very much money. To pay for the kids' music and dancing lessons, I used to do typing and Brando. His television work (at $2,000 a show) on Studio One, Omnibus and Good-year Playhouse also has won him popular and critical acclaim.

Unlike Elvis Presley and the rest of the rock-and-rollers; who stimulate adolescent rebellion with their extravagant gestures and sensual singing styles, Sal seems to bring out only the wholesome qualities in his fans. On seeing him in person they neither screech, bookkeeping at the school. It was worth it, because Sal was in seventh heaven. I couldn't stop that boy from dancing.

"Later, when he moved up to dramatics, it was the same thing. My other children slowed down and dropped out. Not Sal. Acting, dancing, show business, all of it was always running hard in his blood."

When Sal was 11, he was selected by Broadway producer Cheryl Crawford for a walk-on role in The Rose Tattoo. A year later Rodgers and Hammerstein signed him as understudy to the Crown Prince in The King and I. Eventually, he grew into the Crown Prince role, appearing nightly opposite Gertrude Lawrence and Yul Brynner.

This stint increased his appetite for bigger parts, and at one point he urged his mother to get him an agent. "You've gotta let me do TV," he pleaded.

"I don't gotta do nothing," his mother recalls answering, "except see that you're raised a normal, decent boy."

One day Sal's brother Mike, whose photo Mrs. Mineo also had placed in the actors' directory, received a phone call from a Universal casting director in New York. They needed a youngster to play Jeff Chandler's younger brother in a forthcoming film, Six Bridges to Cross. Would Mike care to audition? Mike said yes and turned up at the audition hall with brother Sal. Both Mineos read for the part. A week later Chandler refused to star in the film, and the lead was taken over by Tony Curtis. Who resembles Tony Curtis? Sal Mineo. And that's how Sal got his first movie job.

A New Personality

Next came The Private War of Major Benson. Soon word spread that a hot young actor from Broadway was in town, a kid scarcely 16, 5' 7", 125 pounds, with large, deep eyes, wavy black hair tumbled on his forehead and, most important of all, a personality that seemed to excite girls. Moreover, unlike some other newcomers from the stage, this boy was polite, self-effacing and cooperative, more anxious to please than to criticize. Before long Sal was picked for the role of Plato in Rebel Without a Cause, and did well enough in it to earn a nomination for an Oscar.

"Sal flew his mother and brother Mike to Hollywood for the Academy Awards Dinner. Mrs. Mineo, a short, stocky, forthright woman, surprised newsmen with her candor and common sense.

"I'm glad Sal was nominated," she said "but I don't really know if it's good for him to win, for a boy to have such success so early in life. Maybe it'll go to his head. And that's one thing the family won't stand for. Sal is a good boy. He's kept both feet on the ground so far, and that's the way it's going to be. I want him to go to college just like his two brothers are doing and get a complete education."

"You mean," asked a veteran Hollywood reporter, "that you want him to give up $1,000 a week?"

Mrs. Mineo explained that there were other riches in life besides money. "Out here they tell me," she elaborated, "that I should give Sal the big build-up, that I should hire a publicist. They say a publicist can arrange to have girls tear Sal's clothes off like they did to Johnny Ray and Frank Sinatra. Sal doesn't need that. If they rip his clothes off, he'll catch cold."

How does Sal himself feel about it?

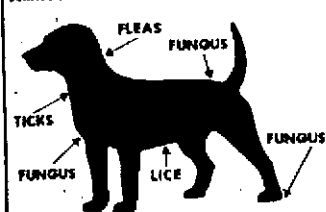

"Mom's been my agent from the very beginning," he says, "and if she thinks it's best for me to go to college, that's where I'm going. What I hope to do is work and go to college both. All I know is that I just love to act. Give me a script, and suddenly my motor starts charging."

Reacting to this attitude, Hollywood has signed Sal Mineo for two films to be completed this summer, Love Crazy (U-I) and Spectacular (MGM). Observes one producer: "This boy and his mother are an unusual breed. They won't go for the pitch that college can wait. We might be able to sell the kid on that line because he's a fanatic for work, but not his old lady. She's a fanatic for building character."

STOPS DOG ITCH

- Destroys Fleas, Lice, Ticks
- Stops Fungus Itch
- Kills Bacteria, Repels Odors

SCRATCHEX WORKS WHERE 'FLEA POWDERS' FAIL

1. Fleas, lice, ticks attack any part of dog. SCRATCHEX kills these insects.
2. Spores from weeds, grass cause fungus itch ('summer itch,' 'mange'). SCRATCHEX stops fungus itch.

Now, an astonishing new medicated powder, proved so effective it is guaranteed to stop your dog scratching in minutes. Even advanced, raw-skin cases of fungus infection are relieved quickly, amazingly by SCRATCHEX.

Exclusive Scratchex Formula was developed by Dr. A. C. Merrick, famous veterinary scientist, who discovered that in 7 out of 10 cases scratching is caused by a fungus infection, often invisible. Only SCRATCHEX combines: 1. Mercap to kill fungus spores, stop fungus itch; 2. Lindane to destroy fleas, lice, ticks on contact; 3. Hexachlorophene to kill bacteria, check odors.

Safe, soothing, SCRATCHEX brings almost instant relief. Long-lasting, helps prevent re-infection. Get SCRATCHEX today at all drug stores and leading pet shops.

Teen-age Topics

A few weeks ago I quoted a 15-year-old girl as saying that she had been smoking for over a year — without permission. My advice was to tell her parents the truth, saying frankly that she smoked and intended to continue to do so. Since then I have received a number of letters from enraged parents. Here is a sample:

"I am sure it would have been much better taste and would have influenced other teenagers to wait a few years before acquiring this bad habit [smoking] if you had advised this child to follow her mother's wishes." — Mrs. T.L.R., Sioux Falls, S. D.

First of all, it may help if I tell my teenage readers, as I have before, that, from a health standpoint, I do not approve of their smoking.

However, I must agree with the views expressed by experts in the Encyclopedia of Child Care and Guidance: they claim that teenagers today see people they admire and respect — be it famous personalities or members of their own families — smoking and feel it is symbolic of ease and sophistication. These experts only can suggest that the "half child, half adult" be asked to postpone smoking until he has reached his full growth and maturity.

The important thing to remember is that the child who smokes against his parents' wishes because of an emotional need to prove something to himself is unhappy at his deception.

Most children, even at very early ages, do some experimenting with smoking. When their parents find it out — and they usually do — it seems better not to make an enormous issue of it. The phase often passes very quickly.

In general, when teen-age smoking becomes a regular occurrence, the child-parent relationship may be benefited if the parents just accept the situation.

Latest thing in bathing suits for the woman who doesn't use Tampax

What do you do when the crowd's going to the beach and it's a "problem day" for you? Make the usual limp, lame excuses? ... "It's too hot" ... "I'm too tired" ... "I forgot a previous engagement" ...

For one thing's sure! Today's bathing suits and external pads simply don't go together. Only with internal sanitary protection can you feel confident your secret's safe. Tampax not only is invisible and unfelt when in place, it even prevents odor from forming!

You've probably read or heard that you can go swimming while wearing Tampax. It's true... but you don't have to, if you don't want to. In any case, you can have the complete freedom of the beach to sun, to have fun, to be part of the group.

Tampax is easy to insert and change; easy to dispose of. Available at drug or notion counters everywhere. Three absorbencies: Regular, Super, Junior. Tampax Incorporated, Palmer, Mass.

HICKORY DICKORY DEATH by Agatha Christie. Hercule Poirot investigates a peculiar crime wave at a fashionable private school. A pretty, young co-ed finally confesses her guilt to... and is promptly MURDERED in her bed! Eric Stanley Gardner calls Agatha "the" in mystery writing. When you read this new gem, you'll know why. Publisher's edition $3.00.

FULL HOUSE by Rex Stout. Here are five exciting chances... for you to try to outguess one of the most fabulous detectives of modern times! But you'd better be careful... Because Nero Wolfe is at his sly best in this hand-picked set.

Each of TWO full-length mystery novels plus THREE novelettes. Consider every word of The Lagoon of Brightness, Man, And So A Villain, The Gun With Wings, Bullet For One and Disguise For Murder! Publisher's edition $3.50.

SUDDENLY A WIDOW by George Harmon Coe. "Ann, this is so warm you" said the note outside her husband's bedroom. "That when you open the door... I WILL BE DEAD." He was! But the police insisted it WASN'T suicide. He had been KILLED! And the note accused Ann of every shocking misbehavior a wife can commit... including MURDER! Publisher's edition $2.75.

A TREASURY OF SHERLOCK HOLMES by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. A huge volume to be dipped into with pleasure, over and over again. This 530 page "library-in-one" contains TWO complete novels — the strange, unswerving Hound of the Baskervilles and the spine-tingling classic A Study in Scarlet — PLUS 27 short story masterpieces about the world's most famous detective. A cornerstone for your mystery library! Publisher's edition $2.65.

THE BASLE EXPRESS by Manning Coles. When a fanatic killer murders the WRONG man, counter-spy Tommy Hambledon is certain that the RIGHT man will be caught and killed in a matter of hours. But then Tommy turns on the "wrong man's" tape recorder, and he discovers that the person really marked for death is... HIMSELF! Publisher's edition $2.75.

WELL, YOU WOKE UP THE ROOSTER! THERE WON'T BE ANY MORE SLEEPIN' NOW! MIGHT AS WELL GET DRESSED!

WE'RE SO SORRY! WE'LL BE GOIN'!

MARTHY, WHAT DO THESE KIDS LOOK LIKE TO YOU?

LIKE THEY WERE TIRED AND HUNGRY CITY GIRLS WHO NEED A HOME-COOKED FARM-SIZE BREAKFAST!

MORE BUCK-WHEAT CAKES, ANYBODY?

MRS. GORDON, YOU'RE THE BEST COOK IN THE WORLD!

OOOO, IS THAT MILK GOOD?

GEE, YOUR TRIP SOUNDS LIKE SUCH FUN!

GOODBYE, AND THANKS AGAIN!

SEND US POSTCARDS AND DON'T SKIMP ON YOUR MEALS!

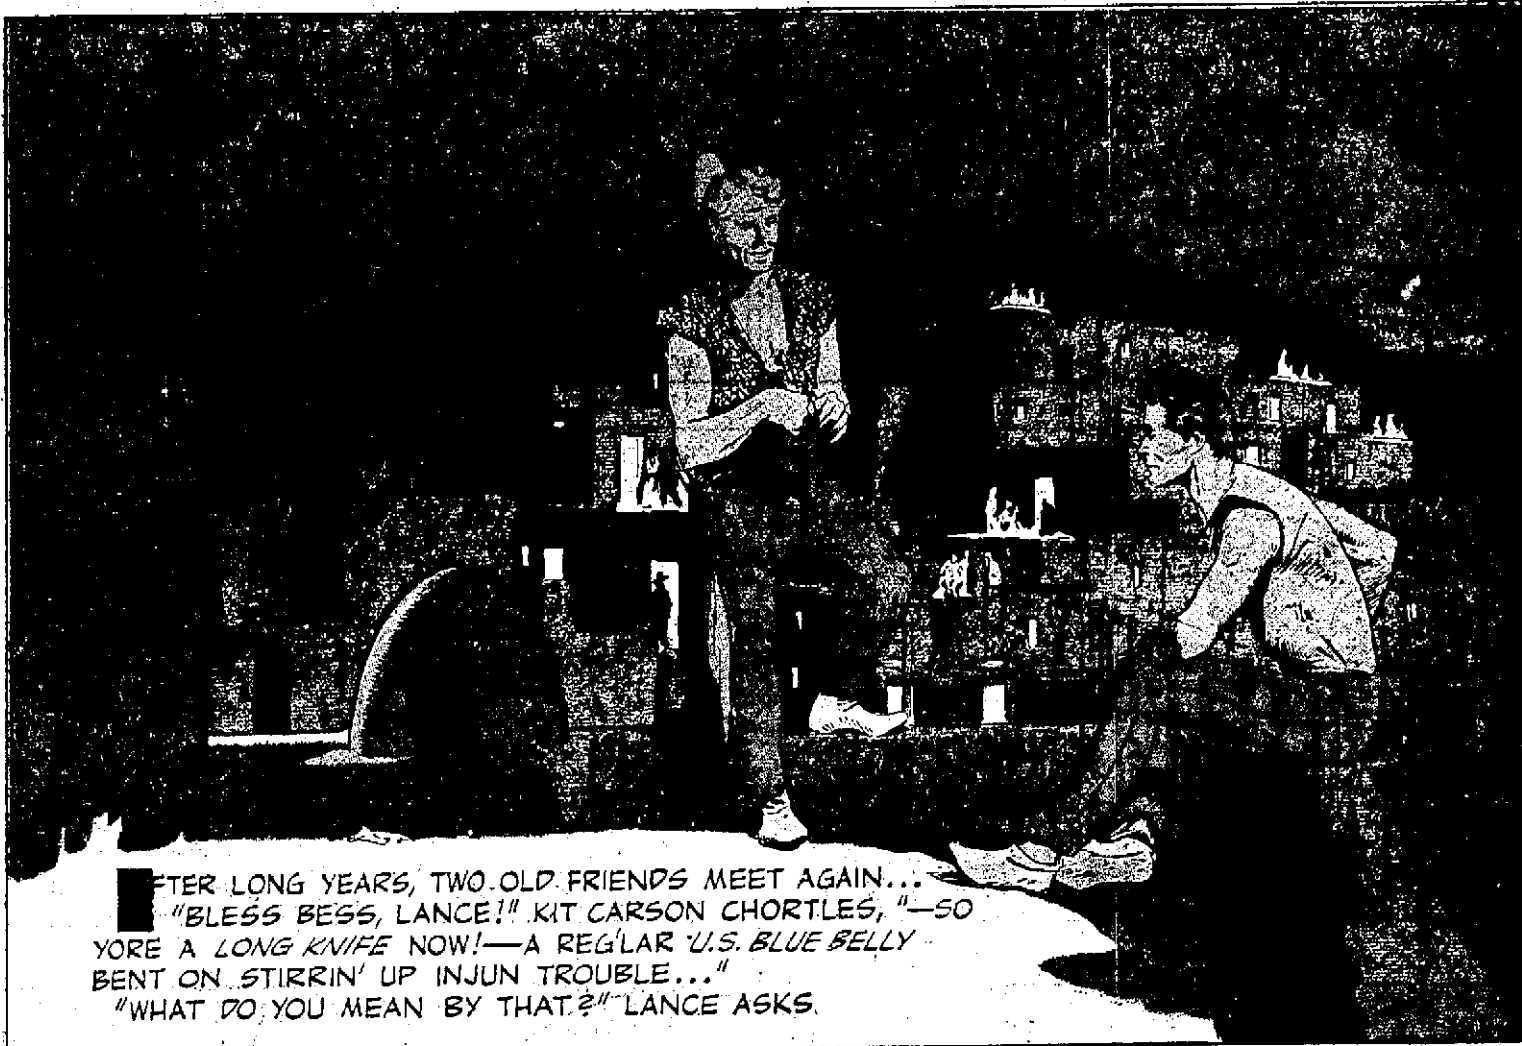

PUMP, JAN! WE WANT TO BE ON TIME FOR THE SQUARE DANCE JAMBOREE IN CALDONIA TONIGHT!

LOOK, I DIDN'T TRAIN FOR THIS TRIP LIKE YOU DID, JILL!... (PUFF)... I HOPE THERE'LL BE SOME BOYS WHO JUST WANT TO SIT!

LATER! ANYTHING CHOICE IN THAT TOUR THAT JUST CHECKED IN, BART?

THERE'S ONE DOLL WITH LONG BROWN HAIR AND BANGS I'M GOING TO GIVE A WHIRL!

AFTER LONG YEARS, TWO OLD FRIENDS MEET AGAIN...
 "BLESS BESS, LANCE!" KIT CARSON CHORTLES, "—SO
 YORE A LONG KNIFE NOW!—A REG'AR 'U.S. BLUE BELLY BENT ON STIRRIN' UP INJUN TROUBLE..."
 "WHAT DO YOU MEAN BY THAT?" LANCE ASKS.

"WAL, AIN'T YORE REGIMINT O' DRAGOONS MARCHIN' TH' HIGH PLAINS RIGHT NOW?"
 "THAT'S RIGHT—HANDING OUT GOOFERAW AND SMOKING PEACE WITH INDIANS..."

"OH, THUNDERATION, PALLY, THAT BOSH DON'T MEAN NOTHIN'! LOOK AT IT 'INJUN': YORE
 REGIMINT'S OUT HERE LOOKIN' ARTER TH'
 WHITE TRADE, TRYIN' T'MAKE IT SAFE FER THEM AN' OTHER TRADERS...AN' THEN SETTLERS!"

"YOU'RE LOOKING LONG OFF, KIT..."
 "MEBBE SO...LIKE TH' SMART INJUNS
 WHO DON'T WANT TH' ARMY T'SAFEN THINGS UP FER SETTLEMINT....!"

"LONG AS YORE JOB IS T'COUNT INJUN HEADS,
 THERE'S ONE YEW ORTN'T T'MISS. HE'S A
 OL' COMANCHE CHIEF...CALLS HISSELF
 'BROKEN NOSE'. 'BOUT A YEAR AGO HE MOVED HIS FAM'LY T' TH' PUEBLO HERE FER TRADE."

KIT AND LANCE REACH THE BROKEN NOSE
 ADOBE TO FIND IT DARK AND DESERTED, THE FLIMSY DOORS BANGING FREE WITH THE WIND.....

A NEIGHBOR CALLS OUT. "SEÑORES, YOU
 SEEK BROKEN NOSE? LAS' WEEK HE MOVE
 HEES FAM'LY AN' ARE GONE! BUENAS NOCHES!"
 LAST WEEK, KIT THINKS—THAT'S WHEN I GOT
 TH' RUMBLE TH' ARMY'S HEADIN' THIS-AWAY....!

AND BOTH WERE YOUNG, AND ONE WAS BEAUTIFUL. BYRON - WELL, MAYBE NOT BEAUTIFUL, BUT WITH HER MIND BEAUTIFULLY MADE UP...

A CHANCE FOR A COLLEGE EDUCATION? TO BE A GREAT SCIENTIST? SO YOU DO HAVE TO WORK, DAY AND NIGHT, FOR FOUR, FIVE, SIX YEARS, TO GET REALLY SMART...

OH, I GUESS IT'S A GOOD DEAL, SALLY... ONLY...

IT'S WONDERFUL! AND YOU CAN DO IT, JUNIOR! YOU'RE NOT A DOPE! YOU'LL BE SUCCESSFUL... A LEADER... OH, JUNIOR... I'LL BE SO PROUD OF YOU...

B-B-BUT, SALLY... IF... IF I DO GO FOR THIS COLLEGE DEAL...

WELL... IT... IT'LL MEAN WE... THAT IS... I'D HOPED YOU AND I... WE... WE'RE PLENTY OLD ENOUGH...

...TO GET MARRIED? NOT IN MY BOOK, WE'RE NOT! LATER, MAYBE!

BUT, SALLY! I'M GOOD AT 'RITHMETIC... THERE'S ANOTHER ANGLE... EVEN WITH JUST HIGH SCHOOL, I CAN MAKE IT BIG...

YEAH? HOW YOU FIGGER?

TWO YEARS' TRAINING... ON THOSE OFFICE MACHINES... GOOD CODER CAN GET TEN... TWELVE GRAND A YEAR! THINK OF IT!

GREAT! SO YOU'D SETTLE FOR THAT? GO AHEAD, BUT INCLUDE ME OUT!

LOOK! MY HOME LIFE HAS BEEN A GREAT LESSON TO ME IN WHAT NOT TO DO! MOM WAS FIFTEEN, DAD SEVENTEEN, WHEN THEY GOT MARRIED. POOR TO BEGIN WITH, THEY NEVER GOT AWAY FROM POVERTY.

LONG AS I REMEMBER, LIFE HAS BEEN A STRUGGLE AGAINST BUM FOOD, COLD FLATS, SICKNESS, NO DOUGH FOR DOCS...

WHAT'D YOUR DAD DO?

LAY ON HIS BACK MOSTLY, AND COUGHED... NEVER HELD A JOB OVER TWO MONTHS... AND MOM... SHE COULDN'T WORK... NEW BABY NEARLY EVERY YEAR...

HOW'D YOU LIVE?

OH, RELIEF... AN AUNT USED TO SEND US THINGS... SOMETIMES MONEY... GEE, I CAN SEE POOR MOM YET... HARDLY MORE'N A KID HERSELF...

SLAVIN' FROM MORN' TILL NIGHT, TRYIN' TO HOLD THE FAMILY TOGETHER, BUT ALWAYS LOOKIN' SAD AND SORT OF DEFEATED.

I LOVE YOU, JUNIOR, BUT LET'S NOT PLAY "TOBACCO ROAD." WE GOT TIME. LET'S GIVE OUR KIDS A BETTER START THAN WE GOT.

WHISTLER OF THE TIMBERLINE, THE HOARY MARMOT IS ALWAYS ON THE ALERT FOR A SNEAK AIR ATTACK...

FOR THE GOLDEN EAGLE MAY SWOOP FROM THE CLOUDS AT ANY MOMENT

THE WARNING IS A SHRILL WHISTLE, WHICH IS RAPIDLY RELAYED FROM MARMOT TO MARMOT

THEN ALL DIVE HEADLONG INTO "AIR RAID SHELTERS" DUG BY THE WISE RODENTS AT REGULAR INTERVALS ALONG THEIR PATHWAYS

AND ONCE MORE THE CAREFREE MOUNTAINEERS COME OUT TO ENJOY THE SUNSHINE

HIGH IN THE NORTHWESTERN MOUNTAIN PEAKS, THE CHEERFUL WHISTLER ROLICKS IN THE SUNSHINE WITH OTHERS OF HIS KIND AND SEEMS TO ENJOY BEING ALIVE

FOND OF EATING THE FLOWERS THAT BLOOM IN PROFUSION ABOUT HIS ROCKSLIDE HOME, HE VARIES HIS DIET WITH BULBS AND OTHER WILD VEGETABLES

THE HOARY MARMOT GETS HIS NAME FROM THE WHITE FROSTING ON HIS GRAY-BLACK COAT

HIS FOOTBALL COACH FIGURES HIS EXPERIENCE SHOULD MAKE HIM ADEPT AT HOLDING DOWN A BEACH ON THE SIDELINES.

THE GIRLS AGREE LIFEGUARDS ARE DREAMBOATS — BUT THE SMALLER EDITIONS ARE A PAIN IN THE NECK.

NO ONE WILL EVER CONVINCE HIS EX-SCHOOL TEACHER THAT HE'S THE SAME SKINNY MOPPET SHE TAUGHT IN THE SIXTH GRADE.

HE'S TAKING NO CHANCES.

THE TIMID BATHER WHO ADMITS THE LIFEGUARD LOOKS OKAY, BUT CAN HE SWIM?

WHY DID YOU TORTURE ME, MIKE? YOU WERE TO BRING YOUR PARENTS TO MEET ME AFTER THEY LANDED ... BUT YOU ... AND THEY ... JUST DISAPPEARED!

THEY NEVER LANDED, ALOHA!

"Like I told Roper, I paid George Gumbo, the $5,000 to smuggle them in, but the boat was stopped by a coast-guard cutter."

...AND HE PUSHED THEM OVERBOARD — IN COLD BLOOD!

YOU DON'T KNOW THAT HE DID, NOMAD!

I KNOW GEORGE GUMBO, ROPER!

HE TRIED TO RUN AWAY, AND I SHOT HIM! THEN I CAUGHT A TANKER TO SOUTH AMERICA ... AND HID OUT ... TILL I SAW THIS COPY OF "PROOF" IN A VENEZUELAN OIL CAMP! — WITH GUMBO BIG AS LIFE!

BUT I KNOW I KILLED HIM, ALOHA! I SAW THE BULLET HOLE IN HIS COAT — HERE!

WAIT, MIKE! I CAN PROVE THAT YOU DIDN'T KILL HIM!

Meanwhile — in a distant city —

WOW! THIS THING WEIGHS A TON, PAPA! I'D THINK IT'D KILL YOU TO LUG IT AROUND!

HAND ME MY CIGAR CASE, JUNIOR!

ON THE CONTRARY, SONNY BOY ... IT ONCE SAVED MY LIFE!

WHAT'S WRONG, PETER? YOU RECEIVED SOME NICE PRESENTS FOR YOUR BIRTHDAY, BUT YOU DON'T SOUND VERY HAPPY ABOUT IT.

OH, I GUESS IT'S BECAUSE MY FATHER DIDN'T COME HOME FOR MY BIRTHDAY.

...AND MY MOTHER AND FATHER HAVE BEEN ARGUING ALL MORNING.

AND THIS IS THE LAST STRAW, WALTER ADAMS! IT'S BAD ENOUGH THAT I HAVE NO COMPANIONSHIP, THAT I HAVE TO GO TO CHURCH BY MYSELF, BUT TO IGNORE YOUR OWN SON AND NOT EVEN SHOW UP FOR HIS BIRTHDAY...

WAIT A MINUTE! DO YOU MEAN THAT AFTER ALL I'VE PROVIDED FOR YOU, I'M NOT A GOOD HUSBAND?

EXACTLY! YOU'RE A GOOD PROVIDER, BUT NOT A GOOD HUSBAND OR FATHER.

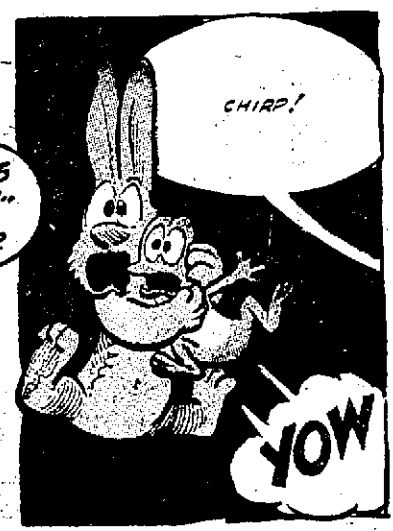

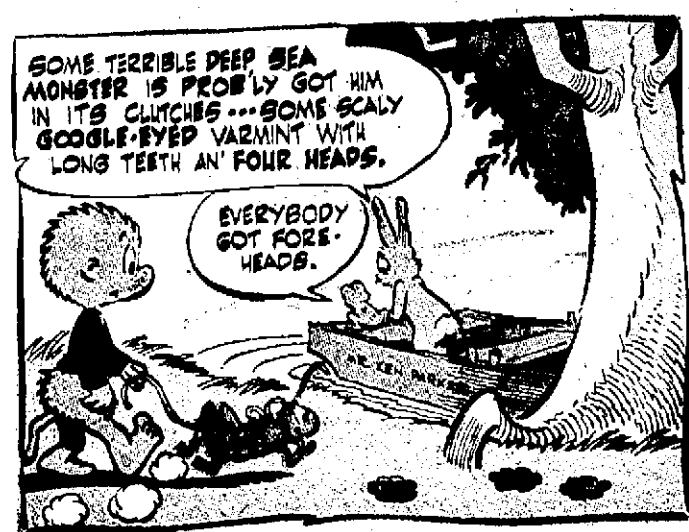

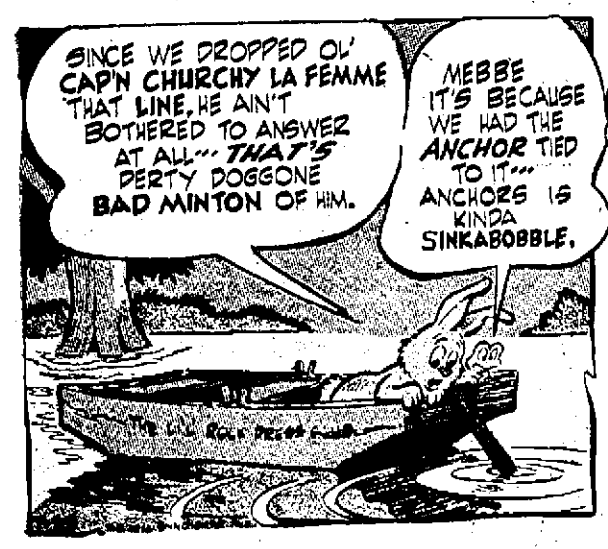

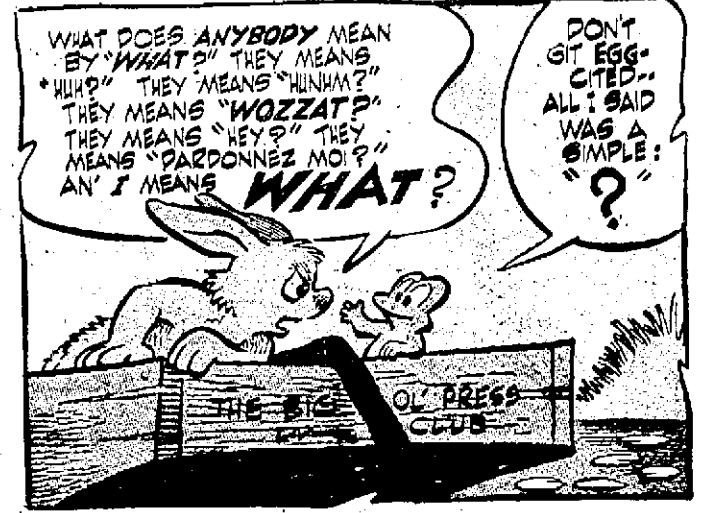

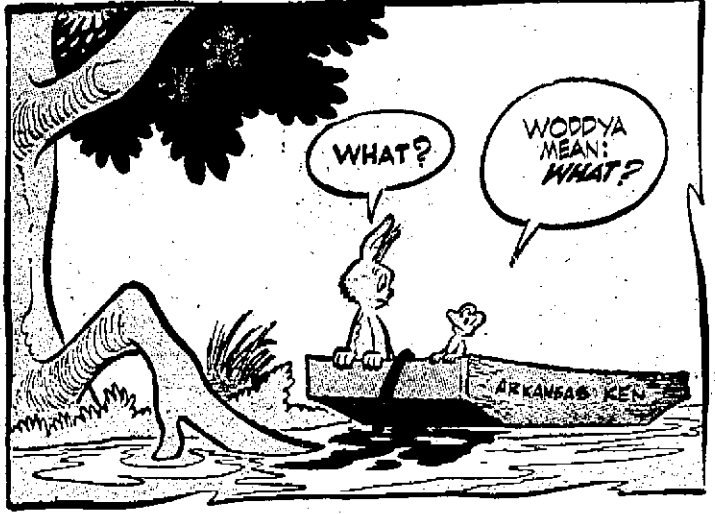

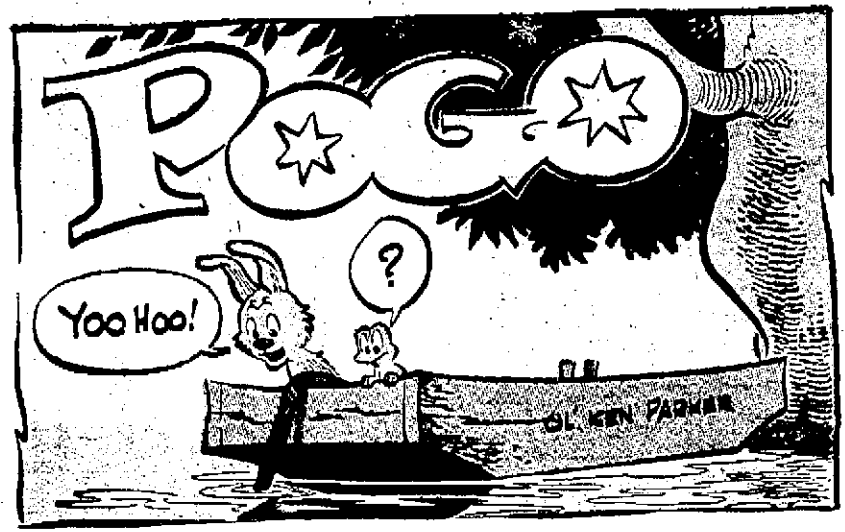

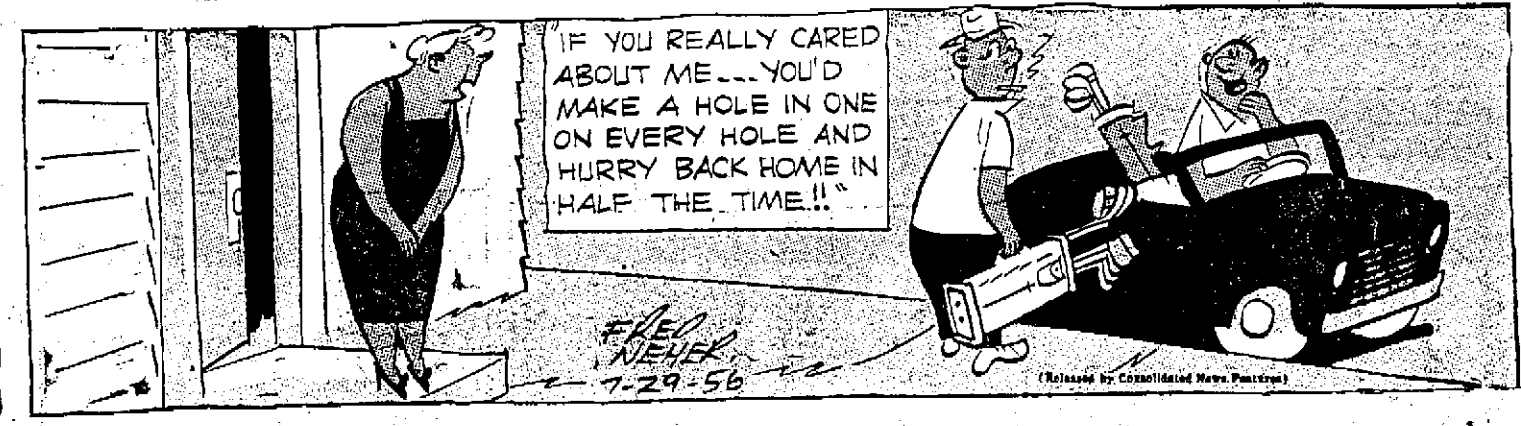

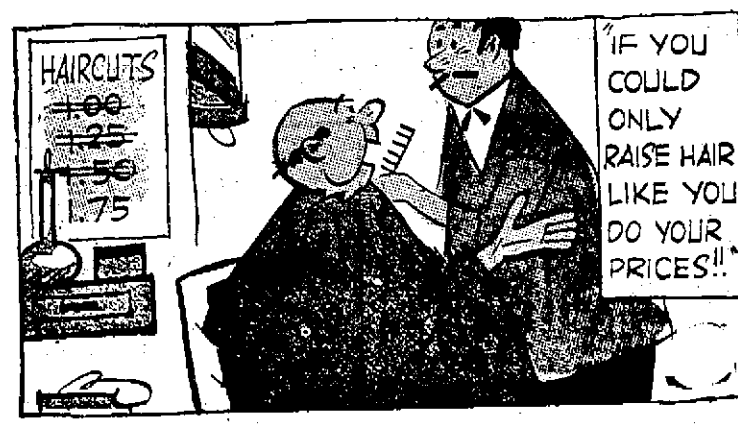

WELL, I'M GOING TO SAVE YOU ALL THE TROUBLE OF ARGUING AND PUTTING UP WITH ME. I'M LEAVING!

...AND YOU CAN FORWARD ALL MY MAIL TO THE OFFICE.

GOOD-BYE!

GOOD-BYE, DADDY! GOOD-BYE!
